A Column for Mr. Hoover. Did He Read About Cleveland? What Lesson There. Have We a Little Attila?

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1929, King Features Synd., Inc.

THE DREADFUL CLEVELAND DISASTER, 125 already dead, 26 more expected to die, contains a fearful warning to this nation, and those upon whom rests the responsibility for its defense.

Imagine, in contrast, REAL war, as it will come, inevitably, some day.

A great city will suddenly find itself the scene of a thousand explosions, dropping down from the clouds.

Bombs of force inconceivable will blow into the air entire blocks of buildings. Compared with such explosions, the Cleveland incident would be like a toy pistol.

And following the explosions, designed chiefly to drive terrified populations into city streets, would come the downpour of deadly gases. It was not in idle warning, or exaggeration, that England's House of Lords was told:

"Deadly gases possessed by every efficient nation would cause the death of every human being within a mile of the spot where the gas bomb might fall."

In New York, two or three millions; in Chicago, one or two millions would be killed, inevitably, by a modern bombing and gas attack. In smaller cities, deaths would be in proportion to density of population. Bombing and gas-dropping air fleets from Asia would kill hundreds of thousands in Seattle, San Francisco or Los Angeles. And similar attack from Europe would kill tens and hundreds of thousands in Boston, and other cities along the Atlantic line.

Washington will please note that three gas bombs, well placed, would kill every human being, from the White House to gentlemen playing politics "on the Hill."

"Murder, piracy, defiance of all the laws of God and man?" Certainly.

But in real war, who is to punish the gas murderers and pirates? Not the vanquished, surely. And in the next war, victory will be on the side of the deadliest gases and explosives DROPPED on centers of population most promptly.

It is some comfort, of an unpleasant kind, to realize that the first air attack would, in all probability, be aimed at Washington.

We should lose, at one blow, the entire Government that has failed to show intelligence worthy of a tubercular chimpanzee, in preparing for what will come some day.

Not a pleasant topic of discussion? No, but better to talk about it now than wait for it to happen.

Is it believable, is it conceivable, that our government has not yet taken seriously the possibilities, faintly foreshadowed in that Cleveland calamity?

Our so-called statesmen are busy talking about reduced armaments, arguing about more or fewer cruisers, spending hundreds of millions on archaic battleships. What part will they play, in the next real war? NONE.

Fortunately, we have in the White House a man who understands modern machinery, an engineer, not a humdrum politician. All his life, he has used high explosives. He knows what they and other chemical combinations can do. He has employed hundreds of specialists, knows that special work requires special talent and knowledge.

It is not conceivable that he will neglect, as other presidents have done in their well meaning, deep ignorance, the necessity of a separate defense, under management apart from the old-fashioned army and navy departments.

What happened to one small building in Cleveland will happen on a scale 1,000,000 times greater, to the nation, if we persist in our assumption "that it probably will not happen, because it never has happened."

When Placida was ruling the rich and degraded Roman empire, in the name of her son, Valentinian, the child emperor, there was a boy of about his age, at court, sent there as a hostage. "Transported from the valley of the Danube, he prowled about the palaces like a caged animal."

His father was Musculo, the son of Varda, and his name, repeated by every trembling mother in Europe for 100 years, was Attila.

What he did to Western Europe and its decaying powers until Charles The Hammer met him, another Attila could do to this rich and sleepy country.

A little thinking and doing would prevent it.

The Cleveland disaster should get the thinking.

O'Malley Denies Offer to Post Was for Insull

INSULL NOT IN HUB BID, IS CLAIM

Washington, May 17 (INS)—A flat denial that he had offered $20,000,000 for the Boston Post while representing the Insull Power interests was made today before the Federal Trade Commission by Charles O'Malley, Boston advertising agent.

Richard Grozier, publisher of the Post, told the commission yesterday that Mr. O'Malley, purporting to represent the Insull interests, had made an offer of $20,000,000 for his property.

Mr. O'Malley admitted that he had discussed the possibilities of buying the Post and also the Boston Globe with officers of the two papers, but denied that he represented the Insull people or that he made a direct offer.

Mr. O'Malley explained today that early in February two men, one a bond salesman named Campion, the other an acquaintance of Campion's who was introduced by the name of Colloran, came to see him and said Colloran had come to Boston to buy one or two newspapers, and asked him if he

RENEW QUIZ ON EXCHANGE ST.

State Representative Henry L. Shattuck of Boston, who gave as his opinion that the city paid $500,000 too much for land-takings on Exchange st., was expected to appear before the City Council finance committee today in its probe of proposed dand-takings on that street.

The Council committee with today's hearing brings to a close its inquiry on the mayor's loan order for $500,000 for the additional land necessary to complete the widening.

The committee hoped to have representatives of the site standing in the name of Anna Barry before it for questioning as to the value of the property. One of the other two property owners involved appeared previously before the committee, while the remaining owner refused to do so.

Chairman Dowling of the Boston Finance Commission, who was invited to make a second appearance before the Council today, sent a letter instead and this may be made public at the hearing.

MOB LYNCHES A FLORIDA MAN

Lake City, Fla., May 17 (AP)—N. G. Romey, a grocer, was taken from jail by a mob early today and lynched two miles south of here, where his body was found by a farmer.

The man was arrested last night after an altercation with police, during which Chief of Police John F. Baker was wounded and Mrs. Romey was wounded fatally.

FLOOD OF BAD BILLS HITS CITY

Boston is flooded with counterfeit treasury bills to such an extent that U. S. secret service officials today publicly expressed alarm and broadcast a general warning to the public.

Hundreds of the spurious bills, in denominations of $20, $10 and $5, have been put into circulation in the downtown shopping district. Merchants, bankers and storekeepers who have been victimized visited the Secret Service bureau today and turned over spurious bills which had been passed by members of the counterfeiting gang.

No fewer than 30 counterfeit $20

FOURTEEN DROP WITH ELEVATOR

Fourteen passengers in an elevator descending in the courthouse at Pemberton sq. were shaken up today when the elevator slipped and fell from the second to the first floor, a distance of 20 feet.

Eleven of the passengers were women, all employes in the Suffolk County registry of deeds, and most of them became hysterical.

The crash of the elevator was heard through the huge building and wild excitement was caused, many o fthe attendants and persons with business in the courthouse recalling the bomb explosion 12 years ago.

In fear that the riders in the lift might be badly injured and the car jammed so that it would

CAPONE JAILED FOR ONE YEAR

Philadelphia, May 17 (AP)—Alphonse (Scarface Al) Capone, notorious Chicago gangster, was today sentenced to one year in county prison on a charge of carrying a concealed deadly weapon.

Frank Cline, also of Chicago, Capone's reputed bodyguard, was given a similar sentence.

Faced by determined effort of police to remove them as a menace from Philadelphia, both men pleaded guilty when their trial was about to start.

"Scarface Al" and Cline were given a midnight hearing by Police Magistrate Edward P. Carnes and held in $25,000 each. Their counsel protested against the high bail, but without avail.

"This is some city; they work fast here," said Al as he was led away from the hearing wiping perspiration from his brow. "But I'll beat this rap yet."

NO ANSWER TO RADIOS SENT SHIP

Lyons, France, May 17 (AP)—Dr. Eckener wirelessed numerous appeals for permission to land at Valence to the authorities here this afternoon.

He said the Zeppelin had suffered grave damage which placed the ship in serious danger.

Permission was given immediately, but it was not known whether the Zeppelin had picked up the reply.

The big dirigible sent no further messages and failed to answer her call signals.

As soon as the French Air Ministry at Paris learned of the intention of Dr. Eckener to try an emergency landing at Valence or its vicinity, Air Minister Laurent Eynac and Minister of the Interior Andre Tardieu gave instructions that every aid possible be extended to the German commander.

ADVISED TO GO TO CUERS.

The aviation authorities at Bourget Flying Field late this afternoon advised Dr. Eckener to head for the town of Cuers, near Toulon, on the French Mediterranean coast. A special landing mast was available there.

This mast had served for the French dirigible Dixmude, which was later lost over the Mediterranean during a storm. Cuers is in the hills 12 miles northeast of Saillans, France, May 17 (AP) At 4:45 p. m. (10:45 a. m., E. S. T.) the Graf Zeppelin was over this town navigating with the utmost difficulty. It was being carried still further southeastward by the wind at a rate of about 20 miles an hour. This town is about 25 miles southeast of Valence.

Toulon naval base. It is a town of 4000 population.

Dr. Eckener, in his first message, asked that the garrison at Valence be mobilized in order to assist in bringing the big airship safely to earth.

Heavy winds down the Rhone Valley made it impossible to continue the flight.

HOVERS MOTIONLESS

Discouraged by the heavy northeast wind impeding the progress of the ship, he preferred to attempt an emergency landing at the Bron Airfield, great aviation center of Lyons.

When the Zeppelin passed over Orange, between Avignon and Montelimar, about 11:15 a. m. (5.15 a. m. E. S. T.), she was seen to be having a difficult fight against the mistral, which was blowing hard.

At times the Zeppelin hovered motionless. Its motors turning at full speed, but because of their decreased power, unable to send it forward into the teeth of the wind. When there was progress, it was between gusts.

Valence is a city on the Rhone river, about 30 miles north of Montelimar, where the Graf Zeppelin was reported at 12:05 p. m. It is about 65 miles south of Lyons.

There is no civil or military airdrome listed at Valence, according to the latest tabulation of French air fields.

A landing ground and military airdrome are located at Ancone, but two miles north of Montelimar, over which the Zeppelin has already passed.

The Bron aviation field near Lyons is one of the most important in France, with civil and military hangars and complete workshops.

At Valence, Dr. Eckener may have to make a landing on an open parade ground for want of better facilities.

Zepp, Battling to Reach Valence, Calls for Help

Valence, France, May 17 (AP).—At 9:15 a. m. (8:15 a. m. E. S. T.) while still struggling to reach Valence, Dr. Eckener east overheard a message to German reading: "Please have garrison at Valence designate best situated terrain for landing our dirigible." The message was picked up in the suburbs of the town.

The dirigible at that time was at an altitude of about 3600 feet fighting against a high wind. The radio station tried in vain to get into communication with Dr. Eckener.

SWEPT EAST BY GALE.

After flying to the outskirts of the city the Zeppelin was brought to a stand-still by the opposing force of the wind, which was sweeping it eastward.

At 9:45 p. m. (10:15 a. m. E. S. T.) she was over the little community of Crest, about 25 miles southeast of here.

Her motors appeared for a moment to have stopped entirely. Then she got under way again and seemed to be heading for the town of Saillans in the valley of the River Drome, a little further southeast of the village of Crest.

Her situation, as she battled toward the valley of the Drome, appeared to be very grave indeed. There was no airfield in the direction in which she was moving and the country is savage and mountainous.

Saillans is a town of 1500 inhabitants affording no facilities for handling other than small fields. There is no military field anywhere near about, and further east are only the rising peaks of the Alps and their foothills.

Fear Crippling of Zepp Was Due to Sabotage

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, May 17.—The possibility that deliberate sabotage may have been responsible for the crippling of the two engines aboard the transatlantic dirigible Graf Zeppelin was discussed today as the great ship slowly fought her way back to the airship base here.

The sabotage question was brought up soon after Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the dirigible, sent a brief message to the headquarters of the Zeppelin company here, stating that the accident had caused him to return to Friedrichshafen immediately.

The large number of would-be stowaways found aboard the ship and in her hangar before the start brought up the possibility damage might have been done to the dirigible's motors, either by cranks or by parties who might be interested in seeing the Zeppelin come to grief.

DEMAND INVESTIGATION

It is not believed any of the disappointed adventurers themselves were in any way concerned in the near disaster, but the fact that the closely guarded hangar was so persistently besieged by strangers while preparations for the flight were under way has led to demands that an immediate investigation into the possibility of criminal interference be begun.

Zeppelin officials are loath to believe the accident to three of five motors was due to sabotage. Nevertheless, a most rigid investigation will be conducted. Dr. Eckener, while keeping the Zeppelin works informed as to progress homeward, is withholding details of the accident. Zeppelin Company will not make an official statement until Dr. Eckener reports.

It was pointed out here that the motors functioned perfectly on previous voyages totaling more than 30,000 miles, or the equivalent to a round the world trip.

It is held possible that the motors were overstrained due to the desire of Dr. Eckener to fly over France in the quickest possible time. The French government alloted such a short time for the ship to remain over French soil that Dr. Eckener may have "conceded" the motors to get quickly beyond the "restricted" seas.

This supposition is sustained by the fast time made by the Graf while flying over French territory.

Zepp Battled Stiff Gale Over French Coast

Friedrichshafen, Ger., May 17 (AP).—The Graf Zeppelin, with three of its five motors dead, fought its way across the mouth of the Rhone at 2 a. m., eastern standard time, today, and began a hard battle with near gale head winds to reach its home port, Friedrichshafen, before dark tonight.

A violent mistral, or cold northwest wind, and loss of all but two of the ship's five motors, cut the speed of the dirigible to 30 kilometers (about 21 miles) an hour. Messages from Alexander von Kryha, aboard the Zeppelin, said the passengers, including Mrs. Mary Pierce, of New York, only woman tourist, were calm in this predicament.

The dirigible appeared over Nimes, west of Marseilles, at 9:20 a. m., 3:20 a. m. eastern standard time, struggling hard against the wind. Twenty minutes later it appeared almost immovable over Bellegarde. At 9:50 a. m. it appeared again to be progressing obliquely to the northeast at a height of about 2500 feet.

Loss of the third motor was not explained, a message from Von Kryha to the Associated Press merely stating it was out of commission. Von Kryha ascribed most of the loss of speed, however, to the violent wind. He said Dr. Eckener did not expect to reach Friedrichshafen until nightfall.

There was some fear in some quarters for the ship and its passengers, but the Zeppelin Company expressed confidence that the air liner would ride out the storm safely. It was emphatically denied that an emergency landing in France was contemplated.

The Zeppelin reached the French coast at 7 a. m., at Saint Mariens De Mer, after it had sent a radiogram to the French government requesting permission to recross France on its way home. The permission was granted immediately.

The giant dirigible was visible for nearly an hour and a half at Nimes before it disappeared in the direction of Montelimar, which it passed over at 12:05 this afternoon. Unable to breast the full force of the wind, the ship was compelled to veer and was making less than 20 miles an hour headway.

thought Colloran could buy the Post or the Globe.

Colloran, Mr. O'Malley said, would not disclose specifically who he represented but said his people, a New York and a Chicago bank, were ready to go as high as $20,000,000 to buy Hearst property.

Mr. O'Malley said that as a result of this conversation he approached Louis Marchand, business manager of the Post and William O. Taylor, an owner of the Globe, but found neither of the papers was for sale.

INSULL MENTIONED.

Later, he said, during a conference with C. B. Carberry, managing editor of the Post, he mentioned the two names and that Mr. Carberry suggested that they might be representing the Insull interests.

This, Mr. O'Malley added, was the only way in which Insull's name was mentioned.

SENT PLANE TO DEATH CRASH

With Fred Chapman, pilot-instructor of the Waco plane which spun into the harbor yesterday causing fatal injuries to Floyd Strohaker, still on the danger list this morning at the City Hospital, state and federal probes are being started to determine the exact cause of the accident.

Witnesses at Dennison airport, Atlantic, from which the plane took off, said Chapman was giving Strohaker instruction in tail spins, the last step before he permits a 19-year-old student "went solo." Strohaker, with 14 hours' instruction, was considered capable of passing the final test, and airport attaches couldn't understand his apparent "freezing" at the controls.

Chapman regained consciousness at the hospital late yesterday and murmured that Strohaker had frozen the stick when he, Chapman, gave him the signal to right the ship from the spin. Chapman, Chapman had the plane under partial control once, but the stick was taken out of his hands again and held rigidly by the excited student, Chapman said.

Hospital Ruins Where Deadly Blasts Originated

A leaking steampipe is believed to have induced the spontaneous combustion in the X-ray film storage room, from where the deadly gas fumes spread through the Cleveland Clinic, snuffing out the lives of scores of patients, doctors and nurses. The city morgue has been besieged since the hospital death horror by the grief-stricken kin seeking to view the bodies of the victims and identify them. Throughout the day and long into the night, a solemn crowd is gathered about the building, the hush of death over all. (Associated Press telephotos.)

RUSHES TO RESCUE

Supt. Walsh, who had been standing within 15 feet of the elevator when it fell, took charge and blocked off the corridor.

Then, with assistance of other attaches, he opened the elevator well door and safety screen, pushed back the elevator door and led out the hysterical women.

Deputy Sheriff Daniel Whelton took the women into the probate court office and the superintendent's office, where they were examined for injuries by the county doctors.

The women declared they had suffered nothing more than a shaking up and they declined to go to hospitals for thorough examinations.

The snapping of a bolt on the machinery frame, located in the basement, was tentatively blamed for the accident. It was pointed out that this bolt probably snapped and the cables were released and all control of the lift lost.

Costly Lesson for Power Trust

THE Power Trust, investing in newspapers, "will have a new respect for the honor of journalism and a valuable, if painful, understanding that the public has a conscience and will not stand for a debased newspaper system."

Thus comments The Christian Register in a two-page editorial entitled, "Accumulation and Decay."

The Register, pointing out that the Boston Herald, of which he was the editor, printed not a line of Robert Lincoln O'Brien's address on American newspapers and big business made in Cambridge last week, remarks:

"This is the phase of the control of the press that we cry out against. We pay for the news and we do not get it. We get less and less of it as the control of the papers comes into great corporations whose economic interests run out into the outermost business, social and political relations. An individual owner of a newspaper was limited in his taboos. But a power trust such as this one dealing with water is unlimited. Its name is a fact — International. More and more it finds subjects of news unsuited to its uses.

"We buy our daily paper as we buy milk, bread and meat. Tainted food is subject to the law. Short weight is a punishable offense. The essential substance is often extracted from our paper, and we are shamelessly cheated. Against this there is no law.

REACHES FAR BEYOND

"It is this factor of abused consumer right that cuts more figure than any other in the revelations that shock the whole country. The water power trust was financially interested in 14 newspapers. The fact was kept secret by the Boston papers, though the federal law requires the publication of the names of those who own even a small interest."

Referring to O'Brien's justification of a middle course, "to which commercial safety is continually pointing the way," the Register says:

"We are willing to admit and face the practical requirements, but the present situation as shown by the power trust reaches far beyond the middle course. It is, in fact, in the lower depths. In our judgment the attempt to control the press by monopoly and for monopoly is as certain to devastate a newspaper property as the wildest socialist or communist vagaries of government and economic order.

REACTION OF THE PEOPLE

"The public is incredulous when the International Paper Power Co. say it is interested only in selling newsprint to the newspapers in which it has invested millions. That it has no desire to influence the papers' policies is not believed. Mr. O'Brien justifies the doubters.

"The best thing in this amazing episode is the reaction of the people. Theirs has been an intuitive revulsion against a violation of something both natural and sacred in their rights."

Architect to Speak

Students of real estate in the evening division of Boston University's College of Business Administration will hear William Stanley Parker, prominent Boston architect, next Monday night. Mr. Parker will talk on "The Function of the Architect."

DEMAND POWER PROBE SCOPE BE WIDENED

With the opening of hearings today on the resolve creating a special commission to probe the Power Trust, demands were to be made to the House committee on ways and means to broaden the scope of the proposed commission's powers.

The petitioners for the legislation, aroused, over the disclosures of pernicious activities of the big power combine, charge that the joint committee on rules failed to give this instance in redrafting the present resolve.

They contend that sections in the Leahy-Hultman bill, relative to propaganda activities of the National Electric Light Association, participated in by the alleged activities with the Harvard School of Business Administration; the activities of the committee on rates Massachusetts Gas Companies in connection with any attempts to influence legislation on public utility and security matters of handling Edison Electric Illuminating Co. of Boston securities in the present resolve.

The Senate ways and means committee continued today to mark time on its report on the municipal lighting bill which passed the Senate unanimously. Despite the House action and the earnest pleading of Chairman Henry C. Attwill of the Public Utilities Commission for this law to protect the rights of the people against private companies who have been defying the commission, a report persists that the power interests are confident of warding off action in the Senate.

Chairman Attwill went to considerable pains to enlighten the ways and means committee on the danger of the present situation, and he also stressed that if the people of the State are too cowardly to stand up for their rights they are not worthy of the free government under which they live.

Senator Angier Goodwin of Melrose, during the whole course of the bill to date, is the only legislator who has come out openly against the bill's passage. Yet, probably no group of communities has been subjected to more over light rates in recent years, than the cities and towns he represents in Senate District W. Hollis of Newton, it is also known, will vote against the bill as a "matter of principle." This legislator will ignore the vote of the city council of Marlboro, one of the cities in his district, calling for support of the municipal lighting bill.

Another Senator hostile to the bill is Senator Brind Fish of Brookline. Fish was a dissenter to the original light bill as a member of the committee on ways and light. Because of his position as Republican floor leader of the upper branch, Fish's position is regarded as significant.

Hub Girls Star at Maryland Show

Baltimore, May 17—Miss Patience Pecker of Newtonville, Mass., and Miss Frances Kahle of Brookline, Mass., were the most attractive, as well as the most accomplished, experiences of the 24 students at Goucher College who participated in a horse show and riding exhibition at the Maryland Riding School.

The girls were divided into two teams—the Reds and Blues, captained respectively by Miss Katherine Hyatt of Baltimore and Miss Elizabeth Downing of Brooklyn, N. Y. Misses Pecker and Kahle were members of the Blue team.

PERIL SEEN BY BABSON IN DEAL

Besides warning against the sale of the Concord municipal lighting plant to "any power interest," Roger W. Babson of Wellesley, noted economist and statistician, at a meeting of the Concord finance committee in the district courthouse, predicted a rate of five cents for Boston eventually under a zoning system.

Babson, whose appearance was a big surprise, represented the Boston & Worcester Railway Co. and offered to sell electricity to the town at a price which would enable it to lower its rate to the people of Concord.

He said the bids for the Concord municipal plant were closed before his company knew anything about them, but he offered to match the $600,000 offer of the Boston Edison Company, the sole bidder, even though he did not yet know the specifications.

"I want to be fair to you people of Concord and to my own town of Wellesley. If I were a citizen of Concord, I should vote against the sale of the plant at this time, for two reasons:

ZONE SYSTEM CERTAIN

"First—Sooner or later, and it will probably be sooner, the Edison Co. is bound to adopt the zone system whereby the rates in the center of the system (Boston) will be lowered and put on a five-cent basis, and the rates in the outer sections will be raised.

"Any impartial electrical engineer will tell you that it is inevitable that power rates will be zoned just the same as telephone rates are zoned.

"Second—We feel in Wellesley that when the time comes to sell our municipal plant it may be very possible that all the power groups will get together some day and we will have one power company selling light and power, comparable with the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which operates efficiently as a nationwide telephone monopoly.

COMBINE TO ACT

"Now when that time comes, and Mr. Insull and Mr. Harriman and Mr. Edgar and Mr. Grausteen and the others—when they all sit around the table for their final game of poker—if we municipal plants can all sell together—and there are 40 or more in this State at the present time—we believe in Wellesley that we can get double what we are now getting.

"I should vote against the sale at the present time in the Edison Company, or the Boston & Worcester Company or the New England Power Company, or any other interest."

Babson was challenged as to his statements regarding the likelihood of introduction of a zone system. He stuck to his statement, saying:

"Look at telephone rates. I am on the inside and I know. Do you think the people of Boston are going to be content to pay a rate of eight and one-half cents when Cambridge, right next door, is getting electricity for five cents?

"Tremendous pressure is going to be put on the Edison Company to put on a five-cent rate and the only way they will agree to it is by increasing the rate in the outer zone."

Efforts were made to bar Babson from the meeting of the committee, but he was finally admitted.

FLOOD OF BAD BILLS IN HUB

notes were handed over, one prominent theater turnnig in four of that number.

The Secret Service officials believe that the unprecedented wave of spurious money is due to the fact that the new and smaller bills will soon be placed in circulation by the Treasury Department, and therefore the counterfeit gang is unloading its stock of larger notes.

Since Saturday hundreds of dollars in worthless money has come into possession of Federal secret agents, and this is believed to be but the beginning of the flood.

The public is warned to carefully scrutinize all bills coming into their possession, especially those of the denominations named. Persons are also asked to make a mental note of the description of the person passing the bills. This will aid in sifting out the culprits from among descriptions already furnished the bureau.

All the counterfeit bills are duplicates of Federal Reserve notes of the 1914 series. The spurious $10 bill is drawn on the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, while the $20 and $5 bills are drawn on the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Tell-tale evidence by which they may be detected is given out by the secret service. On all the notes the blue seal of the face is reversed and the serial number is smaller than on the genuine bills. The silk threads running through the texture are bunched together instead of being evenly distributed, and this unevenness can easily be seen if the note is held up to the light.

75 MISSING PATIENTS SOUGHT

Cleveland, May 17—The death toll in the Cleveland clinic horror mounted to 125 today, when Ben Jones, former grid star, a clinic patient, died from injuries received in the fire and explosion.

With more deaths expected among the 30 patients still in hospitals, search was started today for 75 persons reported as missing in the blast.

These missing persons were believed to have been in the clinic building when the disaster occurred. Many were patients who were waiting in the offices for treatment. It is feared the bodies of some of them may be found in the ruins.

City and state authorities, after investigation of the causes of the disaster, reported it to have been brought about by fire resulting from a spontaneous combustion in the vault where old x-ray films were stored.

NO NEGLIGENCE FOUND

Thus far no criminal negligence has been uncovered by the investigators, Coroner A. J. Pearce stated. Buffer, Boggs, steamfitter, who was working in the ill-fated hospital when the explosion occurred, still is held today, but he is not under suspicion. Pearce merely wants to question Boggs further in the belief that he will be of much assistance in clearing up certain events immediately preceding the blast.

Boggs has told Pearce and Assistant County Prosecutors Frank Merriell and Emerick Freed that he left the clinic basement and was gone about half an hour, waiting for steam to be reduced.

When he returned, Boggs said he found the basement filled with thick yellow fumes and saw a man with a fire extinguisher in his hand run past him. Boggs and the man with the extinguisher, whom he never saw before, fled where they thought fire might be, but soon Boggs was overcome by the deadly fumes.

CITY IS IN MOURNING

His companion left him. Boggs has not seen Steele since, the steamfitter said. Coroner Pearce has ordered a search for Steele, and hopes to question him during the day.

All the city was in mourning today as relatives of the victims arrived from all parts of the country. Flags on City Hall were half-masted and will be kept so until after the burials, as an indication of the municipality's deep grief.

While one group investigated the cause of the disaster another hundred itself together to provide funds to the extent of $500,000 for the immediate rebuilding of the destroyed clinic.

Believe Worcester Girl Among Blast Victims

Worcester, May 17—Believing that one of the victims of the Cleveland Clinic Hospital catastrophe is her sister, Mrs. Mary Sweeney of Bradley st. has wired the police in Cleveland to obtain identification of the body of Miss Margaret McKenna. Mrs. Sweeney has a sister who is a trained nurse, and who has not been heard from living in Ohio, and a Margaret McKenna is on the list of dead at that hospital.

Mrs. Sweeney said her sister, Miss McKenna, trained in Boston, returned to Worcester and then went to New York. Mrs. Sweeney has not heard from her for the past three years and believes that the victim listed is her sister.

the week of the murder, nor did he know anything concerning the case except what he had read in newspapers. He said he had not been questioned by officials.

Search for a laborer said to have been seen walking along the Tariff-ville road toward Windsor an hour before the body was found, engaged the attention of deputies here today. Orders for the search to be made were issued by Detective Hickey, who is of the opinion that the laborer may have some information bearing on the shooting death weapon.

The pistol found Wednesday has been eliminated as a clue. Tests disclosed that the shell found near the dead student's body could not have been fired in it. Another revolver found near Portchester has also been eliminated from the case.

Hickey is still convinced Huntington committed suicide, but he is leaving the door open for the investigation until the missing weapon has been found.

Gets Sentence for Violating Probation

Robert Ellis, who abused an opportunity given him last November when he was placed on probation for breaking and entering, by using an automobile without authority and drunken driving, was brought from Deer Island and sentenced to Concord upon the breaking and entering charge. Ellis was sent to Deer Island.

SLASHING OF CIVIL WAR HERO IS COSTLY TO CITY

JUNK DEALER IS HELD IN CAP BLAST DEATH

Lewis Sovrensky of Brookline, owner of the Cambridge junk shop where David Davidson of Chelsea met his death Tuesday from injuries suffered when percussion caps he was salvaging exploded, pleaded not guilty before Judge Donovan in East Cambridge court today.

The case was continued until next Friday and Sovrensky was released on his own recognizance.

Sovrensky was arraigned on a warrant of the State Department of Public Safety on the charge of keeping and exposing explosives without a permit. He had purchased the percussion caps at a government sale at Newport and his employe, Davidson, was engaged in trying to salvage the brass when the explosion occurred.

FATHER PLAYS MOTHER AND HUNTS WIFE

Jopseh Turcotte of North Reading was at home today, playing mother to his four small children, while Massachusetts and New Hampshire police sought his attractive, 30-year-old wife, mysteriously missing for nearly a week.

Mrs. Turcotte vanished, according to her husband, while the latter was at work. He came home to dinner to find the house deserted, except for the children who were sobbing from loneliness and hunger.

Joseph Turcotte, Jr., 14 months, is suffering from a severe attack of whooping cough and is under a doctor's care. Six-year-old Catherine is near hysterics, crying continually for her mother. Two other youngsters, Paul and Leon, are in need of a woman's care.

Turcotte, Sr., unable to leave his children long enough to go to work, appealed to the authorities and to the Boston Evening American to assist him in locating his wife.

He believes Mrs. Turcotte had $25 when she went away. She took a taxicab to the North Station, he has learned. She is five feet, three inches tall, weighs 150 pounds, and has red hair. Her nose is noticeably thin. She has a small scar on her left arm just below the elbow. When last seen she wore a red coat trimmed with fur, and a green spotted dress.

OUSTED STAR CHARGES PLOT BY 'ANGEL'

New York, May 17—The triangular feud between Dorothy Knapp, former prima donna of "Fioretta" and proclaimed the most beautiful girl in the world, Mrs. Anne Wainwright Penfield, widow of the late ambassador, and Earl Carroll, spectacular producer, will be fought out in the courts.

Miss Knapp has filed suit in Supreme Court against Mrs. Penfield and Carroll for $250,000 damages for alleged malicious intent to injure her. She explained her action in her own way:

"I've got a Christian disposition, but I can't convince myself that it is best to turn the other cheek when the first is slapped. I have been treated most unfairly. I want these people to realize just how unfair that treatment was."

Miss Knapp asserts in her complaint that she entered into a contract with Carroll and the Vanities Producing Co. to appear as prima donna. Mrs. Penfield backed the production to the extent of $250,000 before it was staged, but used the name of her secretary, Evelyn Hubbell, as ostensible "angel" of the show.

The complaint further states that the defendants "maliciously and wilfully intending to injure her and her standing in the profession and deprive her of her wages coerced the Vanities Producing Co. to breach the contract."

HOTELS BAN ICE IN RUM DRIVE IN CHICAGO

Chicago, May 17 (AP)—The merry tinkle of ice cubes being stirred with ginger ale or mineral water—and, perhaps, less legal liquids—no longer will be heard in guest rooms of the world's largest hotel, the Stevens.

The hotel management has decided to forbid the serving of ice or "set-ups" in rooms. Ice water still will be obtainable—but without the ice.

This drastic rule of the Stevens was preceded a few days by similar restrictions on room service at other hotels. At the Morrison, the guest who has ginger ale, mineral water, or ice taken to his room is placed on his honor not to use them for mixing alcoholic drinks. He must sign a pledge card on the delivery of his order.

Other hotels, including the Drake, Blackstone, and La Salle, have adopted similiar, but less drastic rules.

The hotels' actions followed a warning several days ago that the Government would institute padlock proceedings against private clubs, hotels, and similar institutions unless drinking were stopped on their premises.

Business Men Plan Mission to Russia

Washington, May 17—A delegation of leading American business men will visit Russia during July and August for a survey of economic conditions. The mission is approved, it is understood, by both President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson.

The President and his Secretary of State have been advised of the mission and its nature.

The visit accordingly has aroused keen interest among those agitating for recognition of the Soviet republic. This includes Senator Borah of Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee, who regards the mission as a most promising contribution to his campaign for Russian recognition.

White Mountain Bus Permit Given B. & M.

Concord, N. Cohasset Youths Given Jail Terms

Antone and Matthew Silva, 17 and 19 years old, respectively, and Lawrence Figueiredo, 18, all three of Cohasset, were found guilty in the Quincy district court of larceny of gasoline from parked automobiles and each was sentenced to three months in the House of Correction. All appealed and are held in [illegible]

Squires and Sullivan Given Renomination

Governor Allen has submitted to the Executive Council the renomination of Francis J. Squires of Norwood as public administrator of Norfolk County, and of Dr. Cornelius A. Sullivan as associate medical examiner, fourth Norfolk district.

Dorothy Knapp, ousted prima donna of "Fioretta," called "world's most beautiful girl," who has sued backer and producer of play for $250,000. She charges a "spite plot" in her dismissal from cast.

Alma Rubens, Screen Star in Insane Hospital

Los Angeles, May 17—Alma Rubens, screen actress, is in the Southern California Hospital for the Insane at Patton, committed on complaint of her mother, Mrs. Theresa Rubens.

The motion picture star attacked her nurse and attempted suicide, her mother told sheriff's deputies whom she had called to subdue the actress.

The officers were held off for three hours by Miss Rubens. She appeared on the porch brandishing a butcher knife and threatened to stab the deputies if they tried to enter the house. The officers hid in nearby bushes and when Miss Rubens appeared on the porch unarmed they overpowered her and took her to the psychopathic ward of the City Hospital.

On the way to the hospital she was strapped up when she tried to escape. After her daughter had arrived at the hospital Mrs. Rubens made a formal complaint asking removal of the young woman to the State Insane Hospital. The young actress had been under treatment as a drug addict.

KILL RAREST JUNGLE BEAST

By COL. THEODORE ROOSEVELT AND KERMIT ROOSEVELT,
Head of the Kelley-Roosevelt Field Museum Expedition Into Central Asia.

Special Cable to New York American.

Saigon, Indo China, May 17—Sixty years ago a French missionary bought from Muping natives the skin of a large bear-like animal startingly colored black and white.

Scientists named it the giant pandar. It is an unsettled controversy as to whether it is a bear or a new species of animal. It lives in the dense bamboo jungles and mountains of Szechuan. Even native hunters rarely see a specimen.

The authorities appear to agree that a member of this species has never been shot by a white man. To secure a pandar is the real object of our expedition. We hunted near Tatsienlu and also near Muping, where we found traces of the animal, but not the animal itself.

Finally as a last chance we went to Lolo country, which the Chinese said was impossible because of its hazards, as the Lolos would rob and kill anyone who came.

Through good luck we made friends with a native chief, who gave us a safe conduct. One morning we found the pandar trail in the snow. After following the footprints for several hours we suddenly saw the animal. We shot simultaneously and killed it.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt and his brother, Kermit Roosevelt, sailed from New York on the S. S. Honeric, on November 10, 1928. The trip of the Roosevelt brothers was made into the practically unexplored jungles to search for fauna and other wild animals for the Field Museum of Natural History of Chicago, which is being financed by William V. Kelley, Chicago manufacturer.

Canton's Fate at Stake in Battle

Canton, China, May 17—Two well-equipped armies totaling 170,000 men are engaged in battle on two fronts, with this rich commercial city as the prize.

The fighting went on both east and west of Canton but the reports trickling back did not indicate with whom the advantage lay.

100 DIE IN FIRE IN POLAND

London, May 17 (AP)—The Exchange Telegraph Company dispatches from Warsaw today said more than 100 persons were burned to death in a huge fire at Iwie, Poland.

Warsaw, Poland, May 17 (AP)—More than 4000 persons are homeless and destitute as a consequence of the burning of almost the entire township of Iwie, on the eastern frontier of Poland.

SAVE FAMILY IN BLAZING HOME

Rep. Lemuel W. Standish and his wife and son, Whitney Standish, were rescued from the roof of their front piazza during a fire which burned through their home at 1 Harrison st., Melrose Highlands early today.

The blaze, starting from a spontaneous combustion or mice and matches in the attic of the 2½ story wooden dwelling, had reached such headway by the time Mr. and Mrs. Standish were awakened by the roar of the flames, that they had time only to climb through a window of their bedroom to the roof of the front porch.

MRS MACDUFFIE IS GRANTED DECREE

Worcester, May 17—Judge Frederick H. Chamberlain in probate court granted a decree of divorce to Mrs. Isabel C. MacDuffie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Worcester Smith of Worcester and North Grafton, against Francis M. MacDuffie of Philadelphi..

She was given the custody of their three children, Isabel V., eight; Marbury, five, and Crompton, two. MacDuffie is ordered to pay $3000 a year in monthly instalments. He is given permission to visit the children at reasonable times but only in this state.

Testimony of alleged cruelty was offered by Mrs. MacDuffie. She testified among other things, that soon after the last child was born in Memorial Hospital here her husband visited her there and told her he did not love her and that he had been drinking and out with other women.

Dr. Kendall Emerson and Dr. George Lincoln testified as to the physical condition of Mrs. MacDuffie, both agreeing that the alleged cruelty of her husband was the direct cause of her condition two years ago and at present. She is now under treatment at a sanatorium in Stockbridge and left that place to appear in court.

Mrs. Mildred C. Smith, mother of Mrs. MacDuffie, also testified as to her daughter's physical condition, describing it as tragic.

CLEAR WALLACE OF DETROIT SLAYING

Detroit, May 17—Frank Wallace of South Boston, Mass., was a free man today, cleared of the murder charge that had hung over his head since his arrest, nine months ago, in connection with the holdup and slaying in the Detroit News.

The Boston man was released by Judge McKay Skillman, on motion of Prosecutor James E. Chalmers, who said a thorough investigation had convinced authorities that Wallace was the victim of mistaken identity.

Wallace was arrested in the Boston Municipal Court building after he had been identified as one of the robbers by three witnesses.

Frank Wallace was arrested in connection with the Detroit News holdup and murder on July 25, 1928, in the corridor of municipal court. Inspectors Collins and Deshler of the Detroit police brought two employes of the newspaper to Boston and then identified Wallace as a member of the gang.

The four charges of larceny and conspiracy to receive stolen goods pending against Wallace in connection with the theft of $1600 worth of jewelry from a salesman on Washington st. on July 19, 1928 were not pressed by the district attorney's office, and after a fight of a number of months Wallace was extradited, ex-Governor Fuller signing the papers.

Many witnesses, including Jim Maloney, South Boston prize fighter, testified in the various hearings that Wallace was in Boston on June 6, the date of the Detroit holdup.

Council to Investigate "Art-Slashing Revelry"

Investigation of the wrecking of the painting of Maj. Robert Anderson, Civil War hero, in City Hall, will be made by the City Council committee on rules.

President of the Council Timothy J. Donovan, who said he understood that City Messenger Edward J. Leary "has been snooping around" endeavoring to learn the identit of the vandal, issued this statement:

"I will turn this matter over to the City Council committee on rules for investigation today, and I hope that as a result the identity of the vandal or vandals will be learned and proper action taken."

Elevated Control Bill in Committee

Discussion of the Boston Elevated public control bill will be resumed in executive session today by the ways and means committee of the House of Representatives. No vote is looked for before Monday. The measure has already passed the Senate.

ARTIST TO TRY TO RESTORE PAINTING

The so-called "drunken revelry" in the Boston City Council chamber which wrecked the portrait of a Civil War hero, will cost the city a steep bill.

Maj. Robert Anderson, covered with more wounds than he suffered during another kind of bombardment at Fort Sumter, was removed today to a repair shop, a block away in Providence st.,

No estimate of the probable renovating cost was available today —but it will "be plenty."

The portrait was taken from its frame, and stretched. It must be carefully repaired, and probably given a new frame.

MANY GASHES

While this work will mount in cost, the big expense will be the services of an artist. The portrait must be retouched in several places on heavy wall board, so that the jagged edges of the gashes may be glued together and permit retouching.

The canvas measures 36 by 29 inches. The cuts were closely examined today. The most prominent one was four and one-half inches square, over the right side of the major's head. The canvas was found flopping downward in the gash.

On the opposite side of the head is a six-inch deep gash, two and a half inches wide. It runs from his nose to his shoulder cheverons.

CULPRITS NOT NAMED

Major Anderson took a hard one right on the belt. It was 21½ inches by six, and extended from the middle to the right arm.

In the lower left corner, there was a crescent-shaped tear of 5½ inches.

Meanwhile, the men who threw bottles at Anderson because they had "never liked the looks of that guy, anyway," have not been officially identified.

N. G. GENERAL IS ARRESTED IN STRIKE KILLING

Elizabethton, Tenn., May 17 (AP)—Adjt.-Gen. W. C. Boyd of Tennessee was arrested here today on a warrant charging "aiding and abetting an attempt to commit murder," sworn out by Evelyn Heatong, a striking textile worker injured yesterday by an automobile that dashed through a group of picketers who blocked the road. He was released on $1000 bond.

Two reports of destruction of property of union strikers were made to Cheriff J. M. Morsland here today, as the trials of 86 strikers from the American Glanstoff and American Bemberg mills on charges of conspiracy to commit murder were resumed before two magistrates.

C. C. Wilson brought reports that the grist mill of Joe Glindstaff, a member of the United Textile Workers' Union, located on Stoney Creek, had been dynamited about dawn today and that the automobile of another union striker, Sam Hall, a neighbor of Glindstaff's, had been burned."

RESCUE SOUTH END WOMAN IN BRIDGE LEAP

With $128 in her pocket, Dora Migdol, 50, of Oswego st., South End, today attempted suicide by jumping from the Dover st. bridge.

A spectacular rescue was made by John Potaka, 27, engineer on the coal barge Tamaqua, who witnessed the leap and heard her screams after she hit the water. He dived after the woman from the Dover st. bridge.

When got ashore the woman was semi-conscious. Policemen George Smith and Louis B. Hennessey applied first aid and revived her.

At City Hospital Dr. Howd gave treatment for immersion and her condition is now favorable.

Plan for Increased Safety in Flying

Cleveland, May 17 (AP)—Numerous ways and suggestions for solving airplane safety problems, expected to increase more than ten fold in the next two years, were brought out today at the national airport convention here.

Prominent airport authorities spent the morning in endeavoring to answer more than 200 questions asked by persons in all parts of the United States who have airport problems on their hands.

The grid glow tube, now acting as traffic director on some corners, will in the future afford fliers immediate and well-lighted havens in fogs and darkness when trouble arises, according to L. C. Simpson of South Bend, engineer from the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company.

The tube, extremely sensitive to minute electric currents, can be made sensitive to a particular sound, such as a siren on a plane. The siren would act on the tube, causing it to turn flood lights at small fields, close together and unmanned, where a flier in difficulty could alight.

CLEAR WOMAN IN MAINE DEATH

umford, Me., May 17 (AP)—The Oxford County grand jury reported today that it had found no bill against Mrs. Anne Merrill Welch, 26-year-old mother, who was charged with murder in the death of Elihu Turner, aged Hartford farmer.

"I am satisfied that justice has been done," County Atty. William J. Flanagan said in commenting on the fact.

Engineer in Fatal Wreck Is Acquitted

Parry Sound, Ont., May 17 (AP)—C. V. Alexander, engineer of a Canadian National train which collided with another causing a loss of 17 lives, was acquitted of a manslaughter charge.

Alexander testified he was struggling to repair a defect in his engine at the times and forgot his orders.

BOY KILLED BY FALLING POLE

Townsend, Vt., May 17 (AP)—Scott Sayre, 14-year-old schoolboy, was instantly killed by a flagpole which was blown down by a windstorm.

The flagpole was erected a few years ago by the graduating class of Leland and Gray Seminary. It was about 50 feet high and snapped off at the base.

Vanderbilt Will be Police Chiefs' Host

Newport, R. I., May 17—"Oakland Farm," the palatial country estate of William H. Vanderbilt, will be thrown open for a police chief's convention on July 2. The associations of Massachusetts and Rhode Island will attend the conference and Chief William Deegan of Portsmouth and Chief Martin Feeney of Fall River are in charge of arrangements. Mr. Vanderbilt, who is State Senator from the town of Portsmouth, will also be in attendance. The purpose of the conference is to discuss plans for closer co-operation between the two States.

—and now for the glad tidings

They are only $10.75

Sleeves are conspicuous by their absence
Shoulder capes create a youthful flutter
All around pleating for summer sports
And a price that's the biggest surprise of all

Sub-deb style (sketch A): A real garden party frock in wild rose chiffon with pleated tiers and long back shoulder cape. A style the home dressmaker wouldn't attempt. Sub-deb style (sketch B): Pastel georgette—green, yellow or orchid with swathed hip and petaled bertha that caps the arms. Misses' style (sketch D): A really new version of the ensemble developed in a bright plaid print, the cardigan is banded in black and the white blouse effects two perky plaid bows. Misses' style (sketch C): Sleeveless tennis frock with new square armhole. The full pleated skirt has big appeal for the active summer girl. Lovely color range.

DEAD GORILLAS MAY REVEAL 'LOST LINK'

New York, May 17—In a search for the "missing link," four American scientists will embark here this month for Africa to kill adult gorillas, embalm them and bring their bodies home complete for anatomical study. This has never been done before.

The new specimens will give first opportunity for detailed study of the man-like ape whose kinship to the human race is a mystery. Columbia University, the American Museum of Natural History and the College of Physicians and Surgeons of New York are co-operating in the expedition.

Photographs of the feet of native Africans who traverse the jungles barefoot will also be made for comparison with American feet as a means of determining to what extent, if any, shoes have deformed the feet of the white race.

Gorillas reach a height of eight feet and weigh more than 300 pounds. All those that have been brought to this country alive were young and soon died. Henry C. Raven, Dr. William K. Gregory, Dr. J. H. McGregor, Dr. E. T. Engle and Dr. Dudley K. Morton head the party.

POLICE CAPT. DAILEY DIES

Capt. Matthew J. Dailey of Station 11, Fields Corner, died today at his home, 2 Arcadia ter., Dorchester, after an illness of less than two days.

He went home Wednesday forenoon because of illness and temperature, and a doctor found he had intestinal grip, which developed pneumonia. About 5 o'clock this morning he suffered a shock and died at five minutes past seven.

Capt. Dailey was in his 66th year and had been a member of the Boston police department nearly 41 years, a captain for nearly 14 years. As patrolman, sergeant, lieutenant and captain he served in seven divisions and at headquarters.

Although he did not let it become generally known, he helped many poor families in his district at Thanksgiving and Christmas. A reporter saw some bills for turkey dinners on his desk one day and drew out of him the story of his benefactions, which had been a close secret between him and those he aided.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Dailey, and a brother, John J. Dailey, Dorchester real estate dealer, survive him.

B.C. French Academy Officers Elected

The French Academy at Boston College has elected the following officers for the coming semester: Edward Powers, '30, was elected president; John Donlon, '30, vice-president; Emile Hemond, '31, secretary, and Albert Thibaut, '31, chairman of the literary committee. Powers and Donlon are excellent speakers of French and have been in the society for the past two years. Thibaut was the winner of the medal awarded for the best work in the interollegiate debate held this year at the college.

Rotman Hotel Burns; $50,000 Loss in Millis

Millis, May 17—A fire loss of $50,000 resulted today when Rotman's Hotel and some nearby small buildings burned. The hotel, which is a three-story wooden building, was widely known as a summer recreation center.

Israel Rotman, owner, lived in a small cottage nearby. This was also destroyed.

Pauline Lord at Sea on Honeymoon

New York, May 17 (AP)—Pauline Lord, the Nina of Eugene O'Neill's 'Strange Interlude,' is a bride. Friends have just learned that she is honeymooning on the transatlantic liner Paris with Owen R. Winters, a partner in an advertising agency. She is to continue on the stage.

SCORES JURY IN SHOOTING OF POLICEMAN

Springfield, May 17—A jury in Superior Court was sharply rebuked today by Judge David Dillon for finding Edvard Montmarquette, 19, of Montreal, not guilty of assault with intent to murder Motorcycle Officer Francis M. Gallagher.

The jury found the youth guilty on another charge, carrying a loaded revolver, and Judge Dillon imposed a sentence of four to five years. The court said there was "absolutely no occasion to doubt the defendant's guilt" on the other charge.

Montmarquette and Matthew Kulps, on January 15 held up Gallagher and took his gun away, according to the police. Gallagher was shot in the back in attempting to regain the revolver, but he got the weapon, shot Montmarquette and arrested him.

The Montreal youth was only slightly wounded but the policeman was in a hospital two months. Kulps, who escaped, later committed murder in Baltimore and received a life sentence.

NEW WAR PLANE CARRIES 1000-POUND BOMB

Washington, May 17—A trim looking plane, of radically new design, which mounts three machine guns and carries a 1000-pound bomb, was under close guard today awaiting first tests by aeronautical experts.

Its sponsors believe it will fulfill the long-cherished hope of American military leaders for a plane which not only can fight in the air with the ease of present attack ships, but also can carry heavy charges of TNT.

Without fanfare, the Navy Department and the Glenn L. Martin Airplane Company of Baltimore have developed this new type of combination ship. It may revolutionize the whole system of air tactics.

The first trial flights will be held shortly.

Sinclair Lewis to Speak at Dartmouth

Hanover, N. H., May 17—Sinclair Lewis, well-known author, will speak at Dartmouth College next Wednesday evening, it was announced. This will be the first time that Lewis has addressed a Dartmouth audience and he will take for his subject: "The American Scene and the American Novelist."

LLOYD GEORGE POOH-POOHED

London, May 17 (AP)—Despite the whirlwind campaigning of "The Happy Warrior," as David Lloyd George often is called, the major parties persist in "pooh poohing" the chances of the Liberals. This was demonstrated when Ramsay MacDonald, labor leader, told an audience at Alloa, Scotland, that the Liberal party was less a party than a fund.

MacDonald remarked that there was a great fight in English history at the time of James I., when one party cry was "No Bishop, No King."

"One might say," he went on, "of the Liberal party, 'No Fund, No Party'."

Gets Wife-Deserter After 8-Year Search

More than eight years ago Van H. Burns of Winthrop was before the superior criminal court on an indictment charging him with neglect of his wife, Elizabeth, and abandonment of his minor daughter, Helen. He was given an opportunity to provide for his wife and child, but instead of doing so he fled.

Since that time Lieut. Douglas has constantly searched for Burns, and yesterday found him on Commonwealth ave.

Arson Suspect Held in $500 for Trial

Paul Guardo of Alwin rd., Roslindale, was arraigned before Judge Williams in the superior criminal court on an indictment charging him with arson on March 25. He pleaded not guilty and was held in $2000 for trial. It is charged that Guardo set fire to a three-story dwelling at 71 Ellington st., Mattapan.

Harwich Cemetery Stones Are Defaced

Harwich, May 17—The whole town is looking for a person who has a mania for defacing the head stones on graves. The outrage reached a climax when the town offered a reward for the apprehension of the guilty party. Up to now the defacing has been of a minor character, but, it was brought to a head when a black liquid was poured all over the stone marking the grave of the late Mrs. Jessie Smith Bent on the family lot in Island Pond Cemetery, Harwich Center.

Saugus Man Fined for Tipsy Driving

Saugus, May 17—Faustino Bambino of 445 Essex st., who was arrested on May 11 by Capt. John T. Stewart of the Saugus police on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and with drunkenness, was in the Lynn District Court today before Associate Judge Edward B. O'Brien.

He pleaded guilty and was fined $150. The charge of drunkenness was filed.

FIRES MUST BE KEPT UP ON CHILL DAYS

Did your landlord shut off your heat today?

This question was echoed all over Boston today, as May 16 was chosen by many landlords as the "legal day" on which they believe they may abruptly close down their boilers to save coal.

Complaints began to arrive at the office of Commissioners Ellis and Friedman, rent and heat commissioners, at City Hall. Thermometer readings of 60 degrees and in one instance as low as 40 degrees, were cited.

Commissioner Ellis said landlords are obliged to provide heat when necessary, and he said today required boiler fires. Weather reports indicate a cold spell for a few days, so the heat must go back on in apartments which need it, he said.

If landlords refuse to obey, they may be arrested and fined $100 and their leases then become void.

BANKER IS HELD FOR SHORTAGE

Clesson A. Stevens of Baldwinville, former treasurer of the Baldwinville Co-operative Bank, is in the Worcester County jail today awaiting arraignment on several indictments returned by the Grand Jury.

Stevens was found to be short in his accounts about $11,000. He resigned Monday and the Grand Jury began to investigate Tuesday.

Grand Army Man Dies

Worcester, May 17 (AP)—George T. Darling, past commander of George H. Ward Post, G. A. R. died here this morning.

Seeks to Free Naval Officer Found in Army

Norfolk, Va., May 17 (AP)—Release of former Ensign Beverley E. Wilson, who mysteriously disappeared from the torpedo school of the naval training station at Newport in 1927 and was found last February in Panama, is sought in habeas corpus proceedings instituted here.

The youth, son of Justice and Mrs. B. F. Wilson of Kingsville, Tex., was serving as a private in the army when found. He declared his mind was blank about activities from the time he left Newport until he was turned over to naval authorities and met a former Annapolis classmate.

He is held in custody by the navy here.

He was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1926 and his service record was clear until he disappeared.

Andrew Carnegie Rockefeller Is Born

Greenwich, Ct., May 17 (AP)—A son, Andrew Carnegie Rockefeller, has been born to Mr. and Mrs. James Stillman Rockefeller of here, according to a birth certificate filed with the town clerk's office today.

Mrs. Rockefeller before her marriage was Nancy Campbell Sherlock Carnegie. This is the third child of Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller.

ESMONDE FOR VATICAN ENVOY

Dublin, Free State, May 17 (AP)—It was stated here today that Osmond Grattan Esmonde, son of Sir Thomas Esmonde, is likely to be the first Irish Free State minister at the Vatican.

Sir Thomas Esmonde was a chamberlain of the Vatican household in 1898, is a grand officer of the Order of the Holy Sepulchre and is representative of the order for Ireland. He was married to the former Anna Frances Levins of Mt. Hope, N. Y., in 1926, his first wife having died years previously. His heir, Osmond, who has been suggested for the Vatican post, is 33 years old.

5000 GOING TO N. E. CAMPS

Nearly 5000 applications for the Citizens' Military Training camps at forts and encampments of New England, have been filed, according to reports sent out today from headquarters of the First Corps Area, South Boston.

This is the largest number since the inauguration of these camps.

The New England camps will be open July 5 at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt.; Fort Adams, R. I.; Ft. McKinley, Me., and Camp Devens.

2 PLANES SET FOR GREATEST AIR RACE

New York, May 17—On the eve of the second anniversary of Lindbergh's transatlantic flight, the most spectacular air race in the history of aviation is scheduled to start from here. Two ships, one headed for Paris, the other for Rome, 1000 miles farther, will make the race.

In one plane, the largest single-motored plane seen in America, will be three Frenchmen, flying back to their native land for "The Glory of France."

In the other, a replica of the famous Columbia, will be two Americans seeking to regain for the United States the long distance flying record. It is a coincidence that they will be flying to Italy, the country that now holds the distance mark of 4600 miles.

Roger Q. Williams, one of the most skilful of American aviators, will be at the controls of the American plane. He will be assisted by Capt. Lewis A. Yancey, former naval officer and an authority on aerial navigation.

It is owned by the Tidewater Oil Company. The plane is already a record holder, being the same one used by Martin Jensen when he established a world solo endurance record of 36 hours.

The flight of the American plane will be financed by the New York American and other Hearst newspapers throughout the country.

POPE'S BAR ON WEDDING BALKS BORIS ROMANCE

Sofia, Bulgaria, May 17 (AP)—From a high authority came word today that rules of the Bulgarian National Church and the Roman Catholic Church had prevented the marriage of King Boris of Bulgaria and Princess Giovanna of Italy.

The authority said that but for the attitude of the Vatican and impossibility of action by the Bulgarian church the betrothal of the royal couple would have been announced in the course of the Bulgarian national celebrations Wednesday.

King Boris and King Victor Emmanuel's pretty 22-year-old daughter felt a genuine affection for each other and desired very much to be married. Boris' paternal aunt, the Duchess Helen, who also is Giovanna's paternal aunt, first suggested the marriage, which was approved by Giovanna's father and Premier Mussolini and the Bulgarian Government.

Their ardent sponsorship of the engagement, which for a time seemed on the point of formal announcement, fell before insuperable religious obstacles on which neither the Vatican nor the holy synod that disposed to yield.

'DEAD MAN' IN FIGHT TO BE RULED ALIVE

Paterson, N. J., May 17 (AP)—Leonard Hemion, legally dead, has begun a legal fight to have himself declared legally alive.

Counsel for his wife today served notice on Surrogate Frederic Begg that the order revoking the original order which declared Hemion legally dead would be carried before Judge Joseph A. Delaney, in the orphans' court. Beatrice Iraci collected $6000 of Hemion's $20,000 estate.

Memion left his wife and family 25 years ago. A war nurse of Brooks, Ga., identified Hemion as the missing Passaic man, whom she nursed in France during the World War. He had confided to her his identity at that time.

Mrs. Hemion took steps to have her husband declared legally dead in 1927 when he had been missing 23 years. She was named administratrix of his estate and $6000 of a legacy from his father was paid. Mrs. Hemion, when the order declaring Hemion dead was signed. The balance of the estate, $14,000, under the terms of the will, cannot be turned over until 1931.

Signs Signal Bill

Governor Allen yesterday afternoon signed the bill authorizing cities and towns to make contracts for the installation of mechanical signal lighting systems.

Museum Gets Painting

Worcester, May 17—In memory of her husband, Mrs. William Baxter Closson of Newton and Magnolia has presented one of his later works in oil, "The Manchester Shore," to the Worcester Art Museum.

G. M. C. INVADES FLYING FIELD

New York, May 17—The General Motors Corporation after several months of negotiations has purchased 40 per cent of the stock of the Fokker Aircraft Corporation. This acquisition while not in itself the control of one of the leading airplane manufacturing companies of the world is virtually control, because the remaining 60 per cent is so well scattered.

James A. Talbot, head of the Richfield Oil Company in California, and chairman of the board of directors of the Fokker Aircraft Corporation of America, confirmed the announcement. By the purchase, General Motors acquires 500,000 shares of the Fokker common stock which closed on the New York market at $63 a share and according to reports received here was selling in Los Angeles at the close of the market there at $68.

Fall River Man Is Given College Post

Fall River, May 17—Robert W. Powers, 410 Highland ave., has accepted an honorary post as a member of the advisory board of the college of commerce of the University of Notre Dame. The invitation was extended by the Rev Charles L. O'Donnell, C. S. C., president of the university, who pointed out that this section was not represented on the board.

Malden Boy's Skull Fractured by Auto

Samuel Miles, 6, of 132 Belmont st., Malden, is in a critical condition at the Malden Hospital as a result of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile while crossing the street in front of his home.

The machine was operated by Mrs. James F. Cooper, 275 Fellsway East, who took the little boy to the hospital, where it was found that he had a fractured skull.

ROSY FUTURE IS PREDICTED FOR WOMEN'S CLUBS

By NANCY BREWSTER

The future of women's clubs is unlimited—

Their power is far-reaching.

With glowing praise of women's clubs and extolling the virtues and potential powers at its command, five past presidents of the State Federation, special guests of the evening's session at the 37th annual meeting, predicted a roseate future for the groups united under one common banner in the common cause of sisterhood.

Governor and Mrs. Allen, also guests at the meeting at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, added their words of cheer and commendation for the work of the thousands of clubwomen throughout the State. The chief executive placed on their shoulders the responsibility for the success of the humanitarian program of government.

"I am an optimist," he told them. "I have no fears about the safety of the country and the stability of government. As long as Massachusetts has women like you, with interest the same as yours, with purpose and forceful execution of the principles for which you stand, we need have no worry or fear of the future."

Mrs. Azel A. Packard, president, opened the meeting by introducing the "Ex's" of the federation—those women who have served at the head of the organization in previous years.

"Clubwomen are thinking women. Their influence is far-reaching. Their power is almost unlimited," Mrs. Florence Perkins, the first called upon, said. Thirteen years ago she was State president.

CITES NEED OF CHANGE

Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, "war-president" of the federation, stated: "The future of anything depends upon its past. The women's clubs of the State are branching out wonderfully. But women's clubs must change. Women are interested in all kinds of things today and the clubs must readjust themselves to meet the present-day changes in conditions and living standards.

"Women have entered politics. Clubs must meet this change. Women have entered commercial life. Clubs must meet this change. We have the new woman, new thought, new everything. Nobody knows what is to happen next.

"The success of the Federation depends upon three fundamentals—education, sociological progress and humanitarianism, which they can carry out through the mind, by reform and through controlled emotions."

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, who graduated from State presidency into first vice-presidency of the General Federation, told the 2,09 delegates and visiting clubwomen that they "must be all things to all women if we are to succeed."

Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, new membership committee chairman of the General Federation, spoke of the future modern youth.

"The young clubwomen of today are the club leaders of tomorrow. Organized women is the hope of American life today," she said.

"GROWING POWER"

Mrs. Arthur Devens Potter, who preceded Mrs. Packard, continued her "growing power" talk. She wants the clubs to grow in power and the clubwomen to grow in power, too, in the nation's scheme of things.

Mrs. Murray L. Stanley, president of the Florida State Federation, brought the greetings of her 20,000 clubwomen to the Bay State sisters.

Roses, blood-red and ruby-tinged in richness, were presented to Mrs. Allen, their beauty matching the beauty of similar roses in her gown.

The governor particularly stressed the importance of the assistance of clubwomen in raising the compulsory school age from 15 to 16.

"I trust your great organization may help to bring about proper legislation in this respect when the time is ripe, if you agree with me.

NO FEAR FOR FUTURE

"Important as the dollar and cents side of government is, the human side is more important not only to the taxpayers but to the citizens and the Commonwealth itself.

"I want to compliment you as representatives of this great Federation for the work you have done in the past, that you are doing for the present and that you will do in the future.

"Just as long as you take interest in your fellowmen; just as long as you take interest in the institutions brought into being at great cost by your fathers, just so long need you have no fears of the future."

The result of the voting is to be announced today. The following are the only new changes in the slate for next year: Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, Winchester, clerk; Mrs. Charles L. Fuller, Brockton, assistant clerk; Mrs. Charles G. Weiberbe, Newton Highlands, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ralph H Snow, Harwichport; Mrs. Arthur J Crockett, West Roxbury; Mrs. Nathaniel E. Smith, Somerville; Mrs. J. Norman Jeffrey, Salem, and Mrs. Hartley Smith, Westboro, directors.

Mrs. Packard is to be re-elected as will be Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, Mrs. Frank J. Bennett, Jr., Mrs. Thomas J. Ealker and Mrs. John H Kimball, vice-presidents.

PHILANTHROPIES NUMEROUS

More than $100,000 was contributed to charity and philanthropic causes by 246 clubs in the state, the president's questionnaire showed.

Mrs. Packard read the following amounts: hospitals, $34,664; scholarships, $21,895; child welfare, $6,031; community work, $25,; local charities, $7744; American education, $933; foreign funds, $517; Red Cross, $2212; disabled veterans $3583; public health, $4960; Whittier Scholarship Fund, $685; other gifts, $5134.

This represented a total of $102,202, she said, but does not include contributions by all the clubs in the Federation.

A stirring appeal to complete the Helen A. Whittier Scholarship Fund of $3000 made by Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, chairman, brought an enthusiastic and spontaneous response which sent the total way over the top. A subscription of $689 was made by the clubwomen personally in less than half an hour thus making it possible for the announcement that the Biennial Council of Massachusetts tribute to one of the Federation's founders.

Club Leaders

WALTHAM MAN KNIFE VICTIM

George Spenard, 22, a shipper in a bakery on Main st., Waltham, was slashed with a knife by an unknown assailant. Several stitches were taken in cuts on his forehead and chest at Waltham Hospital.

Spenard, who lives at 62 Calvary st., Waltham, described his assailant as about 25, 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing 160, wearing a blue V-neck sweater, and having a cast in one eye. He told the police that a thief who stole a cake some time ago, and was caught by the shipper, threatened to send his brother to the bakery "to get even."

STUB SNAPPING BANNED AT HARVARD

Cambridge police launched a campaign against Harvard students who, residents complain, snap cigarettes from their dormitory windows, pincing pedestrians in danger of having their clothing ignited.

Chief John J. McBride informed Capt. Michael J. Brennan of the Brattle sq., Cambridge, station to instruct officers of his division to war against any such pranks on the part of the students.

One woman is said to have been walking along Massachusetts ave. near Holyoke st., Cambridge, when a lighted cigarette stub tossed from some student's room above the street came within inches of striking her face.

Milford, N. H., May 17—Rev. Noyes C. Bartholomew of Maplewood, Mo., has been given a call to become the pastor of the First Congregational Church of Milford.

3 FINED $5175 FOR SHORT LOBSTERS

Portsmouth, N. H., May 17—What is believed to be a record for fines in any municipal court in this section of New England, occurred when Judge Justin Henry Show of the Kittery municipal court handed down fines totaling $5175 to three Kennebunkport fishermen arrested for attempting to bring into New Hampshire 607 undersized lobsters.

Albert E. Hutchins and Albert S. Hutchins, father and son, were fined $1890 each for having 378 lobsters in their machine, while George McKenny was assessed $1395 for having 279 lobsters in his possession. The defendants all appealed.

Monthly Meeting

Beverly, May 17—The monthly meeting of the Massachusetts Relief Officers' Association was held at City Hall today with 50 members and guests gttending.

Ex-Maine Governor Buys Fire Horses

Portland, Me., May 17—Moved to sympathy by forcible retirement from duty of two old fire horses, ex-Gov. Percival P. Baxter purchased the animals and took them to his island estate in Portland harbor, where they may roam at will. The horses served the local fire department nearly 13 years, and were forced out by motor equipment. Mr. Baxter, who is noted for his kindness to animals, has two other horses and numerous dogs.

WOMEN RESENT FITZGERALD'S RAP AT DRYS

In response to statements by ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, five women prominent in politics, led by Mrs. George Whiting, have taken issue with certain of his remarks.

The statement to which they object was, "the domineering attitude of a group of 'Dry' women who dictate nominations for governorship and all offices in the Republican party, asking only a cast iron pledge to vote for prohibition day in and day out."

Their letter says, in part:

"In all courtesy we would ask you and the members of the society before whom you spoke this question, 'Do you really consider it narrow-minded to try to better the home conditions of countless mothers and little children?' We cannot believe that far-seeing members of your group could agree with you in calling endeavors to better the home narrow-minded.

Prohibition in Massachusetts can bring its final healing to mothers and little children when the humanity-loving members of the society for which you spoke and the followers of the great Fr. Mathew come heartily into the prohibition movement. Then will those women whose domination you deplore cease to dominate for the question will be settled, and once settled right, it will bring vast benefits. This blessed day calls for the co-operation of the noble representative of the great Fr. Mathew in this state. We hope and believe many of them are with us today, and more must follow as they study the results of prohibition even poorly enforced.

The letter is signed by Alice Stone Blackwell, Mrs. Julian Lowell Coolidge, Mrs. Ella A. Gleason, Mrs. Alice L. W. Movius, Mrs. Henry E. Russell and Mrs. George Whiting.

B. U. Operetta Cast to Be Entertained

The entire cast of "Iolanthe," operetta presented by members of Boston University's Gilbert and Sullivan Association recently, will be the guests of Prof. and Mrs. John C. Scammell of Milton, at their home next Sunday. Prof. Scammell is a member of the English department at B. U. College of Business Administration.

On May 30 the members of the B. U. above organization will conduct their annual picnic at the summer home of Prof. and Mrs. Harry B. Center, in Gloucester. Prof. Center, who is head of the department of journalism at the university, is faculty director of the association.

Girl Athletes Hold May Dance Tonight

Girl track and swimming stars will get together this evening at the Tent Ballroom in the May dance of the Boston Swimming Association.

Olympic, national and New England champions will be tendered a reception, men and women track and swimming headliners attending from Worcester, Whitinsville, Gardner and Greater Boston.

Music will be furnished by Morey Pearl's Orchestra. Ben Lewins, chairman of the New England A. A. A. U. committee on women's athletics and the swimming committee, is chairman of the general committee

New York Man Given Testimonial Dinner

A testimonial dinner under auspices of the Boston Art Studio was tendered Louis Goldberg of New York, manager of the "Galician Wedding Co." playing this week at Arlington St. Theater. Dramatic and fraternal organizations were represented. Samuel Fisher director of the studio was toastmaster.

The dinner was given at the Harvard Garden, headquarters of the studio. Abraham Alpert presented Mr. Goldberg a testimonial parchment. More than 200 members of the studio attended.

Killed While Cleaning Gun

Gilbertville, May 17—Ernest W. Warburton, 50, was killed when a rifle he was cleaning exploded. The charge entered his right temple.

EXTRADITION WAIVED IN ROBBERIES

Brockton, May 17—Anthony Consola, 28, and Joseph Disolvio, 22, alleged bank robbers held at Plymouth jail, have waived extradition to Canada and will probably be taken back to Ontario early next week. The pair are wanted on the charge of looting the Bank of Commerce at Beamsville, Ont., and Consola will answer to a hold-up in St. Catherine, it is understood.

Signatures to the waivers were obtained by Inspector W. P. Stringer of the Ontario provincial police. The men were arrested in Brockton with Joseph Mussari, 22, when a policeman became suspicious of them. All three will answer to charges of carrying revolvers in an automobile when they appear in district court here Saturday.

The complaints again Consola and Disolvio will probably be dismissed but Mussari who is wanted neither by Canada or Niagara Falls, the home of all three men will be punished here should he be convicted.

Organist Dies

Concord, N. H., May 17—Henry Maitland Barnes, organist and choir master of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in this city since 1907, died today at a local hospital

Fall River Chief Hits at Parking

Fall River, May 17—Fire Chief Jeremiah F. Sullivan, whose complaint that parking on both sides of Central and Pocasset sts. in the business center created a fire hazard and brought action by the police in prohibiting parking on both thoroughfares, following an inspection of Pearl st., one of the oldest in the city, where double parking prevails in defiance of the rules, termed this also a menace. The majority of the city's principal department stores have their rear entrances on this street. It would be impossible to reach them with fire apparatus with autos parked on both sides, Chief Sullivan stated.

Adams House Sale Halts; Bill Is Paid

Frank G. and George R. Hall, former proprietors of the Adams House, avoided the proposed sheriff's sale tomorrow morning of their interests in the property by paying approximately $25,000 to Samuel L. Bailen, Boston lawyer for legal service. The payment ends a controversy that started about 12 years ago.

Mr. Bailen represented the Hall brothers in proceedings following the death of their father. These resulted in the brothers obtaining control of the hotel and it was to obtain his fee that Bailen brought action which resulted in the settlement.

Services Are Held for Joseph Delaney

Relatives and friends, not only from all over New England, but also from as far away as Philadelphia, were numbered among the mourners at the funeral of Joseph Delaney, late of 97 Mason ter., Brookline. The officers of the solemn high mass in St. Aidan's Church were the Rev. Joseph A. Quigley, celebrant; the Rev. Thomas F. Garrity, deacon, and the Rev. Gerald Fitzgerald, subdeacon. The plain Gregorian chant was rendered by the regular choir and there were many floral tributes.

The Rev. Fr. Garrity offered prayers at the grave in St. Joseph's cemetery, West Roxbury. The bearers were Michael J. Quigley, James J. Moroney, James Kenney, Edward Nihon, Frederick Kelley and James J. McDonough.

CANADA WILL DEBATE RUM PLEA OF U. S.

Ottawa, May 17 (AP)—A request of the United States that the Canadian government deny customs clearance of vessels carrying consignments of liquor to the United States was today in a position to reach the floor of parliament.

The request, which the Canadian government has not seen fit to grant, was included in correspondence and the report of Canadian and United States officials on the anti-smuggling conference last January. The documents were tabled in both Houses yesterday.

Parliament leaders said that the matter may reach open discussion when estimates of the department of national revenue are before the House. A demand for a statement of the Government's policy in the matter would be in order.

The position of the United States as stated in the correspondence and reports is that refusal of clearance is the only effective means of cutting down the flow of liquor from Canada to the United States.

Permission for United States officers in Canada to transmit information regarding liquor shipments from Canadian ports was the counter offer of Canadian officers. This could be done under the existing anti-smuggling treaty while the denial of clearance for liquor shipments would require revision of the treaty.

Girls, Don't Forget to Burn Below the Knees, Too

New York, May 17—Milady who will sunbathing go in paris fashionable this season must pay as much attention to her making brown the knees as to her beach costume.

The latest whase of beauty experts says is that she must carefully dust her legs with tan powder to give them the appearance of being sunburned. Of course, last year's vogue of artificially sunburning the neckline still holds good

LEARN-TO-SWIM CAMPAIGN ON AT 'Y'

Heartily endorsed by many prominent men and athletes of note, the Boston Y. M. C. A. annual learn-to-swim campaign, free to all men and boys over 15, begins next Monday under the guidance of Bob Muir, a national swimming champion.

In co-operation with those conducting this campaign, the Boston Evening American publishes a coupon entitling the bearer to free instruction during a two-weeks' period in the big "Y" salt-water tank in the Huntington ave. building.

More than 5000 persons lose their lives by drowning in this country yearly, according to the records. Many others would be drowned but for the swimming ability of rescuers.

On the other hand, the number of drownings would be cut appreciably if more persons could swim, and it has been repeatedly proven that by scientific methods a beginner can learn in a few lessons.

PRESENT this coupon at the Boston Y. M. C. A., 316 Huntington ave., for free swimming instruction, May 20—June 1, 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Name .....

Address .....

The hours of instructions are at 9, 10, 11, 2, 4, 6, 7 and 9, at which times there will be regular classes. Those unable to attend at these hours should report anyway, for they will be accommodated. There is no charge whatsoever, not even for soap or towel. Boys under 18 will be given instructions at a later date.

Among the endorsers are Mayor Malcolm E. Nichols, ex-Gov. Alvan T. Fuller, George W. Mixton of Jordan Marsh Co., Robert Quinn of the Red Sox, H. Bradlee Fenno, president of the Boston Swimming Association; Postmaster Gow, Police Commissioner Wilson and Fire Commissioner Hultman, Henry I. Harriman and Paul F. Clark.

The instructors will be Bob Muir, Y. M. C. A. swimming supervisor; Paul Nelson, his assistant; H. Bradlee Fenno, Ben Levine, vice-president of the B. S. A.; Wm. Marling, former champion, and others.

Rt. Rev. Mgr. Splaine to Tell of Pilgrimage

In his first public address after arriving from Rome, Rt. Rev. Mgr. Michael J. Splaine will be the principal speaker at the annual communion breakfast of Brookline Council, Knights of Columbus, Sunday morning in St. Mary's school hall, Harvard st., Brookline.

It is expected that Mgr. Splaine will discuss his experiences during the pilgrimage. Other speakers include State Deputy John E. Swift, District Deputies Edward D. Hassan and William B. Henderson and Past Deputies Thomas B. McCaffrey and Thomas J. Brady.

SOCIETY FOLK BUSY OPENING HOMES ALONG NORTH SHORE

Alexander McElwain Bringing His Bride Home for Family Gathering at Manchester

NEW ENGLAND COUNTRYSIDES IN SPRING TIME garb, just now compete with the lure of old world travel perns for the favor of a portion of Boston society still undecided on summer plans. And spring, sitting in the lap of summer, flings one's fancy from one resort to another in an ever widening circle that makes a choice a happy adventure either way. Already some travelers, returning from winter sojourns abroad, come down the same gangplank that takes others aboard ship for summer pleasures across the sea. But all of these returning voyagers linger in town only long enough to pack for the country.

MRS. JOHN REMICK OF MARLBOROUGH ST., whose journeyings the past six month, included the principal cities of Europe and a stay at Cairo at Easter, is now en route home on the same boat which brings Mrs. William H. McElwain home from a visit with her son, Alexander McElwain, and Mrs. McElwain in Paris. Mr. Alexander, by the way, is bringing his bride of last October over for the family summer gathering at Manchester in a few weeks.

MR. AND MRS. C. RUSSELL HURD OF MILTON and Mr. and Mrs. George Eddy Warren deserted the land of the Pharoahs when spring crept over homeland hillsides, arriving home only to pack immediately for summer places. The Warrens went down to their summer home in Manchester yesterday, and Mr. and Mrs. Hurd are preparing to depart for Northeast Harbor, Me., shortly. Mr and Mrs. Tarrant P. King of Milton and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Rand Thomas are other arrivals from abroad. Mrs. Albert F. Bigelow of Brookline is to sail for France next month.

A PRETTY SOCIAL COURTESY EXTENDED to sub-debs three years ago has become an institution to which the younger set looks forward eagerly. And well may this particular event be elected to revive perennially, for it not only brings happiness to those girls who will be next season's buds but also contributes to the Children's Hospital fund. This evening at the Country Club this eagerly awaited event materializes as the third annual subscription dance given by this season's debutantes for next season's debutantes. Informality is to be the keynote of this year's ball, dispensing even with ushers.

Miss Anne Robbins of Marlborough st., is guest of honor tonight at a dinner party given by Miss Carol Smith.

THE COMMITTEE IN CHARGE is dining together at the Country Club before the dance. Its members are Miss Dorothy Rogers, Miss Nancy Adams, Miss Betty Barrell, Miss Nancy Crocker, Miss Peggy Creighton, Miss Helen Curtis, Miss Dorothea Frothingham, Miss Dorothy Rogers and Miss Constance Harper. A collection of the most popular debutantes in the city and surely one of the most enthusiastic committees that ever managed a dance. Other debutantes are giving dinner parties preceding the dance, among them Miss Carol Smith, entertaining for Miss Anne Robbins of Marlborough st.

NOT MERELY AS A HOUSE hunter did Miss Marie Louise Gray fare forth to choose her future home in New York. The fiancee of Henry Godfrey, Jr., wore rose colored glasses as all engaged girls should, and the house she chose in Oyster Bay, Long Island, is all that a bridal couple could desire for a first home. And more luxury still awaits this favored daughter of Commonwealth ave., for she is to spend her honeymoon abroad after the wedding on June 15.

THE ITALIAN VILLA OF MRS R. W. SEARS on Mt. Walley ave., Brookline, is the Mecca this afternoon for scores of society women interested in the Jamaica Plain Neighborhood House. Seventy tables have been reserved for bridge, the proceeds to be used for carrying on the summer work of the settlement house. Miss Cornelia Rowditch is in charge, assisted by a large committee of prominent matrons. Mrs. Daniel B. Ruggles, Mrs. Ellen H. Gleason, Mrs. Maurice Lacey form the board of directors for the Neighborhood House, with Miss Marian T. Balch, secretary, and Robert S. Stone, treasurer.

MRS. HERBERT HOOVER, planning a wild flower garden in the rear grounds of the White House, intrigues the interest of that portion of society which delights in the cultivation of beautiful gardens. Horticulturally inclined matrons observe that it is one thing to grow domesticated posies, and quite another to successfully lure wild blossoms into the full radiance of bloom in an alien habitat. But the experiment is a challenge to amateur gardeners. It is a foregone conclusion that Mrs. Hoover's garden will grow and prosper.

St. Matthews Union to Present Play

Tonight at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the new Boys' high school in Dorchester, St. Matthews Sunday school union, connected with St. Matthew's Catholic Church, will present a mystery drama, "The Thirteenth Chair," which enlist the talents of 17 young men and women teachers in the Sunday school. The play has been under rehearsal for many weeks and a fine presentation is assured.

The proceeds are to be given Monsignor Edward F. Hurley, pastor of the church, to be applied to the fund for the new parish school, now under construction on Stanton st.

END MULCTING OF CITIES ON LAND

In the House debate on the bill to provide an alternative method of taking property by eminent domain and assessing betterments by public authorities, Representative Bateman of Winchester declared it might well be labeled "a bill to insure municipalities against highway robbery."

The assertion of Bateman was made in reply to Representative Rafter of Salem, an opponent of the measure, who questioned whether it would remedy the situation that exists in the Exchange st. widening in this city.

"There is nothing to prevent a reputation," said Rafter. "Not one bit of the present law is being repealed. It merely gives them another angle to work on. It is bad legislation and is an example of flooding the courts through silly legislation."

The law is needed and is intended to protect the public, declared Representative Johnson of Boston.

By voice vote the bill was passed to be engrossed.

GLASS BROKEN TO FREE FIVE

Four persons were injured when John Dwyer of West Roxbury, operating a small automobile, applied the brakes too suddenly, causing the car to overturn when he approached the bridge on the Wo, mouth-Hingham turnpike in North Weymouth. The bridge is undergoing repairs and Dwyer tried to avoid the workmen and their equipment on the structure. Workmen had to break the glass in the car doors to get the injured persons out.

The injured were: Miss Anna Foley, 18, of West Cottage st., Roxbury; Miss Mabel Young, 18, of Erna st., Jamaica Plain; Miss Agnes Hynes, 19, of Erna st., Jamaica Plain; Francis Foley, 68, West Cottage st., Roxbury.

Dwyer escaped injury but was arrested charged with drunkenness and with going away from the scene of an accident without making his identity known.

Charged With Hitting Wife With Hammer

Charged with assaulting with a hammer, his wife Carolina, Valentine Kluk, of 22 Fenton st., Dorchester, was arraigned in the Dorchester court before Judge Churchill. The case was continued until May 31, at the request of Patrolman Chester Henchy, who made the arrest.

The woman, who is the mother of five children, is at City Hospital with concussion of the brain, a lacerated scalp and contusions of the arm. The police say that Kluk struck her with a hammer during a fight in their home

Governor Signs Bill for Dredging Work

Governor Allen has signed the bill which provides for an appropriation of $147,300 for dredging Savin Hill Bay, Commercial Point Channel and the Dorchester Yacht Club channel. Recently the governor signed a bill giving authority to the city to spend $450,000 for the construction of sewers in Savin Hill Bay.

MORROWS ARE EXPECTED IN MAINE SOON

North Haven, Me., May 17—With the arrival here today of two maids from the New Jersey home it was indicated here that members of the family of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow will reach the Morrow summer mansion at the southerly end of this island within 10 days.

The maids will assist Supt. Hubert Grant of the estate in opening the large mansion preparatory to the arrival of the family.

For the first time reports were current here that it is the wish of Miss Anne R. Morrow that her wedding to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh take place in the large drawing room of the mansion, facing the Atlantic ocean, over which the colonel made his epochal flight alone from New York to Paris.

It is recalled that Col. Lindbergh did not fly over the island but passed inland about 15 miles on his course northward before he swung over the Atlantic.

While no definite statement has been made as yet as to the time or place of the marriage the feeling is that the nuptials will take place at the Morrow home.

BIGELOW TO AVOID TRIAL

Madison, Conn., May 17—Francis H. Bigelow, member of a socially prominent Worcester, Mass., family and former captain of the Harvard track team, will not stand trial in Town Court here on May 21, according to the belief here.

Although his counsel, Col. Arnon A. Ailing, former State attorney for New Haven County, declines to divulge what his course of action will be, Stephen Dunn, special prosecutor, believes that Bigelow will waive examination and be bound over for trial during the June term of Criminal Superior Court at New Haven.

Bigelow is charged with complicity in the disappearance of valuable antiques and furniture from the summer homes of friends and other residents at Middle Beach

Boys Aid Two Men Buried by 10 Tons of Sand

Newburyport, May 17—Frank Pinkham of Salisbury and his assistant, Daniel Mahoney of this city, escaped death when 10 tons of sand fell on them at Norton's Pit, Low st. Pinkham was completely buried and Mahoney partially.

Boys quickly released Mahoney and he rescued Pinkham by quick shoveling. Pinkham was using a motor truck to haul sand to Salisbury. The rear end was buried under sand when the slide occurred.

WHAT IS A ONE CENT SALE?

It is a sale where you buy an item at the regular price, then another item of the same kind for one cent. As an illustration: The standard price of Klenzo Dental Creme is 50c, you buy a tube at this price and by paying one cent more, or 51 cents, you get two tubes and save 49 cents. Every article in this sale is a high class standard piece of merchandise, just the same as is sold every day at regular price.

No limit—buy all you want, but on Friday and Saturday only!

A PROFIT SHARING METHOD OF ADVERTISING

THIS sale was developed by the United Drug Co. as an advertising plan. Rather than spend large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, they are spending it on this sale in permitting us to sell you a full size package of high standard merchandise for one cent. It costs money to get new customers, but the sacrifice in profit is justified, as we know the goods will please you.

NEW PASSENGER LINER FOR HUB

London, May 17 (AP)—A new liner, ordered by the White Star line from Harland & Wolff at Belfast, will be named the Oceanic after the first transatlantic boat that the line had. The first Oceanic began service 38 years ago.

The new liner will be an express mail vessel and will inaugurate a new era in that it will be propelled by electricity, Lord Kilsant, chairman announced yesterday.

The company has ordered a new passenger ship the Brittanic 27,000 tons, to be the largest passenger ship engaged in the Liverpool-Boston and New York trade.

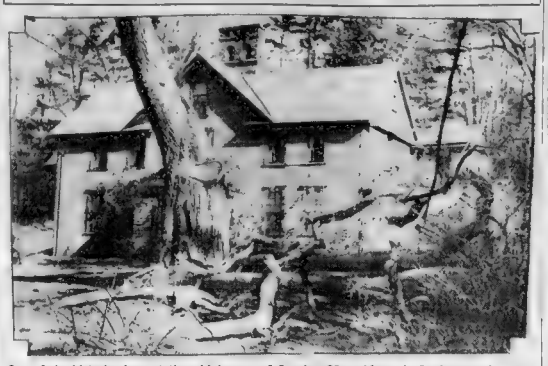
THREE HURT IN POWDER BLAST

New Haven, Ct., May 17 (INS)—Three men were hurt, one seriously, in an explosion in the powder mixing building of the Winchester Repeating Arms Company, which rocked this city today.

Fire of undetermined origin was said to have caused the blast. There was more than a ton of powder in the building, it was said.

Patrick Dougherty was taken to New Haven hospital, where it was said his condition was critical. Jess Coogan and Fred Hoppe were hurt, but will recover. All were inside.

WIND LAYS ALCOTT "SENTINEL"



One of the historic elms at the old home of Louisa May Alcott in Lexington rd., Concord, which the writer referred to in a story as "the sentinels," was wrecked by the gale. When the huge tree, more than 300 years old, struck the ground, the house was so severely shaken that the ceiling in a hall fell. (Staff photo.)

CAUGHT TAKING SHOE STITCHER

Securing themselves about a factory before working hours, Inspector Thomas E. Flynn and Reserve Officers James McAleenan and John Mace of Chelsea seized a man today who is charged with stealing three stitching machines.

Police said Harold P. Vaughan of Everett was arrested in the act of carrying the third machine from the Digney Shoe plant in Fifth st.

A similar machine disappeared yesterday and there was one taken on Tuesday. Each is valued at $100.

Vaughan is charged with selling two of them to another factory in Webster ave., one for $30 and one for $10.

$350,000 GIFT RECEIVED BY YALE

New Haven, Ct., May 17—Yale University announced the further development of the subject of government by addition of two distinguished teachers to its staff; by extending research facilities in that field for advanced undergraduate and graduate students, and by providing a series of fellowships for graduate students who wish to follow advanced study and research in government.

The development is made possible by a gift of $350,000 received by the university from Mr. and Mrs. Philip B. Stewart of Santa Barbara, Cal., Alfred Cowles of Chicago, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Cowles of Spokane, Wash., for the establishment of the Alfred Cowles foundation for the study of government. Alfred Cowles, in whose memory the foundation has been established, was the father of Mrs. Stewart, William H. Cowles '97 and Alfred Cowles '26. He was one of the owners of the Chicago Tribune, of which he was also business manager for many years. He died in 1888.

ALLIES RESUME REPARATIONS DISCUSSION

Paris, May 17—Discussions between the Allies and the Americans were continued today after further study of Sir Josiah Stamp's report and the German conditions embodied therein.

The last previous conference had debated for four hours the conditions under which Germany is willing to accept the reparations annuities proposed by Owen D. Young, and Allied delegates to the reparations conference had adjourned without having actually accepted or rejected outright any of them.

This discussion revealed the fact that the German demand for lifting the lien on railroads and industries of the Reich, which guarantees payments under the Dawes plan, could not be satisfied. This lien could not be removed because it is a part of the contract under which a loan of $800,000,000 had been floated to put the Reichsbank on its feet.

SUES DOCTOR OVER TONSIL OPERATION

Alfred, Me., May 17—In Supreme Court the $10,000 malpractice suit of Basil Emery of Biddeford against Dr. Stanwood E. Fisher of Portland went on trial for the second time. This case was tried at the September term last year and the plaintiff won a verdict of $2000. Dr. Fisher took the case to the Law Court, where a motion for a new trial was granted.

Emery claimed that on January 6, 1927, he was operated upon at the Webber Hospital in Biddeford by Dr. Fisher for removal of the tonsils and that a rubber tip was lost by the surgeon in Emery's respiratory passages. He testified that one week after the operation he was taken to Boston by a Dr. Hurd. On the way there he learned of the presence of a rubber tube in his chest. He said he went to the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary, where he was operated upon by Dr. Campbell Simpson. The tip of a rubber tube was removed from the lung passage, he testified. Mr. Emery identified the tip.

Upon his return from Boston, he said, he was treated for rheumatic infection and paid expense bills of $1099.28. He testified that he still suffers from coughing which he never did before the operation.

STUDENT FLIER DIES IN CRASH

Floyd Strobeker, the student flier who went into the water when his airplane dropped off Thompson's Island, died at the Quincy City hospital.

Fred Chapman, pilot, was resting comfortably unaware of his companion's death.

One of the thrilling incidents connected with the dropping of the airplane and the rescue of the two men, was the feat of Eugene Lunchin, 15-year-old boy at the Trades and Farm school on Thompson's Island.

He jumped into the water and swam 300 feet to the plane closely followed by John Schurman, chief engineer of the school, in a boat. They reached the plane to find Chapman clinging to one wing and holding the unconscious Strobeker.

S. Boston Baseball Club Dance Tonight

A large gathering is expected at the second annual dancing party of the South Boston Twilight League baseball club to be held tonight at Perkins Post ballroom, South Boston. "Jimmie" McMahon and "Mike" McCarthy, owners of the club, are being assisted by a ladies committee of local girls headed by Peggy Donovan. The proceeds will be used to buy uniforms for the team.

Slight Loss From Museum Roof Fire

Fire on the roof of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, Huntington ave. caused excitement among persons in the neighborhood, who feared for the safety of the priceless art collections in the building.

Firemen and employes of the museum soon extinguished the flames and the damage was estimated at only $100. It was said that the roof was being repaired and sparks from the workmen's kettle set fire to a burlap bag.

MODIFICATION CAMPAIGN ON IN BAY STATE

Massachusetts anti-prohibitionists are allying themselves with people of similar convictions throughout the country for an intensive fight for the repeal or modification of prohibition law enforcement.

The election in New York Wednesday of Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames of North Easton and Boston as the leader in this State of the Moderation League, a new women's anti-prohibition group, is considered the priming for an organized battle for modification.

Mrs. Ames asserts that plans are tentative and the real organization will not begin until next fall, after she returns from abroad. It was learned that the Moderation League will be the largest women's anti-prohibition organization ever formed. It will seek to amalgamate into one body all the present women's anti-prohibition units.

The Moderation League is expected to soon have branches in every city in the country and a central office in Washington. Although its objects will be the direct splitting of the W. C. T. U., the organization of the Moderation League will resemble the former body.

The Moderation League will work militantly for the defeat of legislators who are "personally wet and politically dry."

Students at Clark Conduct Annual Spring 'Spree'

Worcester, May 17—Clark University students had their annual "spring spree" when they struck classes and gave us the time they should pass in their class rooms to enjoying themselves.

The professors found all their class rooms empty of students at the hour for beginning the regular routine, and shortly after the "strikers" reported at the university for a roll call. "University cops" were sent for absentees and they had to join in the festivities.

Ready to Enroll at B. C. Law School

The new law school at Boston College is ready to receive the registration of students wishing to enter for the fall term, which will start early in September. Dean Dennis Dooley states that applications may be filled at the Boston College Alumni Association, 45 Washington st., or at the college. Mr. Dooley has left on a tour of observation to Georgetown, on whose law school that of B. C. will be modelled, and also to Fordham Law School in New York city.

SENATE DEBATE OVER TEXTILE MILLS HERE

Washington, May 17—New England textile mills, the subject of debate in the Senate when Senator Simmons of North Carolina presented a newspaper article published in Gastonia, N. C., declaring that mills were working men 14 hours a night in New Bedford, were still the center of dispute today. Senator Simmons provoked a lively session with his request for an investigation of conditions in the textile industry throughout the country.

The article ended with this statement: "Those in a position to know from actual experience and first-hand observation of conditions in New England state positively that the Southern textile worker in almost every particular fares better than his New England coworker in the same industry."

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts upheld the conditions of the New England textile workers.

"I am not familiar with the facts set forth in the newspaper article, though I do know that Massachusetts has extremely stringent laws regulating the hours of labor," Senator Walsh said.

"If the statement set forth in the article about the long number of hours of employment in night work at one of the factories in New Bedford is true, it is an exceptional instance.

Miss Anna Brooks of Chicago has brought suit against Morris Gest, impressario, and Adolf and George Fassnacht of the Passion Play cast. She claims she had contract to produce the play.

LONG TRIP TO WED IN VAIN

Newport, R. I., May 17—A Dover, Mass., couple travelled 200 miles here for the purpose of being wed by their former pastor, and were obliged to return still in the state of single blessedness. Arriving in town, they were disappointed to learn the Rev. Daniel M. Wilson, former pastor of the Unitarian Church, Dover, had retired and was not registered to practice in the State of Rhode Island.

Undaunted, they remained here and the clergyman, out of friendship, went to the City Hall and registered. Fate took a hand again, when the couple, arriving at the City Hall for their license, learned they would be obliged to wait five days under the State law. They returned to Dover, disappointed, but will come here again in a few days for the ceremony. They are Miss Hesta McGill, a clerk, of Marsh st., and Leon Arthur Bean, a contractor of Strawberry Hill.

Malden Girl Bride of New Haven Man

Friends of Miss Dorothy Byer of 61 Porter st., Malden, were surprised when they learned of the announcement of her marriage to Edward Fingold, of New Haven, Ct., merchant, in Providence three weeks ago. Rabbi David Bachrach performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives of the couple.

Dorothy Byer Fingold

Mrs. Fingold is well known in Malden. She was president of Phi Delta Phi of Malden high school, class of 1924. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Byer.

K.C. Supreme Council Agent to Speak Here

Special Agent J. F. Daily, representing the Supreme Council of the Knights of Columbus at New Haven, will address members of four Massachusetts councils during the coming week.

Monday he will be at Brockton; Tuesday at Lexington; Wednesday at Roxbury, and Thursday at Mattapan. As this is the first time during the year that a representative of the headquarters has visited these councils, it is expected that the full membership of each will turn out to hear him.

Two Fake Solicitors Are Taken to Jail

Two young men, who for the past few days had been soliciting funds in Quincy for the "Boston College Alumni," were arraigned in the Quincy district court. James G. Pepin, 18, of 236 Columbus ave., charged on four counts with larceny, was fined $100. Joseph E. Laville, 20, of 122 Meridian st., East Boston, charged with attempted larceny, was fined $25. Neither was able to pay his fine and both were taken to jail at Dedham.

Youth Sentenced for Passing Bad Checks

William Hamilton, 23, of D st., South Boston, was sentenced to the Concord Reformatory when he pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with larceny in nine counts and another charging him with attempted larceny before Judge Williams in the Suffolk Superior Criminal court. He was sentenced on each indictment, but the terms are to be served concurrently.

BAPTIST CLERGY PAID $1480

Rutland, Vt., May 17—The average yearly salary of Baptist ministers serving the 10,980 Baptists in Vermont is $1480, according to figures given by Rev. Dr. A. W. A. Davison to the Vermont Baptist State Convention in annual session here. There are 140 parishes in the State and the membership is the largest since the State convention was organized in 1841. Fifty-one churches were helped to maintain preaching at a cost of $22,381.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a kitchenette apartment and the best are advertised daily in the For Rent columns.

A SIX-DAY NOVEL

Thrilling Six-Day Novel by a Noted Author

Harvey Reynolds, bank executive, confesses to his daughter, Nadia, that they are bankrupt. Steve Kirk, son of the bank president, intimates that Reynolds is guilty of embezzlement. Unable to satisfactorily explain a $25,000 shortage, Reynolds is sentenced to serve a ten-year term in prison. Nadia's faith in her father's innocence never wavers. She opens the China Rose Tea Room. Ginetta Tomasinni, her waitress, dresses in Chinese costume. Web Hanson, who has amassed a fortune, is a first patron. He promises to consult Jim Lefferta, political boss, regarding a pardon for Reynolds.

Nadia finds herself reacting strangely to Hanson's magnetism. Ginetta warns her employer to beware of "that man" and declares she hates him. Hanson is expected to return to the tea room when Steve Kirk arrives.

Steve tries to be a friend. She repulses him. Her father dies in prison. Hanson discovers that Kirk has unwittingly lent money to a big bootlegger. He offers to ruin him if Nadia will marry him.

Steve fights with Hanson over a statement against his father. A friend, Allan Castlebury, makes love to Nadia, and Ginetta's brother sets out to wreak vengeance on Hanson for betraying his sister.

CHAPTER 5

NADIA wanted to cry out and tell old Kirk exactly what she thought of him, wanted to flay him and twist his heart until he cried aloud for mercy. To see him cringe and suffer . . . how she had waited and dreamed of it! And now she had him—and how easy it would be!

But slowly something melted in her heart.

A wisdom, deeper than any emotion, told her, however, that she could not bear false witness in behalf of Steve Kirk.

"I'm not going to do what you asked," she told the boy's father.

Old Kirk got up. "You were my biggest hope, and my last one," he said.

"I wish I could have help d you," Nadia said gently, and she lifted her eyes to the haggard, distressed face of the father. "If there is anything I can do, in reason, I'll be glad to. I don't think he's guilty and I'm sure he'll come out all right."

Her mind reverted to Ginetta's brother, the dark, passionate boy, Caesar.

He was far more likely than Steve Kirk to be guilty. He had practically threatened to kill Hanson; at least, his sister had predicted it, and on the very night of the murder, too. Assuredly, that

BOOTLEG FINED $250; SOLD RUM TO CHILDREN

Citizens Lose in Watertown 'Waste' Skirmish

FACES JAIL FOR RUM SALES

A bootlegger who sold moonshine of a decidedly evil taste to girls as young as 14 years, was arrested today in South Boston.

Sergt. Jeremiah O'Neil took William E. Morey of Abbott st., South Boston, into court before Judge Logan.

Morey pleaded guilty to keeping and exposing liquor with intent to sell. He offered no explanation but pleaded for a chance to raise money to pay his fine of $250.

"Give me a few days to pay this," he urged the judge

"I have not the least bit of sympathy for you," said the judge, "for you sell liquor to youngsters. I would not continue your case one second."

Morey did not have the $250 and was jailed. He may be obliged to serve several months' time if unable to raise the cash.

Sergt. O'Neil said he had received many complaints from indignant parents over a period of three weeks. He watched the building for days and today obtained his evidence.

The police sergeant saw a woman coming out of the doorway of the Abbott st. house with a pint of the moonshine in her hands.

This woman admitted buying it from Morey, who tried to give her back her 50 cents to avoid being arrested, Sergt. O'Neil said.

CONTRACT AWARDS STAND

Twelve Watertown taxpayers lost the first skirmish in their court battle against the town selectmen, whom they seek to restrain from carrying out certain contracts already entered into when Supreme Court Justice Edward P. Pierce today refused to issue the restraining order the petitioners sought.

The selectmen were charged in the petitioners' bill of equity of abuse of corporate power which would result in the collective squandering of appropriations. The selectmen were also charged with awarding contracts, insome instances, to the highest bidder, against the best interests of the taxpayers.

In one specific instance, Thomas Joseph McCue, who was awarded the contract to furnish the town with $12,000 tons of crushed stone, was accused of not having lived up to preliminary specifications as required by the town's bylaws.

Albert B. Colligen, town solicitor, stated in his demurrer that the town officials had violated no town bylaw, no statutory provision and no constitutional provision.

Wycliffe Marshall, counsel for the petitioners, said he was not ready to argue on the demurrer, and as a result the case was continued until next Tuesday.

The Curious Quizzer

East Boston Folk Answer His Daily Question and Pose for Picture

THE QUESTION

Do you think the new tunnel will aid your section industrially?

N. C. PICARDI, Maverick st.—Most of my business takes me out of Boston, but I can readily see that the new tunnel will be a great asset to those engaged in the East Boston industries. It will be a great aid in the way of quicker transportation of merchandise, to or from the district. In these days the saving of time is a big factor, and the new tunnel will be a benefit to our industrial plants.

MISS MARGARET ANGRISANO, Everett St.—The new tunnel will make us wonder how we ever got along without it. I feel that it should have been built years ago, as it would have increased business. The tunnel will eliminate long delays now caused by the poor system we now have to put up with.

MISS VIRGINIA CUMMINGS, Gladstone st.—Of course, men are supposed to have better ideas of the needs of our district, industrially. For a long time East Boston merchants have fought to have the tunnel, and I believe with them that the tunnel is something we should have as soon as possible. It will make transportation quicker for one thing, and that is as good a reason as any I can give for the tunnel. The sooner it is built the better it will be for East Boston industries.

HARRY BUTTERWORTH, Saratoga st.—This district has been lost without a tunnel or a bridge. We ought to have had quicker and better transportation facilities long ago, instead of depending on ferry boats to haul our merchandise. It is about time East Boston was considered in this matter which I firmly believe will be a great benefit industrially to East Boston.

DRIVE ON FOR SOMERVILLE HOSPITAL

Somerville Hospital has opened a drive to obtain $300,000 for building and equiping a new modern hospital. The opening dinner given in the gymnasium of the Somerville high school was attended by nearly 200 citizens.

It was announced that $50,705 had already been received by a special gifts committee. Donations up to $3000 made up this total. The balance of less than $250,000 is expected to be secured by the 400 workers who have enlisted in the campaign.

After the dinner the meeting was opened by John M. Webster, chairman of the campaign, who outlined the organization of the workers and told of the progress already made.

Edward L. Traver, president of the board of trustees, emphasized the fact that Somerville Hospital, although having a capacity of 45 patients, usually has 70 or 80 patients as a daily average, and on one occasion cared for 107 patients. With the exception of small additions in 1920, the hospital has not been altered in 26 years.

Leon M. Conwell, mayor of Somerville, said the fact that the present buildings used by Somerville Hospital were made of wood was reason enough for the drive.

A car needs a home. Have you a garage for rent? Tell about it and give location in the Want Ad. Section. That's the way to fill it.

BEATEN MAN IS UNCONSCIOUS

More than 52 hours after he is believed to have been beaten by bandits, James T. Cahill, 32, of 81 Wollaston, a milkman was unconscious today in Quincy Hospital.

He is suffering from a fractured skull and bruises and abrasions.

Cahill was found on the steps of a house in Oakland ave., Wollaston, just after daybreak on Wednesday.

During the earlier hours of the same day, several attempted holdups were reported in Quincy. Duffy fired by the bandits.

Problem; It's Seven Baby Mice!

The stork, or whatever fabled bird brings baby mice, raised havoc today with the study of food values being conducted in the science class of the Central junior high school, Malden.

The class has two white mice, one named Science, which has been fed only milk; the other named Cities, which got no coffee.

Science was gaining weight and had a big lead over Cities, but the latter gave birth to seven baby mice today, much to consternation of the teacher.

CROSSINGS TO BE ABOLISHED

Lawrence, May 17—Pro posals that two grade crossings in Lawrence would be abolished in the near future loomed bright today.

Mayor Landers was notified by the Boston & Maine Railroad that a start would be made soon on bridging an underpass for pedestrians, thus eliminating use of the grade crossings.

After that work is well under way the Mayor was informed, the Pacific grade crossing will be abolished.

Old Dobbin at Last Figures in Rum Carrying Case

Lowell, May 17—Old Dobbin figured in a liquor seizure by federal prohibition officers and furnished a reminiscent tinge at the court hearing today.

Sergt. Keegan and his squad stopped Samuel Bilinsky as he was driving a horse and wagon through Central st. In the wagon was found five gallons of alcohol.

A search of his home in School st. later disclosed eight more gallons. He was arraigned on a charge of illegal transportation.

Curved Wing of Plane Outlined by Tonis

By FRANK J. TONIS

Model Airplane Expert for Community Service of Boston.

Here are the instructions for making the curved wing of the indoor fuselage plane:

Wing—For the wing make nine ribs 8¼" long cut according to the pattern. See Figure One.

This is a rib very nearly like that on the planes used by the "Round the World" fliers. After making nine ribs cut a notch 1-16" deep and ⅛" long in both ends of them.

Now prepare four sticks 12"x¼"x⅛" thin. Place two of the spars on the table and ambroid four ribs across them 3" apart, starting at one end. Figure Two.

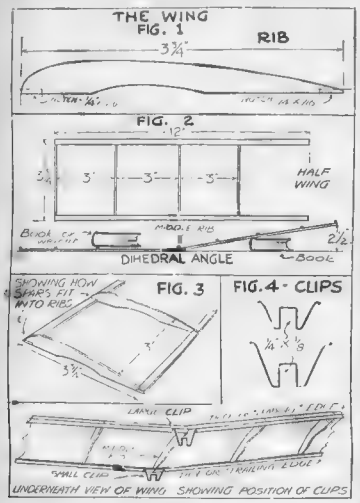
The spars should fit into the notches made on each end of the ribs as shown in Figure Three. Make the second half of the wing frame in the same way. When both halves are dry they are put together. Lay one half flat on the table, the other half at an angle so that the end is 2¼" above the table. Ambroid them together and then ambroid the ninth rib across the joints. When it is dry cover both sides with tissue paper, beginning at the center and working toward the ends and edges.

Make two clips of No. 8 piano wire and ambroid them to the spars at the bottom of the wing. The front clip is longer than the rear one so that the leading edge (the thick edge of the wing) of the wing is 3-16 of an inch higher than the trailing edge. See figure four.

Cambered or curved wings are covered from front to back. The curve is highest about 1-3 of the distance from front to back. A high curve gives greater life than a low curve. This is used on ships when the idea is to get them aloft quickly. For fast ships a low curve is used.

In covering cambered surface wings, dope paper to all ribs first, then dope to outside edges of spars. This makes a neat job. Trim the edge with a razor blade and give a coat of dope all around the edges.

In tomorrow's Boston Evening American will appear instructions for constructing the fuselage and landing gear and flying the plane. Complete kits for making the fuselage plane may be obtained at Community Service, 739 Boylston st., Room 202, for one dollar. Tress cents extra for all mail orders.



ALTITUDE TEST OVER COMMON TOMORROW

Be at Boston Common at 2.30 p. m. tomorrow. Watch the Flight for Altitude and learn a "trick" of aviation which will enable you to estimate the altitude of any plane anywhere.

The Lindbergh Club invites every reader of the Boston Evening American, young and old to participate in the novel event at Common.

There will be 23 cash awards for readers who most closely estimate the maximum altitude which Russell N. Boardman and Frank D. Le Man will reach in their powerful Travel-Air monoplane. This is an unusual educational opportunity for everyone, with profits for keen-eyed observers who follow the instructions which will appear in the Boston Evening American tomorrow.

The most important thing of the flight for altitude will be the Boston American Altitude Scale. This scale, which will appear full size in tomorrow's Boston American, will help anyone to estimate the altitude of a plane within a few feet. The scale map is a lost art in aviation. It was used by all aviation experts a decade ago in determining the altitude of planes in test flights. Nowadays planes are equipped with altimeters. Thus the altitude scale became obsolete for a time. People, with the exception of aviators, forgot how to estimate the altitude and thus they began to do some guess work, until today few persons know how to accurately estimate the altitude of a plane.

Be sure to bring the scale with you to Boston Common. Also save the "estimate blank" which will appear in tomorrow's Boston Evening American, to send in your estimate to the Altitude Editor, of Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, Mass.

MODEL OF GOEBEL PLANE

The Travel-Air monoplane which Boardman and LeMan will fly is the latest model of the original plane flown by Art Goebel from San Francisco to Hawaii two years ago. It is a sister ship of the plane which Col. Lindbergh used on his recent trip to Mexico when he visited his bride-to-be, Miss Ann Morrow.

The plane will be easily distinguished from any other plane. As you know the monoplane has only one wing. This wing will be painted an orange color. The fuselage will be painted black.

N C 8193 the federal license of the plane, is painted in large numerals underneath the wing.

Boardman and Le Man are expected to try for the maximum altitude of the event about 2.30 p. m. (Eastern Daylight Saving Time). They will not attempt to break any records nor do any stunt flying. Their flight is purely for the purpose of instructing the public on how to estimate the altitude of an airplane.

The plane will takeoff from the East Boston airport about 2 p. m. (Eastern Daylight Saving Time). It will head for the heart of Boston's business district at the minimum altitude allowed by law. The plane will circle Boston Common a few times and then depart for the maximum altitude of its flight.

All estimates must be in this office not later than 8 a. m. Monday. Letters postmarked later than midnight Sunday will not be considered. This will give all readers of the Boston Evening American ample time to mail or send in their estimates. Only one estimate will be accepted from each reader.

WILL USE BAROGRAPH

An accurate measurement of the maximum altitude reached by Boardman and Le Man will be made by means of a barograph from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. This instrument, measuring 12 inches long, 8 inches high and 6 inches wide, and containing an aneroid and diaphragm which changes position with the change in temperature, will be taken up in the plane by an assistant of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The barograph will be sealed and even the flyers themselves will not know how high they actually ascend until after the barograph is opened next Monday morning.

Here are the cash awards for the best measurement of the maximum altitude reached by Boardman and Le Man.

For best measurement	$50
For second best	25
For third best	15
For fourth best	10
For next twenty-five	1

Members of the Boston American Lindbergh Club who win any of the cash awards will receive double the amount. That is if a member of the club wins the first award, he or she will be presented $100. So, members of the club be at the Boston Common with your copy of the Boston Evening American next Saturday afternoon and try your skill.

Be sure to get Saturday's Boston Evening American for the altitude scale and instructions on how to use it.

Seek Infant Gypsy Moths on Custom House Tower

The Custom House tower is now being used in an interesting experiment to see how high in the air gypsy moth caterpillars just hatched can be blown. It is a matter of interest to the United States Government, because gypsy moths travel by being windborne and the height to which they are blown has a direct relation to how far they spread.

The eggs of the gypsy moth are now hatching, the larvae being about 1-18th of an inch long, and the United States Bureau of Entomology at Melrose Highlands is conducting experiments in the effort to get the height data that is so very desirable from the scientific point of view.

These experiments include the fastening of proper screens, about 8 feet long and 2½ feet wide, around the four sides of the Boston Custom House tower at the 25th story. These screens are covered with something sticky. It is the first test of the kind ever taken at this height.

If Roger W. Lamson, the assistant who examines the screens daily under the supervision of C. W. Collins of the laboratory, finds any moth larvae entangled in the sticky coating, it will constitute a record.

Sentence South End Man on Drug Charge

A sentence of six months in the House of Correction was imposed upon John F. Teehan of the South End when he was found guilty of the possession of drugs by Judge Carr in the municipal court. According to the police, Teehan had 200 grains of morphine with him when he was arrested several days ago.

FREIGHTER ON ROCKS QUIT BY CREW

Calumet, Mich., May 17—The freighter Ralph Budd, 6000-ton vessel, driven ashore six miles west of Eagle Harbor in a blizzard, was abandoned by her crew. The ship was pounding to pieces on the rocks.

The freighter and her cargo, valued at $1,000,000, will be a total loss, coast guardsmen said.

The steamer Henry C. Frick of the Pittsburgh Steamship Co., was released by a tug from a shoal in the lower St. Mary's river, where she had grounded in a blizzard, and was taken to Sault Ste. Marie for replacement of two propeller blades.

CHANGE IN CLUB PROGRAM

Because of a change in policy at the New B. F. Keith Theater in Boston, it has been necessary to change the plans for the entertainment of members of the Boston American Lindbergh Club on Saturday.

Under the new arrangements at the New B. F. Keith Theater no Saturday morning shows will be given. Therefore, the boys and girls of the Boston American Lindbergh Club who hold tickets for Saturday morning shows will be eared for across the street at the Keith-Albee Theater.

This theater is under the same general management.

Because of the large number of inquiries that have been made both at the theater and at the Boston Evening American, we wish to state that if an adult desires to witness a performance in company with a child he may do so by the purchase of a ticket for an adjoining seat.

We wish to give a word of advice to members of the Lindbergh Club with reference to the tickets they hold for Sunday performances at the New B. F. Keith Theater. By looking at the ticket you will observe that it reads "Sunday 2 p. m." for 2 p. m. performance only. Now that means just what it says.

Remember, children, if you have a ticket dated tomorrow, go to the Keith Albee instead of the New B. F. Keith Theater.

MARK LINDY'S HOP TUESDAY

To commemorate the epochal flight of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh from New York to Paris, the Boston Evening American Lindbergh Club has arranged a fitting program at the Parkman Bandstand, Boston Common, for next Tuesday afternoon, the second anniversary of the history-making event.

This program will begin at 4 p. m. and conclude at 5.31, the latter being the exact time that Col. Lindbergh landed in France.

Many prominent men will be present at the exercises to address the gathering, including Lieut.-Gov. William S. Youngman, who will represent the Commonwealth in the absence of Governor Frank G. Allen who will be out of the city on that day. Mayor Nichols, Maj. Louis E. Bigelow, commander of the 26th Division Air Force, and William P. Long, chairman of Boston park commission.

There will also be a musical program contributed by the management of the New B. F. Keith Theater in Boston and Keith-Albee Theater. Through the courtesy of the officials of the Boston public schools, a band concert will be given.

One of the features of the program will be the raising of a salute at the conclusion, followed by the playing of the Star Spangled Banner at exactly 5:31 p. m., with the entire assemblage standing at attention.

"What is home...without HOT WATER?"

"It simply wouldn't be home at all," said Priscilla. "Can you imagine John . . . in a hurry as always . . . razor all ready . . . and then no hot water! Wow! And with dishes, laundry and cleaning, my day would be utterly ruined, too."

PRISCILLA knows that at least a third of all the water used in the average home should be hot. Why, then, should she try to worry along with an old-fashioned way of heating it?

The gas water heating system has made possible one of life's most necessary conveniences—all the hot water you need, at the instant you need it.

Hot water for the many baths which doctors advise for health. Hot water for keeping the kiddies sweet and clean; to make the dishes shine; for coaxing stubborn dirt out of clothing. How helpless and over-worked you would be without hot water for these and many other purposes!

See your gas company for what's new in water heating. And you will be interested, too, in the latest gas appliances for cooking, house heating, refrigeration, laundry drying, incineration, garage heating, fireplaces, store heating, etc.

A small down payment, with easy terms for the balance, will bring you any of them.

NAME REGIONAL FLAG WINNERS NEXT WEEK

The name of the Regional Boy Flag Champion winner in the Regional Flag Contest being conducted by the United States Flag Association will be made known on Monday.

On Tuesday, next, the name of the Regional Girl Flag Champion will be made public.

The Regional Boy Flag Champion will receive as an additional award a $300 scholarship. This is a special award granted to him by the United States Flag Association and the same awards of scholarships will be made to the two boys who were second and third in the Regional Contest.

These additional awards will hold in the Regional Girls' Contest as well.

FINISH WORK TOMORROW

The judges in both the boys' and [illegible] Contest will have finished their work by tomorrow, following which a decision as to the winners will be made.

No other contest ever held has such an amazing array of awards been made.

The boy receiving the highest total mark amongst the boys and the girl receiving the highest total mark amongst the girls, will be designated as the Regional Boy Flag Champion, and the Regional Girl Flag Champion, and they will represent their Region in the National Contest in Washington. Each Regional Flag Champion will receive

The Cross of Honor of The United States Flag Association, the decoration invests the boy with the title, "Knight of the Flag," and the girl, "Lady of the Flag." The Crosses of Honor will be presented by the President of the United States or some other distinguished person either at the White House or some other suitable place.

A trip to Washington, D. C., will also include a two weeks Patriotic Pilgrimage to America's most inspiring patriotic shrines.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Besides the above awards, comes the six scholarships each valued at $200.

For further details of the not only patriotic, but educational contest as well, read the Boston Evening American.

The judges in the Regional Boys' Contest were:

Alexander Brin, editor and publisher of the Jewish Advocate.

Wilfred F. Kelley, master-mind of history department of the Dorchester high school for boys, and professor of the Summer Review high school.

Melville C. Freeman, head of history department of the High School of Practical Arts, Roxbury, and an educator and lecturer on American biography.

LOGAN FAVORS INCOME TAX REDUCTION

Maj.-Gen. Edward L. Logan, retired, has joined the army of citizens lined up for battle in the campaign for reductions in the federal income tax as advocated by the Boston Evening American and Hearst newspapers in leading cities throughout the United States.

Today Gen. Logan expressed [illegible] approval of the proposal to memorialize Congress on behalf of wage-earners to obtain relief in the federal tax on earned income.

[illegible] the foremost professional men, municipal and state officials, social workers and other citizens in the public eye, he believes that the burden of governmental tax is unfairly and unscientifically distributed.

From the viewpoint of the soldier, the jurist, the lawyer and the head of a family, Maj.-Gen. Logan sees flaws in the present income tax arrangement and hardships for a vast and important element of the nation's producers [illegible]

"The people, especially the people of New England, have [illegible] Logan declared, "because of being compelled to pay the federal government the lion's share of the cost of government. There is no dispute on that question.

"But when our law makers take advantage of this spirit to load up the workers with an excessive share of the expense, to the advantage of invested capital and speculation, it is time to force the attention of Congress to the need of immediate revision."

4 BOYS HELD IN DEATH PROBE BAILED

Providence, May 17—After being confined in Bristol County jail for three weeks, four Bristol boys held to await action of the grand jury on a murder charge were brought before Judge Walsh in superior court and admitted to bail in $15,000 each.

The defendants are Edward Dion, 18, his brother George Dion, 17, Antonio Munafo, 15, and Frank Abate, 16. They were accused of attacking Albert Belanger, an aged, and defenseless inmate from which he died.

Edward Dion had consulted Belanger relative to a job on the Mt. Hope Bridge. As a result of words passed between them, Belanger said to have made remarks about the boy's family which aroused his ire.

Dion went home and told his story to the three other boys. They encountered Belanger and are alleged to have inflicted injuries on his head which resulted fatally.

NASHUA YOUTH BADLY BURNED

Nashua, N. H., May 17—Raymond Chartrain, 18, is in a critical condition suffering from burns received when he rushed down a flaming stairway at his home and stuck to a telephone until he could call the fire department.

Five other persons, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chartrain, Hector B., Norman V., and Mrs. Chartrain's mother, Mrs. Elinor Roy, 74, were carried down ladders by firemen when flames cut off other means of escape.

The fire, believed to have started from defective wiring caused damage estimated at $12,000.

Cotton Stocking Is Coming Back for Sport Wear

New York, May 17—The humble cotton stocking is coming out of the retirement into which it was thrust by the advent of less expensive silk hose.

The cotton stocking is making its appearance in women's shops here and is recommended by the stylist for sports wear. Manufacturers have improved it with a silk sheen that is said to disappear with the first washing.

It is seamless and can be had in all the tones from flesh to a warm Indian red-brown.

GIRLS LOCKED IN STORE

Five girl employes of the F. W. Woolworth five and ten-cent store at 639 Massachusetts ave., Central sq., Cambridge, stayed too long at closing time and were locked in the building when the janitor departed.

They were prisoners there for an hour until they attracted the attention of Patrolman Joseph O'Connor, and held up to him a sign they took off the wall, telling whom to telephone to in case of an emergency.

O'Connor routed out Assistant Manager Edward W. Theran at the Y. M. C. A., 820 Massachusetts ave., who produced the right kind of key and released the young women who had been locked in for an hour.

DERBY HOOFERS GOING STRONG

New York, May 17—Their first 100 hours of dancing, flag-pole-standing and rocking-chairless rocking safely behind them, Prof. Milton D. Crandall's strange aggregation of athletes kept up the pace that blisters in Madison Square Garden.

Seventeen teams of hoofers survived of the 33 couples who started Saturday night in the second international dance derby. The point leaders at 9 p. m., when the contest entered its 216th hour, were the Jimmy Prunze-Jeanne King and the Ernie Thomas-Marie Walsh teams, with 170 and 167 points each.

Two of the survivors teams including the Chappy Lanza-Grace Smith combination in seventh place, were obviously wilted and nearly ready to be tucked into one of the row of white cots thoughtfully provided by Prof. Crandall.

City Hock-Shop in Paris Full of Autos

Paris, May 17—So many over-optimistic Frenchmen have been pawning their automobiles that the city hock-shop has had to call a halt. "My Aunt," as the Paris pawnshop is called, has no more room in the garage.

The city has decided to build a garage to hold 600 cars. It will be a good investment, for the municipality makes more than $60,000 a year clear profit on the vehicles of those compelled to resume the status of pedestrians.

KEROSENE

WITH the increase in high speed, high power cars, the necessity for a gasoline specially refined to eliminate knock in high-compression engines becomes increasingly important—if you would get the best performance from these modern cars.

This means a gasoline free from "borderland"—the kerosene mixture which is the chief cause of knocking, loss of power and crank-case dilution.

BRAVES PERFORM LIKE CHAMPS IN TWIN BILL

HARRY SEIBOLD, who figured prominently in the early season splurge of the Braves, will try to build up the new winning streak that those surprising warriors have started Harry will toss against the Giants this afternoon, and he is just about due to win another ball game for himself.

A smart pitcher can beat the Giants, and Harry is all of that. Eighty-seven per cent of his ability is brains. Our old friend, Joe Genewich, will do the chucking stuff for the Giants, unless an older acquaintance, Carl Mays, takes over the job. But Carl pitched an ordinary game in the bull pen Thursday, so may have to rest.

Our Braves keep proving that they will furnish many a heartache along the pennant trail this year. They may not win any title, but as things look now, they undoubtedly will figure importantly in the race.

They are a crazy fighting team, who go like a million dollars back of good pitching. And they have enough ambition and determination to make any close game dangerous any time.

THE TEAM looked like champions, opening with the Giants. They came from behind twice for a glorious double win, and that will not diminish their coolness the least little bit. That double triumph was a real performance, when you consider that McGraw's two star pitchers, Benton and Hubbell, were providing the opposition.

Lanky Joseph Dugan has won himself a regular job. He was tried at third, because Bell's hitting had fallen off, and he stole the show, as the critics put it. He made one hit in the opener, and was robbed of two more. And he cracked out four in the nightcap, the last tieing the game up, and giving Freddie Maguire a chance to emerge gloriously from a batting slump.

Stringing along with Frederick was a smart bit of baseball psychology. The young man, who is the best of the fielding second baseamen, has not been hitting. But he was kept in there, and twice delivered like one of the 100 boys.

THE BRAVES were jostled pretty roughly by the Western teams, who won eight out of 12 here, but it didn't quell their courage. So there is plenty of hope for them, more, it would seem now, than when they were winning lucky ones earlier. The teams have steadied down, the pitchers are right, but the Tribals manage to cling to third place.

Judge Fuchs and the Right Eyes are grinning broadly about the pitching performance of Bruce Cunningham. This kid, starting his first big league game, came through like a seasoned vet. He was cool and collected throughout, and was better at the finish than when he started.

He's a ball player as well as a pitcher, and looks for all the world like a real find. A baby tosser, with a curve ball and control tacked onto great natural speed is something to rave about.

Which reminds us that Art Delaney showed some real form, too. The Brave pitching is coming back. Brandt warmed up nicely in the bull pen, and was ready for relief work. Smith's sore arm is recovering. A few more days of warm weather will have the whole flock in order. And then the Braves will win a lot of ball games.

It might be mentioned that lovers of clouting would do well to look over Melvin Ott, the young Giant This kid, who chokes his bat, hits them hard and often. Babe Ruth can't smack them much further, if any, and Ott is just finding himself. Unless he breaks a leg or two he will hang up a lot of slugging records before he gets through.

B. C. TAKES ON MANHATTAN

Boston College and Manhattan nines meet at the Heights today and the New York ball nine may make a game out of it, for Boston College's third-string hurler, John Dixon, is slated to start on the mound for the Maroon and Gold.

Coach Duffy is anxious to see how his new outfield and revised batting order works. B. C. has lost Johnny Temple and Frank Shea, first string center and right fielders, and this has forced some radical shifts.

In Temple's place Duffy starts a shortstop, Joe Shea. In his career at Dorchester high and Dean Academy, Shea never played in the outfield. He hit for .500 in the two games he played this spring. Shea is batting in the cleanup berth today.

Larry Gibson started the season as the regular left-fielder. A leg ag he was the classiest outfielder on the Heights. But poor health caused Gibby to quit hockey in midseason and he hasn't fully returned to normal yet.

He was a .400 hitter in 1928 and Duffy expected big things from him this year, but was forced to lay him off. Larry seems to be in the pink again after a two weeks' rest and ought to be playing in last season's form once more.

Johnny Dixon, who pitched today, has hurled one full game for Boston College. He won from Springfield by a 3-2 score. George Colbert will catch.

Golf Victory Seems Sure for Brae-Burn

By BILL GRIMES

Due to the fact that they have a one-point lead going into the final round of the Women's Golf Association of Boston championships today, plus the fact that they will wind up the close on their home course, the Brae-Burn Club team is favored to win their first title in eight years.

Back in 1921 Brae-Burn won the first W. G. A. team match championship.

But since that year Central and the North Shore and Northern District teams have held a monopoly on the championship.

The final matches are the series which were postponed from May 5 and will bring together Brae-Burn and Northern at Brae-Burn, Central and The Country Club at Weston and Midland and Southern at Wollaston.

As a result of the ninth round matches, the Central District, which has held the championship for three years, was eliminated by Brae-Burn, and Northern was put out of the running by Midland.

American Golf Is 41 Years Old in Fall

By FRANK G. MENKE

DID you know that America's first golfing group was known as the "Apple Tree Gang" and that the first links organization in the U. S. A. came into existence 41 years ago?

There has been, is, and ever will be difference of opinion as to who actually introduced the gutta percha banging into this country.

But the majority tags the late John Reid of Yonkers, N. Y., as the hero—or culprit—according to whether you are a golfer or merely one of those "golfing widows."

Reid was a Scotchman who learned the game of putt-putt (how did I ever come to miss that putt?) amid the sand dunes and the thistle growths of his native heath.

Whether or not Reid expected to find golfers and golf equipment in stores on the American premises when he arrived is not clearly established. Anyway he brought no regalia and likewise he found no golfers.

LEARNING that a friend of his was going back to England, on a business trip, Reid asked him to pick up some clubs and some gutta percha globules and bring them back.

When the equipment arrived, Reid hied himself to a vacant lot, and went into industrious practice.

When the neighbors saw a man trying to bust an innocent little ball to fragments one moment and bumping it caressingly the next, they shook their heads significantly and started a guessing contest as to whether the Scotchman was wholly or just partially goofy.

But Reid unperturbed, went along on his golfing ways. After the Scotchman concluded that he was back on his game sufficiently to explain by action how it was done, he gathered his pals around, told them and showed them, got 'em steamed up—and thus was formed the first golf club in the U. S. A.

THEY called themselves, those five pioneers—Reid, Holbrook, Talmadge, Putnam and Upharp—the St. Andrews' Golf Club of America.

They incorporate it and Reid's home was their first clubhouse, it being used for the storage of sticks and balls, and also as a "washup" place after the game was done.

But the townsfolk refused to be dignified in their descriptions of the golfing clubmen. They watched that quintet, day after day, hitting a ball, chasing it, hitting and chasing—and then they termed them: "That Apple Tree Gang."

ALL of which came about because, on very warm days, the lads took off their coats and sometimes shed their hats, and hung the apparel on the branches of an old apple tree close to the first tree.

For a while the five were only U. S. A. golfers. But soon some of their friends became curious enough to take a try.

Each tryer became a golfer and in that way the American golf army, which began on November 14, 1888, with a membership of five, has increased until at least 7,000,000 now get exercise through manipulation of driver and brassie, niblick and iron, mashie and putter, and—attain great mathematical skill in the matter of addition.

Carrigans in Clash With Yankees Today

NEW YORK, May 17—Manager Bill Carrigan and his much battered Red Sox are in town for a three-day engagement at the Yankee Stadium. Though treated rough on the swing around the West, the Carrigans are just as full of fight as ever, and are sure to give Babe Ruth & Co. plenty of trouble before next Monday's sun comes up out of the east.

Bad colds and sore arms, which beset the best of ball clubs at times, afflicted the Red Sox to a marked degree during the western jaunt, but now most of the invalids have recovered and are anxious to get back into the fray.

Big Ed Morris, who feels certain he can knock off the Yankees any time he faces them, is scheduled to do the mound work for the Red Hose, while Wiley Moore is likely to toil for the Hugmen. But the midget manager will have three or four more pitchers primed for the fray, as he is specially anxious to overcome the slight margin of advantage the Athletics have over his clan.

Huggins thinks his Yankees don't look natural whenever they are anywhere in the standing except at the top and that he intends to force them up there in short order.

By JACK CONWAY

JIM MALONEY and Ricardo Bertazzolo are prepared to engage in a punching duel when they clash in a 10-round bout at the Boston Garden tonight.

Bertazzolo, Italian heavyweight champion, announces he will set a driving pace from the gong in the opening round and that he is confident he will flatten Maloney.

Jack Conway

Shamus, in perfect condition, says he is eager to punch it out with Bertazzolo. He feels he carries enough heavy artillery to send the invader down to defeat.

Maloney rules a slight favorite in the betting on account of his long run of victories in local rings, but the Italian has plenty of backers.

The fact Frank Marlow is managing Bertazzolo has caused many keen ringside judges to figure Ricardo has at least an even chance of victory. Marlow piloted Jack Delaney to fame and also was manager of Johnny Wilson at the time the latter was world's middleweight champion. Marlow has a knack of firing his boxers with confidence. They are always in there fighting.

Marlow is of the opinion that the giant Bertazzolo is a better fighter than either Max Schmeling or Paulino. He declares that by next year Bertazzolo will be battling for the heavyweight championship of the world.

BERTAZZOLO has been training at Sharon Gardens for six weeks and is in the best possible condition. He will scale more than 200 pounds when he steps into action tonight.

Doc Bagley will be the Italian's chief second. Bagley was at one time manager of Gene Tunney. He was largely responsible for teaching Tunney the fundamentals of the fistic game.

Maloney will give Bertazzolo the acid test. The South Boston thumper has been traveling on high during the past year. Dan Carroll believes that Shamus will conquer Bertazzolo and get the shot with Johnny Risko on June 10 at Braves Field.

JACK GAGNON and Al Friedman will collide in the semi-final of 10 rounds. Gagnon has been working with Bertazzolo at Sharon Gardens, while Friedman has been swapping blows with Maloney.

Pietro Corri, heavyweight champion of Austria, will mingle with Tom Tenor of Philadelphia in a six-rounder.

In the other bouts, Tommy Smoot tackles Frankie Stevens, Red Salvatore opposes Vincent Sullivan, while Eddie Holmes clashes with Al Bergin of Cambridge.

Blue Larkspur Is Derby Favorite

By ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

Louisville, Ky., May 17 (AP)—East and West, North and South will send its blue-blooded horseflesh in quest of the classic three-year-old honors of the American turf tomorrow in the 55th running of the Kentucky Derby.

If, as expected, a score of thoroughbreds go to the post around 5 p. m., central standard time, the race will be wegth $64,000, of which approximately $34,000 will go to the victor in the struggle of speed, stamina and courage over a route of one mile and-a-quarter.

The weather prospects are dubious, with the possibility it will be a fine day for the mud-runners but, rain or shine, heavy going or fast, the experts predict a "horse race" and the promoters expect a notable throng of upwards of 75,000 to jam the picturesque Churchill Downs.

MILLIONS TO LISTEN.

Millions more are expected to tune in on the thrills of America's most colorful turf classic over a record radio hookup for the Derby arranged by the National Broadcasting Company and its associated stations.

Derby Day is Kentucky's day of days. Where England has a national institution in its own Derby and France has its fashionably brilliant Grand Prix at Longchamps, the blue grass region has its horse race.

All the color, the picturesque gathering, the blend of old traditions clings to this half-century-old event, but, after all, it is a horse race. No one mugging in the throngs on street corners, in the hotels, everywhere, is allowed to forget it. This year, as seldom before, Louisville has drawn the pilgrimage of the faithful not only from its own hills and towns, but from far and wide.

Kentucky, as usual, has its favorite. The roar of the crowd tomorrow will be from the heart, as well as the pocket-book, if Blue Larkspur, the Pride of the Blue Grass, comes home first in the colors of the Idle Hour Farm of Col. E. R. Bradley.

Blue Larkspur has been the favorite for the Derby ever since he closed a fine two-year-old season. All his conditioning has been with the big prize in mind. The Bradley organization suffered a severe blow in the loss of its chief trainer, "Dick" Thompson, now seriously ill after an operation for appendicitis, Wednesday night, but there is every assurance that Blue Larkspur nevertheless will go to the post fit and ready.

2 TO 1 FAVORITE

The famous son of Black Servant, declared good in any kind of going, probably will face the barrier a 2 to 1 favorite, with Clyde Van Dusen, carrying the colors of H. P. Gardner, second choice, probably around 4 to 1, on the basis of wagering reported today.

Twice before, in 1921 and 1926 Colonel Bradley has seen his horses finish one-two in the derby. The chances are against a repetition of this honor tomorrow but the famous Kentucky Turfman will attempt it by also saddling Bay Beauty, a son of Black Toney, for the classic.

Mishaps and disappointments have wrecked a good portion of the original derby entries list but there is every indication of keen interectional rivalry in the field that remains. The far west pins its hopes chiefly upon Mahahpur, winner of the Tijuana derby and a close second in the rich Coffroth handicap on the Mexican track.

There has been a strong drift in the last day or two toward this chestnut son of Omar Khayyam, the 1917 derby winner. Ervast is another far western candidate but the railbirds doubt whether Baron Long's entry can go the route.

The southwest is expected to have at least two contenders, probably Calf Rope, Louisiana derby winner, and Ranchio, both carrying the colors of the three Dexter Stock farm of Forth Worth. The East, not so well represented as when Whiskery and Zev were favorites, nevertheless has hopes, even if somewhat faint, in the Fair Stable's Chicatie, the Belle Isle Stable's Upset Lad and Minotaur, runner-up in the preakness to Dr. Freeland.

Kentucky and the Middle West, however, present the strongest front in year against these challengers. If Blue Larkspur should disappoint, it will be no great hock to the form-players to have Clyde Van Dusen romp home first, especially as this Man o' War gelding is good in any kind of going. Kentuckians consider Clyde Van Dusen one of their own, for the colt was reced altogether in this State and Illinois, although he is owned by P. P. Gardner of Amsterdam, N. Y. On the other hand, the Nut, another highly regarded colt, is now Kentucky owned, although bred at Harry Payne Whitney's farm.

Thousands of Chicagoans, coming here in the biggest fleet of special trains from any section will back their own favorites, particularly Karl Eitel and Windy City.

SHIRES OUT AS CHI PLAYER

Detroit, May 17 (AP)—If Manager "Lena" Blackburne's wishes are respected, Art Shires, the belligerent bench playing first baseman, is through with the White Sox.

Reflecting over his fist fight with the Texas youth, in which both received facial decorations, Blackburne said he never would permit Shires to play for him as long as he managed the club.

"I don't know what will be done with him, but as long as I'm here he won't be around," said Blackburne who is here for a series with the Tigers. "Shires has borne a grudge against me since he was suspended for breaking training rules down in Texas.

He has been 'blowing off' constantly since then and probably is doing as much now. I can't see how a fellow can get that way. It is just a boy, of course, but I can't put up with it.

Meanwhile, Shires was undecided whether to continue his law studies or to appeal for reinstatement after 10 days suspension.

He and Blackburne engaged in a fist fight in the White Sox clubhouse Wednesday, following an exchange of words on the diamond where Blackburne chided Shires for "capering around like a baby" and not taking baseball seriously enough.

Three New Fight Champs in England

London, May 17 (INS)—Great Britain has three new boxing champions today.

In a record-breaking fistic turnover at the Olympia last night, Johnny Cuthbert outponed Harry Corbett, the featherweight champion, in 15 rounds. Teddy Baldock annexed the bantamweight title by outpointing Kid Pattenden, also in 15 rounds; and Len Harvey won the middleweight belt by knocking out Alex Ireland in the seventh round.

Tech Ready for Track Contest

Coach Oscar Hedlund of Technology expects to send a formidable team against the University of New Hampshire at Durham tomorrow afternoon. The Engineers completed their training yesterday and are fit for the meet.

To date the Engineers have lost dual meets with Cornell and Maine but they expect to break into the win column against the Wildcats.

Three British Champs Downed

London, May 17—Three British championships changed hands in as many fights at Olympia tonight.

Johnny Cuthbest of Sheffield pointed Harry Corbett of Bethnal Green in 15 rounds to win the featherweight title. Teddy Baldock outpointed Kid Pattenden to become Britain's new bantamweight champion.

Northeastern Nine Works Out

Northeastern ball tossers went through a stiff two hours workout preparatory to the tenth game of the season against Middlebury at Huntington field tomorrow. Coach Rufus Bond devoted most of his time to perfecting combination play around the keystone sack.

Brunswick Golfers Pick Professional

Brunswick, Me., May 17—The Brunswick Golf Club has appointed Alfred Desjardines as professional in being the first time in the history of the club that a paid professional has been employed.

Macy Willets and Sidney W. Winslow, Jr.

The show will be held in the Boston Garden on October 30 and 31 and Nov. 1 and will include international jumping classes open to teams of officers from the armies of Europe as well as Canada and the U. S. A.

A feature is to be made of the Children's classes.

Two horsemanship classes to be held on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 2, are open only to children who win the first, second, third or fourth prizes in horsemanship in the following shows:

Jacob Hill, Chestnut Hill, Millwood Hunt, Winchester, Cohasset, Scituate, Barnstable, Groton Hunt, Myopia Hunt and Metropolitan.

Ponies or horses need not be the property of the contestant.

Class 1 is open to all children who have not reached their 12th birthday. Entrance fee is $5. Six ribbons will be awarded, with a cup to the first, second and third. The requirements and markings of this class are as follows: Seat, balance, general reinsmanship and hands of the rider will be considered.

Class 2 is open to all children over 12 who have not reached the 16th birthday. Entrance fee is $5. Six ribbons will be awarded, with prizes to the first, second and third. The requirements and markings of this class are as follows: Seat, balance, general reinsmanship and hands of the rider will be considered, and the ability to 1—Dismouth, lead horse, halt, and mount without assistance, except side saddle, 10 per cent.

2—To walk, halt and back, 15 per cent.

3—To trot in balance, 20 per cent.

4—To canter in balance, leading correctly, 25 per cent.

Brown Sends 24 to N. E. College Meet

Providence, R. I., May 17—Twenty-four men will carry the burden of Brown's bid for honors in the New England Intercollegiates to be held at M. I. T. Field, Cambridge, May 24 and 25. The list includes two New England Intercollegiate titleholders in Capt. John Collier in the 120-yard high hurdles and Cecil T. Russell in the high jump. Collier is the record holder as well as titleholder.

Collier will lead his team in the 120 and 220-yard hurdles, with Russell in the high jump; Harry Cornwell in the shot, hammer and discus; W. Carney in the broad jump; W. Lincoln Fogarty in the javelin; and George Troy in the 220-yard dash, as the leaders of the supporting caste.

Eagles in 2 Golf Games Next Week

Capt. Vin Roberts of the Boston College golf team has arranged two matches for his club whiffers for next week. The Eagle leader is scheduling Tufts and Wesleyan for matches at home.

B. C. is the only undefeated collegiate golf team in New England. The Eaglets have beaten Tech, R. I., Brown and Bowdoin in their four matches.

If B. C. can beat Tufts this coming week they'll lay claim to the mythical links crown and this may result in a match with the Harvard team, which, although defeated, is considered the best aggregation of college golfers in Greater Boston.

MR. BOSTON

by JACK CONWAY

MR. BOSTON received a letter today from Dr. Charles F. Wilinsky, director of the Beth Israel Hospital. The missive was not intended for publication, but the offer contained in it is of such a splendid nature that it is proper that the public should know of the fine type of people who are in charge of the magnificent Beth Israel Hospital. The letter follows:

"My dear Mr. Boston:

"I read in your column about the condition of Rocky Stone's eyes. If there is anything which we can do for him at the Beth Israel Hospital, without charge, please count on our co-operation. If this has any appeal, communicate with me.

"Very Sincerely Yours,

(Signed) "CHARLES F. WILINSKY,
"Director, Beth Israel Hospital."

In the same mail Mr. Boston received the following letter:

Enclosed please find $2 towards the Rocky Stone Fund. Let me congratulate you on your efforts to aid Rocky. I would suggest that those boxing fans who have got laughs out of watching Rocky in action each send in 50 cents to the fund.

(Signed) "AL FRANK, Rawson Rd., Brighton."

Meanwhile a committee has been active in seeking subscriptions to a fund which will enable Rocky to carry on.

DICK RUSSELL and Jake Zeramby drifted in to see Mr. Boston on their way out to Braves Field to watch the Tribe and Giants in action.

"It looks as though Jake is going to get a shot at Sammy Fuller's title in June," said Dick. "Then you'll have a new featherweight champion for this section of the country. Zeramby has come along rapidly and is now a better fighter than Fuller. He showed his class when he recently handed Eddie Anderson of Chicago a thumping at the Boston Garden.

"I just signed Jake to collide with Newport Johnny Brown at the General Electric Field a week from Monday night."

Zeramby is a quiet, unassuming youngster and refused to sing his own praises.

"I'll do the best I can," was his only comment when pressed for an opinion in regard to the probable outcome of his proposed match with Fuller.

"I have booked the American Pancho Villa," said Valenti, "to battle Chick Suggs in a 10-round bout at Tiverton, R. I., on May 30. A week or so later Sammy will bump Zeramby off."

Jake heard the remark turned to Valenti and told him that he would be managing a former champion after he gets through with Fuller. Which proved that it is possible to steam up even Zeramby.

"I UNDERSTAND Jackie Donahue of South Boston will also swing back into action in a local ring soon," resumed Mr. Boston. "Donahue makes no secret of the fact he is open to meet any featherweight in the world. Donahue has also produced action every time he has appeared in a Boston ring.

"It looks as though the featherweights are going to be very much in the limelight this year. In addition to Fuller, Zeramby and Donahue, Frankie Moore, Charley Parker and Eddie Curley are sure to produce big gobs of action."

TECH CREWS IN NEW YORK

New York, May 17—The varsity, jayvee, 150-pound and freshman crews of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology are here today to compete against Columbia tomorrow. The crews were in fine shape and Coach Bill Haines stated that he felt confident that they will make a good showing against the powerful Columbia eights.

Coach Haines announced that Richardson, who has been rowing at No. 4 in the jayvees, will return to the varsity boat from which he was displaced because of illness.

U. S. Davis Cup Players Win

Montreal, Que., May 17 (INS)—The United States Davis cup team can clinch victory in the first-round matches of the American Zone competition by winning the doubles match this afternoon.

Should the youthful American stars, John Hennessey, of Indianapolis, and John Van Ryn, of South Orange, N. J., fail today before the Maple Leaf players, Dr. T. W. Ham and Jack Wright, they can still defeat the Canadian team by winning one of the two singles matches scheduled for tomorrow.

The Americans gained a two-point lead by winning both of the morning singles matches yesterday. Hennessey was forced to four sets to defeat Wright, the Canadian ace, 6—3, 4—6, 6—1, 7—5. Van Ryn met with stern opposition in the first set of his match with Willard Crocker but won in straight sets, 9—7, 6—2, 6—3.

113 Letters Awarded West Point Athletes

West Point, New York, May 17—Almost ten per cent of the Corps of Cadets here gained athletic honors during the past winter sport season, according to orders issued by Maj. Gen. William R. Smith, superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy. A total of 113 letters, monograms and numerals were awarded, eight of which were major A's, 47 minor A's, 13 monograms and 38 class numerals. The order also announced five new military academy records which were set by the swimming team.

Hawkins to Lead Tech Soccer Team

Edgar Hawkins, manager of crew, was approved as captain of the Technology soccer team at the meeting of the M. I. T. A. A. Hawkins has played soccer for the past two years, holding down one of the fullback positions.

Pyle Rejoins Derby Runners in Texas

Sweetwater, Tex., May 17 (AP)—Rejoined by head man C. C. Pyle, who had been absent since he suffered a broken arm in a motor car accident, the Bunion Derbyites today headed for Colorado, Tex., 30 miles away.

At today's start less than an hour separated Pete Gavuzzi of England, leader in elapsed time, and Johnny Salo, Passaic, N. J.

Salo won the 86.3-mile lap from Anson, in 7:35:40. Gavuzzi finished in a tie for second place with Sam Richman of New York in 7:47:10.

The leaders:

1—Pete Gavuzzi, England,	314	06 37
2—John Salo, Passaic, N. J.,	315	06 12
3—Ginero Imok, Italy,	329	28 16
4—Paul Simpson, Burlington, N. C.,	344	15 17
5—Sam Richman, New York,	344	44 05
6—Philip Granville, Hamilton, Ont.,	345	55 20

$75,000 Colt Hurt, Crashing on Fence

New York, May 17 (AP)—New Broom, the colt by Whisk Broom, 2d—Payment, for which C. V. B. Cushman paid $75,000, has been badly injured in training.

The colt became frightened while exercising at Belmont Park yesterday, unseated the boy riding him and crashed through a fence.

The colt suffered injuries to his forelegs and shoulder. The extent of his injuries was not made known.

Grand Circuit to Try Night Racing

Toledo, O., May 17—Night racing and starting from the barrier, two startling innovations in the light harness horse sport, will be given their first real test at Fort Miami track during the Grand Circuit meeting sponsored by the Toledo Driving Club during the weeks of June 24 and July 8. Both of these pioneer projects will have a far reaching effect on the sport should these tests prove successful.

Paulino to Train in Carey's Home Town

Hoosick Falls, N. Y., May 17 (AP)—The home town of Big Bill Carey, successor to Tex Rickard as head of Madison Square Garden, will be the training quarters of Paulino Uzcudun for his Mike Fund bout with Max Schmeling, it was announced today.

Hoosick Falls will entertain Carey and a party of fight followers Sunday and on that day Paulino will decide which one of several sites he will choose for a camp.

The former John Hobart Warren estate, on the Troy rd., and now owned by Hans Ehmler, is considered the probable site of the Spanish woodchopper's training.

Cub Fielder Ready to Play Again

IT WAS "ALL-COMERS" DAY AT OHIO STATE! . . . and 231 students from every class and fraternity were given the test by representatives of the college paper and the Student Senate. At the close of the day the ballot sheets proved that Old Gold is the cigarette Ohio men really prefer. "O.Gs." led every other brand by more than 14%.

VIRGINIA "CAVALIERS" DECIDE! . . the college newspaper at University of Virginia distributed the 4 cigarettes—"masked" and numbered—to 171 students. "Don't guess the brand names," they said. "Just compare the taste, and tell us which is best." Old Gold led in first choices by 28%.

School Nines Furnish Fine Competition Saturday

SOMERVILLE FACES FAST MEDFORD NINE

By DICK McSWEENEY

The usual array of Saturday schoolboy baseball games will be played tomorrow with more than unusual interest attached to said contests.

Private, suburban and prep school outfits are in the midst of a strenuous season.

With the real baseball weather of the past two days prevailing, the fans will be able to see their favorites perform in comfort.

A Saturday fray worth noticing is the Newton-Cambridge Latin bout set for Russell Field Cambridge.

Coach Dan Riley's nine has been going through practices recently while the Cantabs are still feeling the effects of Pitcher McFadden's loss.

Keough or Dillon will be in the box for Newton. Coach Leander Macklin said is considering Browning and Labiskas as mound workers for the Cantabs.

NOW that Everett has given a demonstration of the most effective method of beating Medford, the Somerville nine is anxious to emulate the feat of the Gilda clan, and will visit the Blue and White stronghold for that purpose.

Hall or Dillon will pitch for Somerville. Spalding is Medford's hoodoo, while Somerville is favored to win.

Malden will make the trip to Lynn English intent upon getting back into the winning stride which was checked in the game with Newton on Wednesday. George Beaman will hurl for the Blue and Gold.

Has at least plus hit to Lawrence on Saturday. The Lawrence outfit feels confident after its 8 to 7 win over Norwood and will be eager to defeat Haverhill. McConkey will be on the mound for the visitors.

Waltham goes to Norwood on Saturday afternoon and should meet stiff opposition there. The Norwood ball hawks remember that the Watch City clan humbled them earlier in the season and are out for revenge. Barrett will toss for Norwood.

Lynn Classical pays a call in Brookline tomorrow. The Wesleyan Towners will face the slants of Routhaska. Lynn's mound ace Madden will work for Brookline.

Stoneham's fast nine takes on Belmont at Stoneham tomorrow P. Grout will hurl for Stonehan Marston and Adzigian, Stoneham's heavy hitting duo, are expected to shine.

Other attractions on tomorrow's bill are: St. Anslem's at St. John's Prep. Bridgton Academy at Maine Central, Pomfret at St. George's Goddard at Cushing Academy, St. James' at St. Peter's, Deerfield at Groton, Middlesex at St. Mark's Dedham at Attleboro, Turners Falls at Athol, Moses Brown at Tilton Academy, Dummer vs. Salisbury Seminary at Kingston.

Today's diamond wars bring together Boston English and Boys Trade at Roslindale, Wintrop Chelsea, Country Day at Brookline and Nichols, Belmont Hill at Noble and Greenough, Swampscott at Milton, Jamaica Plain at Boston Latin, Quincy at Thayer Academy, Saugus at Danvers, Bridgewater Normal at Keene Normal, Concord at Methuen, Reading at Lexington, St. Thomas' at Cathedral, Our Lady at St. Mary's Mission at St. Clement, and St. John's at Immaculate Conception.

JOE TURNESA ENTERS FINALS

Humphreys, in court late yesterday, testified he and Barney Dreyfuss made a verbal agreement on January 31 by which he was to become trainer for the Pirates at a salary of $150 a week. He later agreed to take a cut, he said, when Dreyfuss told him the club had lost money last season. According to Humphreys, the Pirates' loss was around $100,000 last year.

Sam Dreyfuss today scouted the statement of the loss as Humphreys is reported to have placed it.

"It's a lot of hot air," he said. "I can't discuss the matter, of course, while it is before a court, but I don't think that statement, if it was made, is right."

Turnesa played in brilliant fashion to trounce J. J. Taylor of Great Britain, 5 and 4, but Leo Diegel, the second American hope, was beaten by Charles Whitcombe, British Ryder cup stars, 3 and 1.

In the British half of the quarter finals, George Duncan, who eliminated Walter Hagen in the first round yesterday, was beaten by W. H. Davies, 1 up.

Herbert C. Jolly, Great Britain, outlasted Archie Compston in a long drawn-out battle, winning 1 up at the 21st hole.

Stranger to Sports; Stars in Four of Them

Belmont, N. C. (AP)—It might pay U. S. Olympic team coaches to keep their eye on Paul (Tessie) Campbell, who is starting out like he means to get somewhere in the sports world.

Paul, a 19-year-old student at Belmont Abbey College, was a stranger to sports until he entered the school last fall. Thus far he has managed to accomplish the following:

Playing golf for the first time he was runner-up in the medalist with a card of 42.

In his first year in football he made regular guard.

A newcomer to baseball, he recently turned in a no-run, two-hit pitching performance against Asheville high.

At tennis the other day he defeated Frank Hornby of Charlotte, ace of the school's net stars.

Folks hereabouts are wondering what "Tessie" will do when he gets started.

B. C. Yearling Track

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

Joyce Wethered Defeats Glenna Collett, 3 and 1

play of her opponent in the afternoon.

The British girl's margin of victory was three up and one to play, the match ending when Miss Wethered won the 35th hole. The American girl started home with a pair of threes, reducing her opponent's margin from four up to two up, but she was not able to reduce it more during the final eight holes.

The 35-hole battle between the two great girl players will rank with famous golf battles of the centuries over the historic St. Andrews course. The British girl lived up to her reputation as a wonder golfer and the American champion showed herself almost her equal.

Misses Wethered and Collett provided more golfing thrills than St Andrews has known since Bobby Jones won the open championship here in 1927 with an almost breathless final round.

Crowds estimated at 10,000 became almost uncontrollable at the 33d, 34th and 35th holes. Police joined dozens of men and women stewards and with the greatest difficulty cleared the fairway for the play to continue.

The two girls' drives to the 19th hole were almost dead level with Miss Wethered's a few feet farther toward the hole. Both pitched over Swilken burn. Miss Collett's 2-to-one over the rolling green was badly off line. Miss Wethered sank a 12-foot putt for a birdie 3 to win the hole and reduce the American's lead to 1 up.

The 20th was halved and Miss Wethered squared the match at the 21st, where her second was 25 feet from the cup, while Miss Collett was 40 feet, beyond the pin. Glenna putted eight feet past while Joyce sent hers dead. The British girl got her four while the American took five.

Miss Wethered took the lead for the first time in the contest at the 22d when she won the hole with a four. Miss Collett was a foot short of the green with a spoon, while Miss Wethered's iron was well on. The British girl dropped her putt from eight feet for a birdie. Miss Collett's approach putt was short.

A birdie four by Miss Collett at the 550-yard 23d squared the match again. The American's drive barely escaped a bunker to the right of the fairway, while the British ball was 30 yards nearer the green, which she reached with a slashing brassie. Glenna had to pitch from beyond the gully in front of the world's largest green. Her pitch was hole high to the left, and after Miss Wethered putted to within 15 feet of the cup, the visitor dropped her putt for the birdie four. Miss Wethered missed and the match was square.

SONNY UPSETS JOE DE VITO

Gus Sonnenberg's famous flying tackle enabled him to successfully defend his title as world's heavyweight wrestling champion against Joe DeVito at the Boston Arena.

Sonnenberg secured the first fall in 45 minutes, 9 seconds, with a reverse headlock and flying tackle, while a flying tackle gave him the second fall in 21 minutes, 28 seconds.

DeVito made a brilliant showing before he was downed for the first fall. His rabbit punch had Sonnenberg in distress several times. On four occasions the champion crawled under the ropes in order to get out of the way of the Italian.

Marin Plastina made good his boast that he could toss three wrestlers. He disposed of Sonny Skorsky, Andy Brown and Freddy Meyers in 15 minutes. He then almost wrecked the main event when he hopped into the ring just before the contest started and made a dash for Sonny. A couple of cops and some attendants compelled Plastina to leave the ring.

Wladek Zbyszko won from Goose Bellin in 18 minutes with an inside crotch hold and body lift. Either McCoy disposed of Arthur Davis in 10 minutes, 20 seconds with an aeroplane whirl, while Jack Gannon cornered Alex Anderson in 11 minutes with a headlock.

RULING BLOCKS HEARST JUNIOR GOLF FINALS

New York, May 17—The ruling of the United States Golf Association makes the Hearst national junior golf tournament impossible. It was proposed to hold regional contests and play off the finals at Detroit, paying the boys' traveling expenses.

The executive committee of the U. S. G. A., however, announced that it has "decided they could make no exception to their rule prohibiting payment of expenses, and therefore they could not approve the proposed tournament insofar as it provided for the payment of the expenses of certain contestants."

"The acceptance of such payment on their part," says Rodman E. Griscom, chairman of the amateur status and conduct committee, "would constitute a breach of the amateur rules."

When asked what the Hearst newspapers would do in the matter, General Manager Frank Knox said that the idea of a national contest would immediately be dropped, as the possibility of jeopardizing the boys' amateur standing is any branch of athletics was too serious a matter for the newspapers to take any chances.

The decision of the golf association is causing considerable comment in golfing circles and among sports writers. If the decision continues to stand, tournament golf as a poor boy's game will be out of the question. Such a national junior contest, if the contestants paid their own expenses, would effectually eliminate all but the sons of the wealthy from the finals.

FEDERAL COURT AFTER BUCCS

Pittsburgh, May 17 (INS)—Bench warrants will be asked today for three members of the Pittsburgh Pirates if they insist on playing baseball and ignore summonses to appear as witnesses in federal court, according to a statement from Atty. Thomas E. Whitten, representing William Humphreys, who is suing the Pittsburgh Athletic Company.

Humphreys' case involves an alleged breach of contract.

He testified in federal court that Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pirates, violated a verbal contract by failing to employ him as a trainer this season.

In proceeding his case Humphreys sought the aid of Pie Traynor, star third sacker for the Pirates; Carmen Hill, pitcher, and Ben Hemsley, catcher.

Summonses were served on the three late yesterday but instead of appearing in court they went on the field against the St. Louis Cardinals.

British Pro Praises Young U. S. Star

By JOHNNY FARRELL
American Open Golf Champion

EDINBURGH, May 17—We will let Hen Cotton have the center of the stage again today as he discourses enthusiastically about Horton Smith, the "Joplin Jigger," who many yards of type have already been thoroughly digested, but who is, nevertheless, still hot copy.

Cotton is Britain's youngest professional among the first flight golfers while Smith is our young est star

"Undoubtedly," Cotton says, "he is the coming player and he certainly is one of the keenest and most studious players I have ever met.

"This boy certainly sets an example to every young golfer and we hear him corner an older American golf star questioning him about his shots is an education in itself. Horton Smith is tall, handsome and rather wiry built and he walks with a real farmer's roll which has earned him the name of 'Cowboy.' He is always a jolly even when playing in tournaments but his earnestness is apparent.

"In his golfing style he is a natural hooker and, if you ask him his weakest shot, he tells you it is his No. 1 or No. 2 iron, but, believe me, he pins as many shots as most other players who think they are good No. 1 and No. 2 players. His mashie-niblick is his "dangerous" club, as he chips and pitches beautifully, but he does not think his putting is good. Although he often plays throughout a whole tournament without missing one putt under six feet, he does not think that he has necessarily putted well. He is very quick and decisive about every shot; and he is, perhaps, the finest example in the world, and that is not my sole opinion, of always being up.

"Horton Smith is short of the hole fewer times than any player I know; every shot must be up, whether a putt or a full shot. His mashie and mashie-niblick approaches are played with rather a long swing and the ball is hit a little loosely perhaps, but the hit is so late that any error is minimized.

WARD'S SIGNS UP GIANT LATIN GLADIATOR

to take on "Gibraltars" for his next local appearance

Ricardo Bertazzolo

Our local Italian friends have been numerously represented at Ward's casual gatherings for sport chats this week—intent upon popularizing their gladiator, who mixes with "Shamus" Maloney at the Garden tonight.

Our word for it—Ricardo has the makings of a "big shot" in future ring wars; shapes up, physically and temperamentally, as a real fighter; Doc Bagley certainly has schooled him how to fight; and our expert has a hunch that he likes to fight.

Aside from the tales of lusty deeds with which his many admirers herald his coming, there is one fine impression gained from a meeting with the "big fellow"; he has the fine points of a gentleman; that will tend to dignify his profession.

May we be allowed this slight allusion to the result of our introduction, when this stalwart son of Italy stepped out in he certainly was a "picture of perfect gentility" and had the "grand manner" of true Roman nobility.

U. S. RUBBER TO CONTINUE ITS PLANTING

V. B. Davis, Jr., president of United States Rubber Co., announces intention of the company to continue planting operations on a moderate scale on its great rubber plantation in the Far East during the current year.

"The company's holdings are in Sumatra and Malaya. The number of trees now totals more than 12,000,000, covering more than 140 square miles.

"In the face of receding prices during the past few years, the company has held steadily to its program of increasing its planted area. On reason for this policy has been the rapid growth in the number of uses to which rubber is put in the everyday life of the world, and the company's conviction that this growth will increase rather than slacken.

"Another reason is found in the fact that the company, through developing strains of super-yielding trees, and through economies, expects to reduce its cost of production each year. The plantation yield is large enough to supply only a part of the company's crude rubber needs and the remainder is bought in the open market.

GRAINS BREAK IN CHICAGO

Chicago, May 17 (AP)—Sharp early breaks in wheat prices today accompanied a selling rush that dislodged numerous standing orders to sell holdings at various set limits.

The selling caught the market devoid of any aggressive support Opening at 1c to 2c off to 1c up, wheat afterward declined 3c to more than 2c a bushel.

Corn and oats broke with wheat also, with corn starting at 1c decline to 2c advance, and subsequently undergoing a general setback.

Spring Company Sale Is Being Negotiated

Nachman Springfilled Corp. is negotiating for the purchase of the Southern spring company at Highpoint, N. C. Details should be completed in a few days, it is announcement made at the time.

Highpoint, N. C., is in the center of the leading furniture manufacturing district of the South the purchase of the company will give Nachman Springfilled a large additional outlet in northern territory, thereby contributing to more uniform operations by the furniture manufacturing industry.

Last February Nachman Springfilled purchased the Kay Mfg Co. Brooklyn, which gave important additions to its line and facilities for reaching the export market on a large scale. Previously, Nachman Springfilled purchased two units at Grand Rapids. Nachman Springfilled is the most completely contained unit as well as the dominant interest in its industry.

What Lies Behind Demand for Farm Aid Explained

By B. C. FORBES

NEW YORK, May 17—How many of us really understand why so much attention is being given proposed farm relief measures at Washington? Is it not just a political-inspired drama? Or is economic trag edy responsible? Briefly, in short are the basic facts of America's agriculture?

City folks are accused by country folks of being as grossly ignorant of agricultural matters as they are confessors of their inflible judgment thereon. Instead, therefore, of attempting to draw the real picture myself I gladly present the following, clear-cut statements kindly furnished this morning by F. B. Nichols managing editor of the Capper Farm Press, Topeka.

The index level of farm prices on April 15 was 138 per cent of the pre-war level, against 150 per cent per the commodities a farmer must purchase. The price ratio received by farmers for farm prices paid has been averaging only 85 to 90 per cent.

This price disadvantage is due largely to a few crops, such as wheat and cotton, constituting the much discussed "surplus" of that which have to be sold on world price levels.

But most of the items purchased by our 6,500,000 farm families are produced behind the tariff wall, and are thus on the "American price level."

The McNary-Haugen bill, vetoed twice by President Coolidge, and the new debenture plan were designed to "make the tariff effective for agriculture." Their advocates allege they would cure the economic ills of agriculture by raising prices. Opponents of the plan say result in increased production lead to increased surpluses, to increased dumping of farm products in foreign countries to buy the cheap food dumped abroad.

Meanwhile our farm population has been declining rapidly. Only 27,511,000 persons were left on the farms January 1, 1929 compared with 93,500,000 in the towns and cities. During 1928, 1,900,000 persons moved from the country, but 1,362,000 moved from the cities and returned to the farms. Moreover, births on farms exceeded deaths by 419,000, leaving a net loss for the year of 519,000.

The net loss in farm population since 1920 has been 3,500,000 or about 4.50 per cent.

For every person living on farms there are now 24 persons in towns and cities having food compared with 24 nine years ago.

But the increase in production by farm workers has maintained a surplus problem. Better methods used in growing food for horses has been released by the increase in power farming. There has also been a decline in per capita consumption of bread and meat.

Nine years ago last summer Kansas farmers operated 14 combine-harvesters and a few hundred tractors. In 1928 they used 18,000 farm tractors and 50,000 tractors to produce 179,000,000 bushels of wheat. On modern wheat farms the land is plowed, worked down and seeded with tractors, the crop is cut with a combine, the grain is hauled to the elevator in motor trucks, and the straw is left on the elevator, and the grain is moved into cars by machinery. Human drudgery has practically eliminated. Brain power is substituted.

Since the World War ended American agriculture has lost $20,000,000,000 of capital largely by a decline in land prices. Yet farm values in south-western Canada, a leader in motor and power farming, have been on the upgrade. An upward trend in farm land values also has been witnessed on the plains of Texas where the tractor and the mechanical cotton picker are making a big power farming revolution, and in the truck growing regions of Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland and Eastern Pennsylvania.

Meantime the foreign market for American food has been declining. European agriculture has been reviving to some extent. Canada, Australia, South American production has immensely increased and will likely continue. American manufacturers of power farming equipment such as tractors and combines are expanding their output to meet foreign demand. Russia is showing more interest in power farming and experts do not foresee its food exports enormously.

Data has led certain economists to believe that if U. S. agriculture were relieved of its surplus it would be on a sound, satisfactory economic condition. They blame the protective tariff. Therefore, it would be only fair for the debenture plan to make the tariff effective for agriculture.

Still another group believes it is practicable to increase the income of agriculture greatly by more efficient merchandising methods, plus some tariff increases on farm products. The "spread" between what the city consumer pays and what the rural producer gets for his product is very large especially with fruit and vegetables. Even with adequate capital, operating believe that a federal farm boa

BOSTON HOUSE CONSTRUCTS AIR FIELD

Warren Brothers Co., through one of its recently acquired companies, the Western Dredging Co. is constructing the Lindbergh Air Field at San Diego Calif.

Through another of its companies, the Warren Construction Co., it is building runways at the air fields at Albuquerque and Roswell, N. Mex., and another at Winslow, Ariz.

These construction jobs indicate that the largest roadbuilding organization of its kind in the world is benefitting from the phenomenal growth of the aviation industry.

WALWORTH HAS GOOD GAINS

Sales of Walworth Co for the four months ended April 30 last furnish additional testimony that increased activities of the company are maintaining the upward trend demonstrated i nthe opening quarter of the year and quarter throughout 1928.

Sales for first four months of 1929 totalled $8,279,932, against $7,-139,444. During the same 1928 period gain of $1,090,740, or more than 15 per cent.

In themselves, the sales figures do not tell the whole story. The year was ushered in with stiffening prices for the commodities handled, yielding a greater margin of profit. This factor was reflected in net for the four months, which totalled $16,-equivalent to $1.26 a common share after preferred dividends compared with a loss after interest and depreciation in the corresponding 1928 quarter of $.03 3.16.

Working capital and dividend requirements for the entire year covered in the opening three months, Walworth is operating on the remaining nine months will be so much "velvet" for the junior shares.

OIL ROYALTY STUDY MADE BY BROKER

Inasmuch as Eastern investors are rapidly becoming more and more interested in the subject of Oil Royalties, this article is written by a Boston broker with the idea in mind of explaining carefully what a Royalty is, and how it is operated

Many people confuse a Royalty stock with the so-called oil stock and it is his belief that there is considerable difference, as the former, properly managed, is of the investment type, while the latter is quite apt to be of the speculative type

The term Royalty as applied against the Oil Companies' operations is quite generally known in the case of Oil Royalties, we believe it is not so well conversed in its application

A Royalty, in connection with the oil industry, is created on oil and gas leases executed by the landowner in favor of the drilling or operating company, who undertakes the exploitation of that land for the purpose of producing oil and gas

In practically all the oil states in Royalty is one-eighth (1/8) of all the oil or gas produced from the land The landowner receives that one-eighth by agreement in any way sharing in the expense of development, drilling, maintenance or operating the oil or gas drilling company In other words, his interest in any production accruing from this land is a net interest.

It so happens that frequently the land owner may wish to sell a part of his Royalty interest. The buyer of such Royalty interest receives his title to that interest through the medium of a mineral deed given to him by the seller and registered in the records of the county in which such property is located

The important feature of this Royalty interests the 1st and 15th of each month, when the Royalty is paid. Be sure direct to the Royalty owner. Equal consideration as that interest appears in the county records.

Over many years, responsible banks in the states where oil is produced, have considered selected Royalties good collateral for bank loans and therefore it is not surprising that Eastern capital has become interested in buying stock in companies that own such Royalty interests

The importance of the item of depletion in the Royalty business is noted. The importance of drawing a percentage of gross receipts, called extraction, also increases the profits of Royalty interests, more and more as the years from discriminating to

Personal Loan Aid For 50,000 Families

More than 50,000 families in Greater New York were helped over financial difficulties during the past 12 months through the personal loan service inaugurated last May by the National City Bank of New York, the largest banking institution in the United States Loans during the first year, according to a report made public by the bank, totaled more than $16,500,000, an average of about $320 per borrower.

Chase Holders Approve American Express Merger

An affiliation of the Chase National Bank of New York, the Chase Securities Corporation and the American Express Company was approved by stockholders of the bank and of the securities corporation. It is contemplated an increase in the capital of each institution from $10,000 to $60,000 shares and a split-up of the shares on a five-for-one basis as a step in carrying out the consolidation of interests. Upon consummation of the plan, the combined institutions will have capital, surplus, and profits exceeding $283,000,000.

The union of Chase and American Express interests will create one of the largest organizations of its kind in the world, with the three institutions co-ordinating their activities, although each unit will continue to operate independently. The vast international business of the American Express Co., which operates 60 foreign branches in addition to 35 in the United States, will continue without any change in policy, name or management. The company's financial and foreign travel services are known in practically every country of the world.

Under the plan the stockholders action both the Chase National Bank and the Chase Securities Corporation will take outstanding 4,000,000 shares. Stock of the Bank will be reduced from $100 to $20 per share by affiliation, stockholders of the American Express Company are offered an opportunity of exchanging their shares on the basis of one and two-thirds shares of new stock of the Chase National Bank, of $20 par value, and one and two-thirds shares of new stock of the Chase Securities Corporation, of no par value, for one share of American Express.

PELLEY SPEAKS TUESDAY TO TRAFFIC MEN

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor

President John J. Pelley of the New Haven will be the principal speaker before the Traffic Club of New England at the Copley-Plaza next Tuesday evening. It will be an unusual event in that the president of the New Haven will be introduced to the gathering by the president of the Boston & Maine.

Recently we spoke of the railroad brothers, O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, as notable. Despite the fact that they have been losing money in a big league baseball proposition, it now transpires that the Alleghany Corp., investment company formed by the Van Sweringens to finance railroad merger operations, has made a paper profit of nearly $10,

Anaconda curtails copper production 30 per cent. Inspiration and Greene Cananea curtail. Kennecott makes a change of policy, routing which is considered equivalent to curtailment. Those companies are curtailing 18 of them to the point of shutdowns. All of which sounds terrible, but which in reality is probably an altogether reasonable regulation, much better than letting production outrun demand. Over-production would undoubtedly be a bearish factor of the first water.

American Bureau of Metal Statistics find it advisable to explain that a short ton is 2000 pounds every time it issues its figures on copper and lead shipments. Facing an assured growth in demand for their product, the established aircraft manufacturers can look forward to a more than usually large year, prepared by Frazier Jelke & Co.

"As the same time it is probable that the industry still faces a readjustment which may call for the elimination of the weaker units or their consolidation with other concerns—a trend which has been noticeable in the past year—the aviation industry's capacity today is probably in excess of the immediate demand, the uncertain factor in the business does not lie with the 50 companies of established reputation, but with the equal number of companies that have not been counted in the production so far, but which in the aggregate have the possibility of disturbing the situation," says the brokerage house.

"The increased output of airplanes and engines last year was in response to an expansion in both the regular common carrier service and the private field. Some 4800 airplanes are in commercial use throughout the United States, and the flying goods mills are sold ahead several months. Cur-Sullivet March 56 55 55 —

The review points out that the United States leads the world in every form of aeronautical activity except that of passenger flying and ranks second to only one country in this last item. Transportation by air has not yet been accepted with common confidence by the average American citizen, but the expected improvement in the aerodynamic qualities of the plane and in the ground facilities for navigation should within a very short time make the air plans a definitely popular method of travel. It is probable true that, as a part of a transportation system, the airplane is definitely limited by the smallness of the load which it can carry, so that the future trend of air travel depends to a large extent upon the private individual.

General W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, speaking before a distinguished gathering of bankers and railroad executives at the Bond Club luncheon, declared that the word "railroad" was no longer adequate to describe the transportation service which up-to-date railway companies now offer to the public.

Carrying on a new kind of pioneering in the form of research for new and better ways of doing things—the railroads are no longer relying alone, he said, on the transportation companies in the fullest sense of the term. The public, he explained, is now being offered railroad service where that is most desirable, or bus service, or service by airplane.

O. P. Van Sweringen — M. J. Van Sweringen

"My view of a railroad," said General Atterbury, "is that it should give the people the kind of transportation they want—not what the railroads think they ought to have."

BOSTON TRADE OUTLOOK GOOD, SAYS DUN'S

R. G. Dun & Co's Weekly Trade Review this week's issue will say regarding trade conditions in Boston: General indications point to the continuing of a large volume of trade, but there is considerable complaint of poor business by smaller retail concerns.

Shoe manufacturers are seasonally quiet and many are operating part time. New orders are slow in coming in, unseasonable weather having delayed retail purchasing. Labor troubles in the metropolitan district still are unsettled. Upper leather trade, but the wholesale trade of shoe findings are purchasing spots more freely and some fair-sized orders for belting leathers have been noted. Hide prices are firm, the market is moderately active. There is a moderate demand for tanning materials without much price change.

The prices of raw wool of all grades is reported lower. There has been very little activity in the market, though there is some call for dress goods and suits for the woolen trade. Woolen and worsted yarns are selling better, but prices are irregular. Some fair-sized orders have been placed for cotton yarns; prices generally are firm.

Prices of the raw cotton are a little easier, but the New England mills are not buying to any extent. Some of the cotton goods mills are sold ahead several months. Current production, however, continues to be in excess of sales, and there is some falling off in the demand for automobile fabrics. Prices of the finished goods are tending downwards.

The sale of New England building lumber is moderate, and prices are firm. There is a slight increase in the call for lime, cement and brick. Some price concessions are reported. The demand for points is improving. Sales of prepared iron this week amounted to 4000 tons, with considerable additional business in sight. Prices have been reduced, in some instances $2 a ton, while metal products are good, and most concerns in this line are on full time.

APRIL SALES OF GENERAL MOTORS UP

During the month of April General Motors dealers delivered to consumers 253,308 cars, according to an announcement by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president. This compares with the corresponding month last year, an increase of 19,936 cars or 6.7 per cent for April this year.

Sales by General Motors manufacturing divisions to dealers amounted to 267,718 cars, as compared with 197,597 for the year previous, an increase this year of 30,121 cars, or 15.2 per cent.

Deliveries to consumers in April were still influenced by production limitations on the new models early this season, coupled with the heavy spring demand for the corporation's products, as the result of which it has been impossible to adequately stock the territories in order to fully capitalize the sales possibilities.

The following tabulation shows monthly sales of General Motors cars by dealers to ultimate consumers and sales by the manufacturing divisions of General Motors to their dealers:

DEALERS' SALES TO USERS

Jan.	164,448	107,278	57,170
Feb.	138,552	90,333	48,219
March	205,118	143,706	146,275
April	253,308	233,372	19,936

DIVISIONS' SALES TO DEALERS

	1929	1928	incr.
Jan.	127,760	123,181	29,552
Feb.	115,116	99,274	15,842
March	229,381	197,821	161,810
April	267,718	197,597	70,121

These figures include passenger cars sold in the United States, Dominion of Canada and overseas by the Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oakland, Buick, Oldsmobile, Fisher, LaSalle and Cadillac manufacturing divisions of General Motors.

Orders for Terra Cotta Show Gain

New orders for terra cotta in April, as reported to the Department of Commerce by 26 manufacturers, and for the first five months, by two additional firms now out of business) who produced over 90 per cent of the terra cotta made in 1927, were 12,949 tons, as compared with 9961 tons in March and 12,226 tons in April, 1928.

Laundry Patrons to Be Offered Stock in Financing

Patrons of the Baxter Laundries, Inc., are to be given the privilege of acquiring 1 per cent cumulative stock in the organization under a plan of new financing which has just gotten under way. Howard F. Baxter, president, announced today. It is also probable, although not definitely determined, that employes of the Baxter corporation will be permitted to purchase this preferred stock. The Baxter group includes thirty laundries, with acquisition of ten establishments operated for fifteen years in Middle Western states as Fame Laundries, Inc.

STILL REPORTS WEEKLY FOR HIS PAY

Newburyport, May 17—Reporting to City Hall every week since his job disappeared with the consolidation of the fire department to collect a salary that is not forthcoming, Alfred Hall, former fire chief and former city driver of Engine 3, has announced that his campaign which he hopes will land him in the mayor's chair next fall.

Hall, who lives with his parents at 8½ Bromfield st., will be one of the opponents of Mayor "Bossy" Cashman, who will seek re-election and he made up his mind only recently to run after scores of friends urged him to throw his hat into the political ring.

It will be his first active plunge into politics, but his many friends working for his success even predict victory.

The aspirant for the mayoralty was connected with the Newburyport fire department from 1886 until served as chief in 1909 and 1910.

In 1898 he was appointed to Engine 3 and later to the board of engineers by Mayor Thomas Hunt under Chief Hiram N. Landford. He rose from third to first assistant on this board and served his first term at the head of the department in 1907 and was reappointed two years later.

Max Chief Cutter was president of the Newburyport Firemen's Sick Benefit Association for many years and a member of Commerce and a charter member of the Newburyport Lodge of Elks.

Until the fire department was wholly motorized ex-Chief Cutter was driver of Engine 3, but when the Congress st. barn was abandoned his job went with it. Everything reported to be city treasurer for wages that he believes should be forthcoming and a legal battle may result later on.

Patrolman Marquis of Lawrence Dies

Lawrence, May 17—Alphonse Marquis, 44, of 366 Lowell st., patrolman and policeman of the local police department for the past nine years, died suddenly at the Lawrence General Hospital early today.

Patrolman Marquis obtained a leave of absence from his duties several days ago and last Monday underwent a minor operation at the hospital. He remained there until following the operation and he was reported to have failed steadily until the end came.

He is survived by his wife and several children.

Moth Plane Starts for Albany Today

Fulton Trust Co.

Directors of Fulton Trust Co., New York, voted to increase capital to $2,000,000 from $1,000,000, new stock to be offered on a share-for-share basis at $200 a share to holders of record May 31. Rights to subscribe to new stock expire July 1.

Hamlin and Amster Lead Manhattan "Protective"

A STOCKHOLDERS' protective committee for Manhattan Railway Co. stock has been formed consisting of Nathan L. Amster, Edward M. Hamlin of E. M. Hamlin & Co., Michael O'Keefe, chairman of the board of First National Stores, Morton F. Stern of J. S. Farlee & Co., and Hon. Peter G. Ten Eyck of Albany, N. Y.

In a letter to the stockholders of Manhattan Railway Co., the committee says in part:

"Your property was leased in 1903 to the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. for 999 years at an annual guaranteed rental of $7 per share. In 1922, 94 per cent of the stockholders consented to reduce their guarantee from $7 to $5 annually with the understanding that after the Interborough Rapid Transit paid $6 dividends on its own stock, the Manhattan stock would be restored to $7.

These guaranteed dividends were paid until December, 1921, when a controversy arose between the City of New York and the Interborough Co. questioning certain preferentials and because of this controversy the dividends to the holders who have consented to reducing their dividends from $7 to $5 have not been paid, but the stockholders who refused to consent to the modification of the lease and reducing their dividends have continued to receive their $7 dividends annually. There is now due on the Manhattan stock of the Manhattan Railway approximately $10 accumulated dividends, which the Interborough has deposited with a trust company, pending settlement of the preferential dispute and to which the holders of the Manhattan Modified stock are entitled. We believe this will eventually be paid, but will be delayed for considerable period unless the stockholders cooperate in an effort to have these dividends released.

Besides the importance of securing an early decision on these accumulated dividends, it is of outstand importance that the stockholders of your company should be represented at conferences and negotiations involving the adjustment of the controversies now pending between the city, the Transit Commission and the Interborough Rapid Transit Co.

We believe that the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case involving the attempted increase of fare by the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. in no way adversely affects the Manhattan Railway Co. or its stockholders. In fact, the court, in its opinion, interpreted the title of the Manhattan for rate-making purposes, as being in excess of $150,000,000, and upon this basis, if we consider that there are only $45,000,000 of bonds outstanding, there would be a valuation for the 600,000 shares of the stock of your company, in excess of $190 per share.

The undersigned, owners of a very substantial percentage of the issued stock of your company and representing a number of other large stockholders, have determined that the interests of the stockholders require the organization of a protective committee.

In order that the committee may be empowered to effectively protect the rights and equities of the stockholders and to secure for them an early resumption of dividends, as well as a fair price for their stock in the event the proposed unification of the two transactions should be consummated, it is important that it should represent a very large proportion of the outstanding stock.

Views of Wall Street

General Electric—duPont Dividend —Packard Aero Motor—Business Machines Dividend—American Power & Light—Bond & Share Listing—Missouri Pacific Advance—Need for Discrimination —Mobile & Ohio Prospects.

General Electric

BY its remarkable maintained appreciation in price, General Electric stock confirms the statement that "no one knows what it is worth." The stock continues to climb higher than ever despite spilling, distribution of immensely valuable assets, etc. The answer exists in the company's great prosperity, which attains new peaks with the succeeding year. Those who are acquainted with its affairs are more bullish than ever of the prospects for its shares. They declare that another reorganization both in capitalization and operations is under contemplation and that the shareholders will be benefited largely. The four-for-one split in the stock is declared to be but one phase of the general development. There is likelihood of General Electric distributing among its shareholders its holdings of Radio Corporation of America stock. To the assertion that this is a virtual impossibility in view of the strategic position the holdings give G. E. in Radio, the answer is made that General Electric "gave away the Electric Bond & Share" when everybody considered this, too, an impossibility."

Du Pont Dividend

Executive committee of E. I. duPont deNemours & Co. is understood to have given consideration to passing along the extra dividend from General Motors.

Packard Aero Motor

Astounding performance by Packard's new Diesel aeroplane motor is a source of wonder, even when the cost of 6¾ mills per mile for fuel was contrasted with an average of 20 mills required for the normal aviation fuel costs. In an analysis prepared by a leading house, it is pointed out that this performance may encourage the adoption of the new engine in automobiles. Early plans are anticipated are: First, marketing of the Packard-Diesel aviation motor this summer; second, the marketing of the Packard Diesel marine engine this summer; third, leadership of the United States as a distributor of aeroplane motors in foreign markets; positions now held by England; finally, development of a successful Packard Diesel motor for use in Packard automobiles. The latter might revolutionize the auto industry and place Packard in an extremely enviable position.

Business Machines Dividend

American Power & Light

New high for American Power & Light was attributed to secu mulation said to have been under way for the past two months. The company, it was pointed out, is one of the largest holding enterprises in the public utility field and as such is certain to share in the general upward trend of this type of stock. Because of its strategic position in the industry, American Power & Light is also undoubtedly figure in any general unification prospects involving utility properties.

Missouri Pacific Advance

Missouri Pacific has been the outstanding performer of the rail stocks, establish ne itself in record territory despite general dullness in the rail group. The history of Missouri Pac fic has been of persistent character for many months. Van Sweringen control is credited with having acquired a substantial interest in the road. The company has been showing steady progress in earnings and despite the failure of directors to agree upon a definite plan for retirement of the huge accumulations, people close to its affairs maintain their optimism is prospects.

Shattuck Performance

Advance in Shattuck Co. shares to a new record high price reflected among buying attributed to interests identified with the First National Bank, which dominates the company. The strength in the shares of general weakness also gave credence to report that the Shattuck directors may decide upon a recapitalization plan in connection with the program for enlargement of activities. The present rate of dividend is expected to the opening of more than 10 new stores, all of which will be financed from past earnings.

SUPT. CROWLEY SILENT ON SHEEHAN

Both Supt. Crowley and Capt John M. Anderson of the Back Bay station refused to discuss the case of Patrolman Jeremiah J. Sheehan, whose motor car operated the license was revoked by Capt. George A. Parker, registrar of motor vehicles. It was on Capt. And erson's division that the triple crash in Copley sq., in which three persons were injured, occurred on March 25, from which charges arose against Patrolman Sheehan.

Supt. Crowley said: "I do not think it fair to discuss the case, since the charges of our department and those of the lower court have not been passed on. The revocation of the license rests with Capt. Parker. It would be unfair to make comment." Capt. Anderson refused to discuss the matter at all.

A trial board of captains is now considering charges against Sheehan, who was operating an auto while under the influence of liquor, that he had an intoxicated woman in the machine with him, and that he tried to persuade a policeman not to arrest him. He pleaded guilty. Trial of the charges in the municipal court have been postponed several times.

SPOUSE WANTED TO RUIN BEAUTY MODEL SAYS

Brockton, May 17—Her husband was so insanely jealous of her that he threatened to throw acid on her face to ruin her beauty, was a charge made in superior court here by Mrs Bessie Berkowitz Katz of 259 Warren av, Brockton, in a divorce from Mary Katz, Philadelphia business man, on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment.

Katz contested the suit on the grounds that he never established a legal residence in Massachusetts and that superior court in this State has no jurisdiction. Mrs Katz, a beauty model, testified that her marriage was a runaway and secret affair at Highland Park, N. J., on May 30, 1928, when she was but 19 years old.

Their troubles first started, she said, when Mrs. Frank Adams, a friend of sending his money home to her parents. When they came to Brockton to live, according to her testimony, he would become terrifically enraged when she smiled and spoke to young men he had gone to school with. She charged him with threatening her life with a revolver. Further, she declares H. Donahue that Mrs. Katz was a fine mother and lived with him only so long as he had money.

OUSTED PASTOR STANDS FIRM ON CHARGES

Boothbay Center, Me., May 17 — Rev. Earl A. Spencer, deposed pastor of the First Baptist Church of Boothbay, insisted mainly because of his public utterances against alleged drinking at public dances in the Town Hall, denied that he has received a communication from a church council asking him to retract his statements. He said:

"Nothing is further from the truth. I have received no such notice and no one has ever spoken to me about it."

Spencer is living for the present with Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Adams, believing that he will enjoy greater peace of mind while in their family than while living at the parsonage, even though the church in dismissing him last Saturday night allowed him the right to live there for a month. The United Baptist Church still remains barred with three pastorless which were put out after a gathering of church members voted Saturday night to dismiss their pastor.

EVANGELISTS IN CLASH OVER CORNER STAND

The non-man campaign of "Hard Shell Baptist" George B. Ivey to clean up the "vice conditions" in Boston and make the "underworld run" this week was the center of much heat in a vigorous opposition from a totally unexpected quarter, when a representative of the Church of God Holiness Movement publicly informed the traveling evangelist that he would have to conduct his "reformations" at some location besides Shawmut ave. and Dover st.

Now Evangelist Ivey was full prepared for the onslaught of gunmen, racketeers, bootleggers and underworld gangsters because he had been informed in advance that the place he had selected was the toughest corner in the city, at the demand of a brother evangelist that he desist temporarily spiked his guns.

Supporting all the fervor with which he had been attacking satan Evangelist Ivey turned to John Samitz, representative of the mission, and in ringing tones announced that it was immaterial to him if the mission had been conducting services at Shawmut ave and Dover st for many years. He declared it was his purpose to save souls and he was going to save them at that corner or anywhere else in the city.

This rather nettled Mr Samitz as he handled to see the permit of the invading evangelist. Ivey admitted he didn't have any written permission but he informed Mr. Samitz that he was authorized by the police commissioner to start talking at 8:30 and keep going until he was out of breath.

Those enrolled to leave the field to Evangelist Ivey and said that the mission would conduct the services when the "invader subsided.

At the conclusion of his denunciation of vice and bootleg liquor Evangelist Ivey took up a collection. He then announced that he had received 40 cents and pleaded with the spectators to make it a dollar. "Why," declared one man who was listening, "if I gave you a half a dollar, I'd not get any breakfast in the morning."

Useful Hints on These Pages

NO woman can afford to miss these magazine pages. Here you will find household information of great value, a wonderful article by an eminent physician, important advice on matters of etiquette by a woman who knows, and fashion hints fresh from Paris, showing handsome gowns.

Dr. Bisch's Daily Health Hint

THE idea that bald men are more intelligent than those with plenty of hair has no foundation in fact. The reason so many students are bald is because they work too close to the heat of electric lights, which kill the roots of the hair.

Need Big Breakfast

THE breakfast is coming into its own again. Health authorities are voicing their opposition to the meager breakfasts in vogue since Mrs. Adams took up "reducing" as her greatest indoor sport.

Noting the damage which is being done by a morning meal insufficient to meet the energy requirements of the body, nutritionists are undertaking a educational campaign to establish "bigger and better breakfasts."

Martha Lee

Breakfast is important because it furnishes food to the body after its longest rest—from food, period and supplies the food energy for half of the days work. Your breakfast menu should therefore, supply from one-quarter to one-third of the day's food

I'm not trying to lay down a hard and fast rule for every one, saying, "You should eat more breakfast," but it is true that our breakfast are much slighted than any other meal.

The business man accustomed to eating luncheon at one o'clock after several hours of heavy mental and physical work, needs a good, hearty breakfast in the morning. Men are more willing to eat a heavy breakfast, consuming all too often largely of acid-forming foods, while women eat little or no breakfast. One practice is as bad as the other.

The greatest day's work is done in the morning; in school, professional work, business or in the kitchen. Every person should therefore, be in the best physical and mental condition to accomplish the utmost between sunrise and mid-day.

The typical American breakfast consists of cereals, fruit, muffins, perhaps waffles or hot rolls, bacon, or maybe ham and eggs. Fresh fruit is needed to balance these, but is not always served and seldom in large enough amounts. An orange, we know, has an alkaline reaction, but one little orange cannot counteract all the acid resulting from liberal helpings of ham, eggs and toast.

The hard-working man should, therefore, cut down a little of the acid-forming foods and increase the amount of alkaline-ash foods, such as the citrous fruits.

Provide more milk for the cereal Use a larger orange to start the meal, or furnish fresh fruit juice in addition to sliced or preserved fruit. Serve jellies, jams and marmalades to furnish additional and needed energy.

The fact that the general public wants fruit for breakfast and particularly citrus fruit, was made clear by an investigation recently conducted on the dining cars of a huge railroad. Two out of every three patrons ordered fruit for breakfast and oranges headed the list with 224 orders for the orange juice, 172 for sliced oranges and 55 for whole oranges

A new popular fresh fruit beverage consists of ¼ cup of orange juice, ¼ cup lemon juice, ¾ cup ice water and sugar to taste. Mix together and serve in a large glass with crushed ice.

Another breakfast have age that a new is a combination of egg yolk with oranges and lemon juice—an excellent dietetic combination by the way For this mix thoroughly 1 well beaten egg yolk with the juice of 2 oranges, ½ a lemon and 1 tap of honey or sugar to taste Chill thoroughly.

And from a famous French-Canadian hotel comes this suggestion for varying the ordinary sliced orange service. For this place a sliced orange in a glass sherbet dish and cover with 2 tbsps of maple syrup This should be chilled thoroughly. Strained honey may be used instead of maple syrup

Then there is a fruit hash made by cutting oranges into small bits and combining with other fresh fruits such as bananas, strawberries, raspberries, apples and fresh pineapple.

Baked apples with oranges, baked bananas with orange sauce, fried toast with orange sauce, orange toast, lemon or orange filled cup cakes and orange fluffy omelet are other breakfast specialties which I'll be glad to send you recipes for, if you wish

Or perhaps you would like my recipe for orange marmalade, making 12 to 13 large glasses, orange marmalade biscuit, and orange marmalade waffles? Yours on request from

Yours faithfully,

Martha Lee

NEW CAPE COLLAR

You will recognize at once the change in the neckline of the dress shown today and, in my opinion this is a real improvement on the models previously brought over from abroad. It is not only simple and easy to make, but much more becoming. A printed crepe was chosen for our original model, a good word for afternoons and resort. The neck is comfortably low with the back across center of the a flattering idea. The cape collar at front is in pointed outline to correspond with points of tunic, which dips the hem at back. Its side trimming is a bow of soft faille silk at right hip. Style No. 3082 can be had in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. It takes 4¼ yards of 39-inch material with ¾ yard of 36-inch contrast to make it in medium size. It is equally smart fashioned of printed silk crepe in dots or floral pattern, georgette crepe, plain silk crepe, rayon printed voile, printed chiffon or crepe Elizabeth.

Vacation Dreams

DRAWN BY Dorothy Flack

EVERYWHERE you look nowadays you see that faraway, dreamy expression in everyone's face denoting—what? Can't you guess? Of course! Vacation time's coming now and everyone in the world is dreaming of the wonderful times they are going to have

For some it's the seashore, with its dashing waves and golden beach Others choose the calm beauty of the mountain. Still others swear there's nothing in the world like a lake resort if you would have the best times of all And some there are who still return to the countryside and live the simple life after the hustle and bustle of the past year

Oh, yes, each to his taste and a place to satisfy each and every whim!

But nevertheless, the vacation dreams eventually turn to one thing no matter where the location—and that's to Love and Romance. Some are preparing to enjoy it together after the romance which made two hearts beat as one on a previous vacation. But the single heart beats high and faster at the thought that maybe THIS time will bring a realization of their dreams.

And I hope it does. For there's nothing in the world that's a greater tonic than Love. It's better than all the medicine in the world, for it heals not alone the tired mind, but the weary heart.

So here's to the vacation dreams' May they be realized to their fullest extent and bring happiness to the hearts of you all

Electricity Not a Cure-All, Says Dr. Bisch

By Louis E. Bisch, M.D., Ph.D.

ELECTRICITY for the cure of certain diseases or for the betterment of their symptoms has been employed by medical men for years

Many varieties of electrical currents, as currents, static electricity, galvanic currents, etc., etc., until now machines are on the market for medical use which offer a wide possibility for different kinds of therapy

Goitres, joint inflammations, gangrenous conditions, lumbago, sprains, ulcers, paralyzed muscles, wasted and degenerated muscles, intestinal sluggishness, skin blemishes, gynecological conditions and throat diseases, neuralgias—these are but a few of the organic disorders for which some form of electrical current may be used.

In nervous affections of a functional type, such as insomnia, inability to relax, general nervousness, pains and aches in various parts of the body, palpitation, pains in the throat and a host of other ailments, electricity may likewise be of value

It should be emphasized however, that no person should take electrical treatment without first making sure what his trouble is

The indiscriminate use as well as desire for electrical treatments is to be deplored

Furthermore, the patient should realize that a thorough knowledge of various electrical currents and what they do to the system is necessary if beneficial results are to be hoped for Electricity was really first employed in medicine in connection with nervous diseases.

In these early days its use was most crude and much of it was guesswork.

Nowadays, however, not only are a variety of currents in use, but the whole subject of electrotherapy is founded upon a much firmer scientific basis

Letters are often written to me by persons asking whether electricity would benefit such and such a condition

Electricity often can do much good in proper hands and after a definite diagnosis of the trouble is made

But electricity should not be used in a hit and miss way for any old ailment, no matter what it may be, nor should one harbor the most fallacious idea that electricity is a cure-all

It is true that nerve energy behaves more like an electrical current than anything else. It is also true that every organ and every tiniest piece of tissue is somehow linked up with a nerve

This does not mean, though, that electricity can substitute nerve impulses in every case, nor even stimulate the nerves to better functioning.

What electricity may be able to accomplish should be determined by the physician always and never by the individual himself

Even self-treatment with electricity may be beneficial if the right kind of current for the right kind of ailment has been definitely determined.

Electrical treatment is really no more mysterious than any other form of treatment.

I want to repeat, it may be most helpful in proper hands

One hears patients condemning electrical applications as well as praising them

Often the reason for disappointment in their results were anticipated which were not justified by the facts of the case

Take electrical treatment if your physician advises it. Then you are not likely to be disappointed.

Beauty of Natural Clear Eyes

By MARIA JERITZA

THERE are two distinct types of beauty—the natural and artificial.

Artificial flowers are sometimes exquisite, but they are never quite as lovely as the living flowers they imitate. In the same way the beauty of natural womanhood, with color that comes and goes, sheen of health on the hair, ruddy lips, sweet breath, a little, active body, clear eyes radiating health of spirit and mind, is infinitely superior to the artificial type of beauty no matter how cunningly its cosmetic effects may be blended.

Of course natural beauty needs daily care to keep it at its best and set it off to advantage, just as flowers need water and sunlight and good soil, and are sometimes even enhanced by cultivation in a garden or hothouse

There are some women, however, who frankly love the artificial

They prefer to make up their eyes, lips, cheeks in order to present an appearance that suggests art rather than nature

Let us consider today, for their benefit, the art of making up the eyes. Actresses have made a life study of accentuating and emphasizing the expressiveness and loveliness of their eyes with the help of make-up. Always the actress begins her make-up by cleansing her face, neck, eyelids and ears with cold cream. She then wipes away all excess

Needless to say, she has first of all protected her hair and costume from make-up by means of a headband of white linen pinned over her forehead, hiding the hairline.

If the actress uses liquid rouge, she blends a bit of this into her skin carefully, bringing it up toward her temples and even over her eyelids very slightly, because she knows the brilliance of the rouge will set off her eyes and make them conspicuous.

She chooses eye-shadowing that blends with the color of her eyes, whether they be blue, brown or green. The shadow comes in both cream and grease-stick form. She smoothes on just the least bit of it, very skillfully, with her fingertip. If you choose a shadow slightly lighter than your eyes, the effect will be to deepen their color.

It is usually wise to follow the natural line of the eyebrows in making them up. Even the most radical advocates of the artificial, have abandoned the eyebrow-plucking fad, because it robs the face of all expression. A wild hair here or there can be tweezed, and if the brows meet, it may be well to have a few of the hairs at the meeting place removed by an electric needle in the hands of a registered expert

A little eyebrow cosmetic or an eyebrow pencil can be used to deepen the natural color of the brows. Brush the pencil against the brows toward the center of the forehead, then brush them back in place toward the temple.

Eyelashes should be long, thick and silky to suggest beauty. Nightly annointing with 1 per cent of yellow oxide of mercury ointment should in time bring about this result. Do not add mascara to your eyelashes until you have applied eyebrow and powdered deftly over it, else you will spoil the effect.

In applying mascara with the tiny brush that comes for the purpose, take pains to color each lash without clogging it. Above all, do not get mascara into your eyes. Some women as a final finishing touch apply a pin-dot of paste rouge at each end of the eyes, taking care to keep it out of the eyes. This is supposed to elongate them and add to their brilliance

Nearly all actresses, knowing the charm of simplicity and naturalness, avoid eye make-up off the stage. But if you must make up your orbs of beauty, see to it that the effect is artistic and enchanting

Correct Manners—Mrs. Beeckman

Mrs. Beeckman Will Answer Your Problems in Etiquette

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN.

1. When my husband and I are invited out to dinner, he thanks the hostess directly after leaving the table. I think it is correct to thank for the dinner and the evening's pleasure when one leaves Will you please advise me which is correct?

2. If my husband thanks first, what would be correct for me to say?

3. What is the correct way for me to sign my letters—Mrs. George Neeling or Mrs. May Neeling"

READER.

IT is quite correct for your husband to make some comment on the charming party as he leaves the party. He would not thank for the dinner—one never thanks for the dinner—but might, with an especial graciousness that would make any hostess happy, say, "This is a beautiful party that you are giving, Mary, and I am enjoying every minute of your fine hospitality" (it would be terrible taste for him to say, "Thank you so much for the excellent dinner, Mary. It was very fine.")

However, this mention of his appreciation of the "charming party" after the dinner would not be in addition to thanks when he is leaving, but added to this. When you and he leave, your husband stands back to allow you to say your goodbye and your thank-you-for-the-delightful-party, and then he says his thank-you.

You say, for instance, "It has been a glorious party, Mary, and you are a wonderful hostess. Thank you so much for asking us."

3. Neither form is correct, in the direct signature. For business letters or letters to those who are to be informed of your formal name (as you would write in a letter to me), this is the correct signature:

Yours very truly,
MAY BROWNE NEELING
(MRS. GEORGE NEELING)

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

Edward spent the week-end with his immaculate grandmother. On his return home, his mother inquired: "Did grandmother's eyes seem to be any better?"

"I'll say they are—she made me go back upstairs and wash again when I came down to breakfast," replied Edward

by WILBUR C. WHITEHEAD

A SQUEEZE PLAY

Auction Bidding: South bids one No Trump and West doubles negatively North, with a Diamond suit as good as required for a defensive bid, takes out his partner's No Trump with a bid of two Diamonds as warning of a No Trump menace (the singleton Club). East, relieved of the necessity of responding to his partner's double, passes South, encouraged by his partner's Diamond bid, bids two No Trumps and obtains the contract.

Contract Bidding: South's one No Trump bid is doubled by West North bids two Diamonds; East pass; South, two No Trumps; West passing, North rebids his Diamonds, whereupon South bids three No Trumps and secures the contract at that bid

The Play: West leads his fourth best Club, South winning with the King South leads the Jack of Diamonds and finesses. East holds off hoping that South may hold but two Diamonds and thus be unable to make Dummy's suit. East wins Trick 3 with the King of Diamonds and then East-West make three Club tricks, West remaining in the lead. West's lead of the King of Hearts is won by South with the Ace. Dummy's Diamonds are then brought in and West is squeezed. At Trick 11 he holds Spade K and Spade J and Heart Q and has to discard one on a Diamond lead. If he discard a Spade, South's Ace and Queen will be good. If he discard the Heart Q, South's Heart 10 will be good. Declarer makes three odd and game at No Trump

3-Minute Trips

By TEMPLE MANNING

TOURISTS from all over the world, especially the Latin-American countries, are flocking to Seville right now for the great Ibero-American Exposition While primarily a reunion of Spain and the American colonies which formerly were hers, the Exposition also includes the United States among its patrons. Our Government has erected three buildings there, and a large delegation is present to express our good will toward our Spanish-speaking neighbors.

Aside from the Exposition itself old Seville has a great many attractions to offer the visitor. Famed as the capital of ancient Andalusia, this sun-swathed city of golden domes is perhaps more representative of Spain, past and present, than any community in the kingdom. It is a paradox among cities, an indiscriminate blending of the old and the new, and will fascinate those who like to study at first hand the romantic relics of yesterday without sacrificing the personal comforts of today

No better time than the present could be chosen for a visit to Seville. The pulsing life of the spring festivals in addition to the temporary glories of the Exposition, will make a journey to Andalusia well worth while. The observing tourist now may see the famed holy processions passing through the streets with the wealth of centuries bedecking the images of the 42 religious brotherhoods of Seville as they pass slowly in review. He may hear the spontaneous outbursts of devotional singing that frequently accompany the procession, and catch the resounding echoes of the great organ in the cathedral as it answers back

He may hear the strummed tunes of a "flamenco" as it is danced beneath soft lights in a flower-decked cafe. Further, he may see the laughter of young dons and blushing senoritas as they banter in the moonlight.

He may see small boys of dozen years demeanor humbly serving at the altar during Sunday morning mass, and espy the same boy, at the bull ring that afternoon hoarsely demand that the bull "kill the toreador."

All of these and a thousand other exotic and picturesque sights may greet the traveler who turns his footsteps toward Seville in the spring.

HIDDEN FIRES

by Aileen de Vilbiss

Story of Love and Mystery in Gay Honolulu

CHAPTER 5

GEORGE PHILLIPS did not die.

But he did carry a hatred of the man who had fought him for many a long day.

Eve was meeting him every evening on the 6 o'clock boat for Sausalito. Together they would walk up the hillside to the tiny cement bungalow, for several weeks had to elapse on the lease on it expired. Then she was moving over to the city to live.

George had become her devoted slave in those days after Don Carlos' departure. And a merry chase she led him! Chagrin was her chief emotion in those days. To think that her bait had escaped her; that he was no longer there for her to vent her spite upon!

There are some souls who must have an object upon whom they can take out their resentment toward life—it the elusive quality of it, denying them what they consider necessary for their happiness.

This was the niche that Don Carlos had filled in Eve's life. Always she was complaining . . . of the lack of funds . . . because he could not give her expensive presents. . . . . Eve was one of those women of whom it is said that they have the "gimmies."

It was a warm, lovely Saturday afternoon. George had met her on the ferry, suggesting that they get his car out of the garage and amble idly through the hills surrounding Sausalito.

Eve was sick of scenery. She told George in no uncertain tones.

"But, Eve, I thought you liked the trees and the hills. I understood that was why you came over here to live."

"I came over here because that the fool (a...nother she always stumbled over Don Carlos' name) denied some place where he could dream and be lazy. So I took a place with a yard—my roommate and I. He couldn't afford to take one—not until he sold some of his stories. Which he never did—fat chance. If I had had my choice I would have had an apartment in the city. That life calls to me; I want to be alive—in the center of it."

She threw out her arms as though to grasp everything and hold it—for herself.

"Eve, if you would only forget the terrible part. He's held without bail . . . escaped . . . Steve in a cage . . . like an animal . . ."

"Then there's time to look around," Nadia said. "I think—I have an idea—"

"You said it! I told the story you had made up you would do the right thing. Did you mean you would pay me money?"

"I don't have your money for myself. A large amount is necessary for a purpose."

Nadia's voice shook a little. "I want you to put ten thousand dollars in Allan Castlebury's hands—and send him to me. I don't want a penny of it myself. It may have to be spent in a certain way."

"I don't get what you are driving at," Kirk said.

But Nadia could not tell him that if she involved Caesar she would feel responsible for a defense fund for the boy. And a moral obligation it might, too, have seemed too fine-spun for old Kirk.

They talked much under an individual strain.

At last Castlebury came, utterly puzzled, but with a check for $10,000 from old Kirk.

"The old man told me to come and see you, that you'd tell me what to do with it. I ask you what kind of nonsense is this?"

"It's to hire a lawyer," Nadia explained. "For a boy—Ginetta's brother. Maybe he did in his own way killed Hanson."

Castlebury looked his amazement.

"Suppose I happened to know." Nadia went on. "That someone not then had hated Web Hanson with a deadly, dangerous grudge—a brother whose sister had been ruined by Hanson. Listen Allan—Ginetta's brother!"

His eyes were blank with astonishment. "You mean Hanson ruined Ginetta?"

"No, not Ginetta. Another sister. But her brother, Caesar, traced the poor unfortunate girl to New York where she had fled . . . to him. And recently he came back here with his mind on fire and blazing against Hanson."

"Did you tell this?" Castlebury's tone rose slightly with excitement.

RADIO HAS A CROWDED WEEKEND

By FRED TOYE, Radio Editor.

THE air this week-end is full of baseball, horse races, Socialist presidential candidates, operatic safety talks, war manoeuvres and blooming springtime. Static just hasn't room to navigate.

FLYING HOOFS

There's the Kentucky Derby where Messrs. McNamee, Husing, et al, (not Al Smith) will have difficulty deciding whether to watch the flying hoofs of the racing horseflesh or the movements of the visiting dignitaries. Commencing at 6 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, a half hour or more will be devoted to this event by the three chains.

BOMBING PLANES

ARMY MANOEUVRES by droves of bombers and pursuit planes above Cincinnati will be described from a fast army plane through WLW and to the world at large, commencing at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. In the early evening, Mme. Schumann-Heink will send her voice to the farthest reaches of the land through WEAF and a battery of affiliated transmitters on the subject of "Safety in the Home."

FORMER CANDIDATE

NORMAN THOMAS speaks before a luncheon gathering of the League for Industrial Democracy at the Hotel Imperial at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. WEAF will spread this talk before the world.

CLASSIC INTERLUDE

AN ANTIDOTE for all-pervading jazz is supplied for a half hour every Friday evening at 10:30 through WBZ in the feature called "Tone Pictures." The performers are the Classic Four, comprising John Gruber, pianist and director; Clyde MacDonald, 'cellist; Albert Kyes, clarinetist, and Paul Bauguss, violinist.

BASEBALL CONTINUES

WNAC continues Saturday and Sunday baseball broadcasts with Fred Hoey at the microphone.

Stage Stars Feature Lynn Press Frolic

Featuring the sixth annual frolic and ball of the Lynn Press Club tonight at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, will be the midnight show by members of Ziegfeld's "Show Boat." Charles Winninger, Edna May Oliver, Jukes Bledsoe, Eva Puck, Sammy White, Aunt Jemima, Howard Marsh and the cast of 34 dancers will present highlights from the popular musical show.

Preceding the appearance of the "Show Boat" company, the Press Club will present its annual vaudeville program, a style show, concert and continuous dancing with three orchestras.

Program for Pop Concert Tonight

Alfredo Casella offers the following program for the pop concert in Symphony Hall tonight:

March from "Aida" ..... Verdi
Ave Maria ..... Schubert-Wilhelmj
Serenata Italian ..... Tchaikowsky
Ballet Suite, "Sylvia" ..... Delibes
Largo ..... Handel
Overture to "William Tell" ..... Rossini
Ballet of the Hours, "La Gioconda" ..... Ponchielli
Liebestraend ..... Kreisler
Second Hungarian Rhapsody ..... Liszt

Odd Fellows Plan N. Hampshire Session

Ashland, N. H., May 17—Next Thursday, May 23, the annual meeting of Laconia District No. 11, I. O. O. F., jurisdiction of New Hampshire, will be held here in Town Hall. The district consists of the lodges from Ashland, Campton, Plymouth, Meredith, Lakeport and Laconia. There will be a parade at 7 in the evening, and a banquet will be served in the Masonic hall.

Wolfeboro Blaze Menaces Buildings

Wolfeboro, N. H., May 17—Fire in the machine shop of Horne's garage, in the midst of a nest of wooden houses and shops, was caused by a spark from an emery wheel landing in a five-gallon can of gasoline. There was a tremendous burst of flame, but no one was burned. A new tractor, three new automobiles and two old ones were ruined. The loss will be from $5000 to $6000.

Portland Trolley Injures Three Men

Portland, Me., May 17—Three workmen were hit by a trolley car that skidded on wet rails at Dunstan in Scarboro. James J. Burwood of this city, most seriously injured of the victims, was taken to the Webber Hospital in Biddeford.

Edward Quint and Ernest French are in the Maine General Hospital here, but are not seriously hurt. Edward J. Cook, the trolley car driver, collapsed.

Six Surviving Vets Answer to Roll Call

Willimantic, Ct., May 17—Roll call of the 60th annual reunion of the 21st Connecticut Volunteer Association of the Civil War held here, was answered in person by six of the 19 survivors of the once famous regiment. They are: Vine R. Franklin of Danielson, George T. Meech of Middletown, William H. Brewer of East Hartford, L. W. Coats of Bridgeport, Samuel P. Latham of Ridgeway Park, N. J., and Andrew J. Allen of Noank.

MARION DAVIES AT WORK ON 'MARIANNE'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Copyright, 1929, by Universal Service, Inc.

NEW YORK, May 17—Marion Davies might as well engage hotel accommodations at Culver City right now, for she has started the talkie version of "Marianne" and that means she will spend all the day and half the night at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. That is the news to those Davies boys have to work when a talkie is being put into production.

Oscar Shaw, who traveled all the way from New York to play in the silent version of "Marianne" had to return to Manhattan to keep a stage engagement. Lawrence Gray has been given the Shaw role after passing a most satisfactory singing and talking test.

I am not surprised that the microphone gave Larry Gray a good record, for he has always been one of Hollywood's favorite entertainers, singing and playing his own accompaniments. Robert E. Leonard, now head of "Hollywood Lover," one of Marion's most successful pictures, will direct "Marianne."

Everyone is expecting that Marion will bring back the talking all the originality that has made her after-dinner sketches so popular in film circles.

THE friends of Mary Eaton still remaining in New York will probably hear from her that Broadway was never like Hollywood. She is going to work harder when she gets to the film capital than she has ever worked in her life before. Already Ben Schulberg, her boss, has lined up enough stories to keep the little blonde beauty busy.

She has the feminine lead in "Elmer the Great," Ring Lardner's baseball story. Can you beat it? They have gone and changed the title to "Fast Company." Just another good movie title gone wrong. I bet a cockie Herman Mankiewicz, who wrote the dialogue, never invented that name.

Miss Eaton will have Jack Oakie and Sterling Holloway for her leading men, with Melville Brown as her director.

IF Warner Brothers and Joseph Schenck don't actually sign papers declaring their definite intentions to merge, at least there is a pretty good understanding between the two companies. First Lupe Velez, he pet and pride of the United Artist lot, has been loaned to play Tiger Rose," and no less a person than George Fitzmaurice will move from the United Artists lot to Warner Brothers to direct her. Fitzmaurice is emphatically one of the few United Artists not directly under the Schenck banner.

Since he is under contract to no one, he has been loaned to Warner Brothers. You will not direct Corinne Griffith in "Lilies of the Field," since he and First National do not agree on terms, but he is arranged according to Hoyle.

NO matter how much Richard Bennett may rave against the oligarchy of the movies, his three daughters completely are identified with them. Joan Bennett, after "Sailing Downstream," is booked up for at least two more pictures and probably many more. As soon as she finishes "Three Live Ghosts," she will play the juvenile feminine lead in "Disraeli" for Warner brothers.

Constance Bennett has been chosen for the feminine lead opposite Robert Armstrong in Hackett's new original story by Paul Gangelin. That probably means that the former Miss Bennett will go to Hollywood and give the natives a treat by jangling her diamond bracelets and wearing Parisian gowns.

The third sister, Barbara Bennett, so far the chief feminine interest in Father's Boy," will, it is said, continue her association with the "Hollywood Lover."

BROADWAY will see Hal Skelly no more. He has gone the way of dozens of others of his kind. He has been sold down the river like the rest of them. Like a true actor he has gone and signed a long term contract with Paramount. His first picture, "Woman Trap," will give him a beauteous Evelyn Brent as leading lady and Chester Morris as the leading man.

PERSONALLY, I never heard of Liska March, but that does not mean anything because she hails from New York and she has, and the people in Hollywood do not always hear all that transpires on Broadway. But I have had enough about Liska March to see last few weeks to let me know that when she gets to Hollywood she has been signed for Eddie Leonard's future "Melody Lane" at Universal.

Furthermore, she has been seen all the first night at the theatre for lunch, at Universal City around where movie folk congregate. I suppose I will meet the new people when I get back to California.

NAPSHOTS of Hollywood collected at random by an observer: The Stevensons introducing their new swimming pool, the largest in town, to the film colony. Lloyd Webb back in Hollywood living into a house at Malibu Beach. Sally O'Neil and Eddie Nolan going without lunch to rehearse their songs. Jane Winton feeding old friends in Henry's after her stage performance. Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks at the United Artists studio. Gloria Swanson exhibiting a fine tan, and girls strive for those days. Hello all today. See you tomorrow.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

Prohibition Makes For 'Sneaky Business'

It is not pleasant to be reminded that under the prohibition law the United States is becoming a nation of sneaks and moral hypocrites. But that is the truth and the truth is not always pleasant.

Judge Morton, in Federal court, hearing protest on the seizure by Government officers of 28 gallons of liquor from a Worcester pharmacy, remarks:

"It seems to me to be rather sneaky business to go into this pharmacy and forfeit this stock because then there was no outstanding permit to make legal its possession."

Professor Burns, of Harvard Law School, startles the university faculty with the assertion that "prohibition is making us a nation of moral hypocrites."

The whole prohibition law is an hypocritical and a sneaky business.

About its enactment, with the American Expeditionary Force abroad, there was a decidedly sneaky, hypocritical tinge.

About its enforcement there is a distasteful, sneaky, hypocritical flavor.

Its violators sneak their drinks and many of them are hypocritical "surface prohibitionists."

Professor Burns tells the Harvard faculty that prohibition is possible only in Utopia.

There is no Utopia on earth.

A Business Man in Office

Voters may realize, eventually, that it is wise to elect men that know something about the country's business.

The habit of electing only professional politicians has its drawbacks.

The election of Herbert Hoover, a trained engineer, was a good idea. The problems of this nation are largely engineering problems; canals, roads, irrigation, flood control.

Herbert Hoover understands those things.

The election of Herbert H. Lehman, a trained business man, as Lieutenant-Governor in New York, promises results.

For instance, in the absence of the Governor, Mr. Lehman has authority.

And in consequence something will be done about the gentlemen, including a public bank examiner, alleged to be responsible for the crash of a banking concern, and the robbery of depositors.

As one who understands banking Mr. Lehman realizes that it is important for everybody, bankers as well as depositors, that banks should STAND UP.

If more business men were elected in a business country it would be a good thing for business, and a good thing for the average man, apart from business.

Money, Not Advice Wanted

"The British Government will in no circumstances entertain them." Thus Winston Churchill, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, brushes aside Mr. Young's suggestions for a German settlement.

What Britain and the rest of Europe want from us is MONEY, not suggestions. Our financiers in Europe to discuss a German settlement might have known it, and might have saved their passage money.

If Uncle Sam's young men will suggest that American claims be wiped out, THAT suggestion will receive favorable consideration abroad. But it would not suit Herbert Hoover or Andrew W. Mellon.

No Reason to Stop Giving

It would be interesting to know how many of the contributions to the Children's Hospital building fund drive were made by the parents of children who were treated at that institution. Wonders of medical and surgical science have been performed daily for years in the Longwood ave. building where congregate the pitifully deformed, the diseased, the injured.

Of course the drive went over. But that is no reason contributions should stop. The Children's Hospital can use every cent it receives in a cause most worthy.

If you haven't contributed, stroll out there some day soon, talk to some of the officials and see the children. You'll come away poorer in purse but richer in happiness.

Cultivate Will to Learn

In Boston, Raphael Reyes Garcia completes thirteen years of intermingled wall-washing, odd jobs and college study and is now ready to take the State medical board examination for a practicing physician's license.

In New York, 17-year-old Mrs. Rose Simon, mother of one child, attends her housework duties and classes at Hunter College.

In the normal man and woman only the will to learn and the span of life place a limit upon education of the individual.

Success to Columbus Play

There is no more romantic, dramatic episode in the world's history than the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus.

Massachusetts State Council of the Knights of Columbus proposes to sponsor a competition among college students to dramatize the incidents prior, concurrent and subsequent to the sailing of Columbus and the discovery of "a new world."

That is a splendid plan, worthy of, and particularly appropriate to, the organization proposing it. We wish it success.

Magic $eed

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 17—Thoughts while strolling: Saleswomen who fix their hair and look out windows while waiting on customers. The former Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks.

Ferocious police dogs on Fifth ave. unmuzzled. Thereby making it rough on dog owners who obey the law. There's a polite cop—No. 14,475.

Twin boys in Napoleonic hats. Frank Case's well kept mustache. Where is Dr. Harvey Wiley? The Col. Carters with white goatees and thin string ties. The old Waldorf cabmen have scattered. The Titian-haired Francine Larrimore. James Montgomery Flagg, a Pelham Manor boy, who made good in the city.

Who remembers when Sigmund Romberg pounded a piano at Bustanoby's? Now look at him! The sad old lady with fortune-telling parrots. The dandily dressed clerks at Saika's. And linen dustered "clarks" at Dunhill's, next door. Wonder if there is a notary whose commission doesn't expire on some March 31st?

Old Lavender Joe with his satchel of sachet. A character on the avenue for 20 years. Dorothy Fields, Lew's daughter, who writes lyrics. A son, Herbert, is not exactly starving as a librettist. Cholly Knickerbocker, the cherubic society scribbler who is always rushing places. And dancing through life with an elfin gaiety.

A shoe repair shop that charges $9 for half-soling. Rarely see customers in those fancy Chinese stores but they manage to pay enormous rents. That haunting song, "Song of India." Horseback riders who stop at Childs' after a gallop. Similis: As inconspicuous as Mr. Gann. The arty Russian restaurants hang on.

The Plaza status will soon be ripe for a new gilding. Marble players along the Central Park wall. How that game changed. Graceful swans in the lake. Those raggy puffs of white clouds that laze along. An artist at his easel on a knoll top. You'd never think the city's heart was a few blocks south. Taxi-drivers going wild in this town.

The Century Theater hoodoo persists. Wonder how many flops there in the past 15 years. Mefo, the Texas editor. The new brightness along upper Seventh ave., as well as 6th. Skinner across a street: "You Are Aging Daily!" Dunbt I knew! There have been complaints.

The Grand Street Boy's is an organization of prominent citizens who have been graduated from the School of Hard Knocks on the lower East Side and risen to affluence. There are lawyers, distinguished jurists, merchant princes and theatrical stars, whose wits were sharpened on Grand st. flagstones. Each year it gives a dinner with a guest list like a section from Who's Who.

A lady from Providence, R. I., writes: "Your letter in reply to my query received, but it is Greek to me. Why do writers have to be so careless with their hand writing?" I may not be much of a letter writer, but I back a mean envelope!

Even the most enthusiastic of bobbesdists—comparatively new, thank you—cannot deny the fad for long hair makes strides. Fifty per cent of the reigning debutantes are shunning the shears, temporarily at least. Coiffure parlors face the first slump since, to garland a dull paragraph with a duller phrase, The Great Shearing.

A certain actor appears almost every season in a successful play. He has never had a star role, although he invariably distinguishes his part. He belongs to no clubs, nor have I ever seen him in a night club or other haunts where idols make themselves conspicuous. He has a comfortable fortune and a well-chosen library. He is soon to retire, one of the few actors outside of Francis Wilson and David Warfield, who has beaten the game.

A gentleman with a warp to his humor has grown weary of answering mistaken telephone calls, and has adopted a formula causing great distress among husbands who are total strangers. When some lady who has been given a wrong number inquires if Mr. Soandso is there, he replies: "He was but left pie-eyed to keep a date with his weekly." We hope somebody shoots him in the foot.

Something should be done about those Broadway jewelry auctioneers who twit the curiosity seekers stepping up to the doorway as a sale is going on. I eddied up to one today. "Come in, Kibbetz!" shouted the be-diamonded spieler. Every neck craned my way. I would have answered back, but my voice invariably goes falsetto in an emotional crisis. And there I stood in buttoned shoes!

How Storms Are Bred

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

"I would be pleased to have you give me some information regarding atmospheric conditions as recorded by the barometer. I should think that a moisture-laden atmosphere would be heavier and produce a higher barometer reading than a dry atmosphere; yet we seem always to get our storms with a low barometer." This condition does not seem quite right to me, so I am asking your help.—C. W. M., Crookesville, Ohio."

AQUEOUS vapor (water in the form of vapor) is lighter than air, in the proportion of about three to five. Therefore when vapor is formed by evaporation from a water surface (the sea is the great source of vapor in the atmosphere) the vapor rises into the atmosphere, carrying a certain amount of air along in its rise, so that ascending currents are produced in the atmosphere where aqueous vapor is formed.

In consequence there is a general state of low atmospheric pressure over the tropical seas where evaporation is relatively large and continuous. Habitually, the moist-ened air ascending from the evaporating surface is spread laterally in upper air, so that the vapor is carried off and diffused as fast as it is formed. If it were not so, of course, there would be an increase of weight through the addition of the vapor to the air. But, in fact, because of the ascent and the continual diffusion above, a defect of pressure is maintained below.

Also, an ascending air current, by rising into a region where there is more room, expands, and by that act of expansion is cool the air together with the contained vapor. If, however, the ascending air is so laden with vapor as to be in a saturated state, some of the vapor will be condensed, and this condensation releases latent heat which tends to counteract the cooling caused by expansion so that saturated air rises faster than non-saturated or dry air.

The reason, then, why we generally have rain with low barometer, is that the rain is produced by condensation of aqueous vapor that has risen to a height of a mile or more in the air, where it has been cooled by expansion, and the latent heat released when this cooling condenses the vapor, tends to maintain the ascent of the air above, and thus causes a relatively low state of the barometer below.

Mrs. Solomon Says—

By HELEN ROWLAND

HEAR now the Matin-Song of a wife, which is Mrs. Solomon's. Behold, my Beloved ariseth in the morning at the crowing of the alarm clock, and his soul is full of Pep!

My Beloved heareth the call of the Radio, and springeth to obey its summons, as a rookie to the reveille.

He doeth his obeisance to the sun of morning and faithfully performeth all the sacred rites of his setting-up exercises.

Lo, twenty times doth he bend, touching his toes, for his stomach's sake, and twenty times doth he bend backward for his figure's sake.

He swingeth his torso in circles and is THRILLED with his own lithesome and suppleness. He panteth with eagerness and purreth with self-approval. He is a WOW, in his own eyes!

My Beloved approacheth the cold shower with brave whistling; his eye is full of determination, though his heart be trembling.

He flincheth not, though his teeth chatter. He stilleth his groanings with song.

Yea, as the bobolink, he singeth blithely in his bath—but his voice is sadder than tears. He is enthralled at his own fortitude and puffed up with pride in his own devotion to duty. He shall BOAST of it to his weaker brothers!

My Beloved howleth for the bath towels and rubbeth himself with many rubbings. He "getteth up a glow." He is pinker and fairer than the angel on a wedding cake. Yea, he is more kissable than a Meilin's baby!

He scrapeth his chin, and anointeth his head with hair tonic. He rubbeth the end spurtings upon his temples hopefully. He searcheth wistfully for the lastest missing hair.

Lo, my Beloved descendeth, arrayed in all his purple and clean linen and his snappiest cravat. His collar is not more spotless than his conscience, nor his cheek more glowing than his sense of rectitude.

He calleth for his coffee and his vitamins. He consumeth his eggs and his calories with relish. He is filled with food and inspiration and well being. He is a positive Bear-cat!

For, lo, he hath made his daily sacrifice to the great god, PEP!

And what though the house be strewn with wreckage and the lawnmower lieth idle, and the car needeth washing, and the weeds grow apace in the garden and the hedge needeth trimming, and the curtains remain unhung, and the spring cleaning is at hand! My Beloved hath taken his EXERCISE! And his middle name is STRENUOUUS! Selah.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

MAMA'S LITTLE TOOTSIE WOOTSIE USUALLY TURNS OUT TO BE LIFE'S LITTLE FLAT TIRE.

You've noticed it, haven't you?

That young smart-aleck who was recently put in charge of the Big Shop. Might have been a regular person, but he was an only son and his mother gave him everything he wanted. And what a mess he turned out to be!

And that girl your cousin married—there was another Mama's darling, and look at her! Always pouting, sulking, throwing tantrums—making a perpetual nuisance of herself. Yet the might have been a fine woman if she hadn't been so spoiled.

Comes now Dr. George A. Dorsey, the famous psychologist, to endorse your conclusions.

"MOTHERS HAVE RUINED MORE MEN THAN DRINK!" said Dr. Dorsey.

And immediately sailed for Java! Wise man!

But he left these statements behind him for the Mad Mamas to answer.

"Children who get their own way by crying, by bullying, by smart tricks—children who are 'mother's sweet darling, did he hurt his tootsie wootsie little finger?'—children who are cuddled and tucked to bed long after their babyhood — THESE ARE THE CHILDREN WHO BECOME FAILURES IN MARRIAGE, FAILURES IN FRIENDSHIP, FAILURES IN THEIR JOBS—BECAUSE THEY HAVE NEVER LEARNED TO STAND ON THEIR OWN FEET . . . AND GET ALONG WITH THEIR FELLOWS."

And this havoc is all worked in the name of love.

"My little girl can't get along without me—if I get out of her sight she breaks her heart," boasts one fond mother concerning her six-year-old.

The night as reasonably have boasted that she had dislocated the child's spine and put out one of her eyes! Indeed, such physical cruelty would have been kinder than the mental infirmity she inflicted.

"Within the first years, even months, of a baby's life, its mother can stimulate its emotions to turn only to herself. If she keeps that up until the child is five or six years old he will never be able to use his emotions freely in his life. THEY WILL ALWAYS REVOLVE AROUND HER," says Dr. Dorsey.

"AN INTELLIGENT MOTHER CAN TEACH A CHILD IN EIGHT YEARS TO WALK SO STRAIGHT, TO THINK SO STRAIGHT, THAT HELL NEVER GO CROOKED AS LONG AS HE LIVES."

But an amazing number of mothers don't want their children to "think straight"! They want them to think in a circle—a circle that will lead right back to Mama and Mama's notions.

Such women are filled with an insatiable hunger for attention. Their husbands and friends are too busy or bored to gratify that hunger, so they take it out on their youngsters. They focus their children's interest upon themselves—they consume their lives for their own egotistical satisfaction. They call it "love." IT IS REALLY CANNIBALISM!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Vandalism on Highways

Editor Boston American:

The public, to my mind, are divided into three classes. First, those who think in terms of public benefit; second, those who think in terms of self; third, the don't cares. Of course I cannot hope to touch the latter, but I have a word for the first two.

Passing through Sudbury the other day over that splendid mile of three-way highway which Mr. Ford so generously sold to our Commonwealth for $1, I noticed that the department of public works had begun an elaborate plan for beautifying the sides of this road, and among other things had planted some small spruce trees on one of the slopes left bare by construction. The improvement was so marked that I counted them. There were 27.

Passing the same spot a week later, I was surprised to find but four left.

My guess is that it was the second class, the "self-thinkers," who saw the attractiveness of the trees and took them to beautify their home grounds; possibly they thought them to be wild.

Now it seems to me that it is about time for people to get away from the prevalent spirit of vandalism that seems to be so near the present American surface.

Incidentally Chapter 87, Section 10, of the General Laws, provides for six months' imprisonment or $500 fine for such offence.

And, by the way, why not quit throwing everything that you do not want out of the car on to the roadside. These highways of yours should not be made a public dump. Take your garbage home with you and burn it.

Analyze your reaction and choose your class. If you agree with this subject matter, pass it along, and here is a slogan:
